Hurricane Traveling Over Large Area Does Much Damage and Isolates Many Places.

FOUR DEAD AT NEW ORLEANS

Mobile and Pensacola Are Reported in Peril of Disaster—Wind Shows No Sign of Abating.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 20.—A Gulf hurricane, which, beginnig early to-day, swept along the Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, and Florida coast, has inflicted heavy damage, and to-night is continuing unabated. Communication with many points has been cut off. From these places now isolated the last word was that the storm was gaining in intensity.

The City of New Orleans during part of the day was entirely stripped of wire communication with the world. Reports which are trickling in from points along the Gulf between Pascagoula, Miss., and Pensacola, Fla., of high tides and winds of hurricane velocity, show that the Gulf storm has scored heavily in property damage.

Interest settles on New Orleans, because of the absence of detailed advices from that city. At 3 P. M. the Weather Bureau there reported that the piling up of the Gulf waters at the mouth of the Mississippi already had caused a rise of three feet in the waters of the river at New Orleans, a thing unprecedented at that point from such a source. The present stage of the river and the height of the levee will admit of a much greater rise without much damage to the city proper, but the report bodes ill for the large number of villages scattered about the territory between the city and the Gulf and on the Gulf Coast.

So strong was the force of the wind at New Orleans that the neighboring lakes were agitated till they overflowed, covering the adjacent lowlands. The Gulf waters from Lake Borgne were added to the flood.

Throughout the day a heavy wind blew, but apparently it was not destructive till late in the afternoon, when it swept across the country. The direction of the wind was northwest. Its area was great, for it reached far up to the northernmost line of Louisiana, east of the Mississippi River.

Fragmentary reports from points in Southern Louisiana and Mississippi show that the hurricane is sweeping along the Mississippi and Louisiana Gulf coast, damaging shipping, ruining the more frail structures, and seriously impeding railroad traffic.

Along the Texas coast no damage has been reported, this section apparently having escaped the force of the storm.

After communication with New Orleans had been cut off for several hours, it was restored, at least triumphantly, late to-night. A brief message was received saying that, after attaining a velocity of sixty miles an hour, the wind was slowly subsiding in its intensity. Four persons are known to be dead at New Orleans. The property damage there will exceed $100,000.

The most threatening of the definite advices thus far received come from Pensacola, where the wind at dark had attained a velocity of sixty miles an hour and was apparently increasing. This fact, taken in connection with the reports from the Mississippi Coast that the gale there averaged about forty miles an hour, would indicate that the storm is heading northeast, across Florida and Alabama, and northward into Louisiana.

The ship Romanoff, moored at Perditoo wharf, Pensacola, toppled over on the wharf and is in a precarious condition. Several barges loaded with lumber lost their cargoes and two were sunk near the western beach. Small boats all along the beach near Pensacola were swamped and pounded to pieces. Long rafts of timber have been carried from storage booms and are adrift in the bay. Residents of Woolsey and Warrington and all along the bay shore west of Pensacola came up to that city late in the afternoon and to-night on cars, and are housed in the hotels with friends, leaving their homes to the mercy of the storm. The tide is higher than known for many years.

Reports of increasing gales toward Hatteras also seem to indicate that the hurricane is heading that way. At Mobile reports said the storm at nightfall had done no great damage, but later despatches showed that it was blowing up again, and that the waters of the bay were beginning to pile up along the water front at an alarming rate.

Last reports from Mobile say that rain has fallen steadily there. The wind velocity was given as thirty-four miles an hour from the southeast, and steadily increasing. Great apprehension is felt there, the tension of the people being due to memories of the hurricane of three years ago.

The wind at Fort Morgan, Ala., is blowing more than forty-five miles an hour.

Word from along the Alabama coast is to the effect that the storm is blowing fiercely. Telegraph and telephone communication with many points is cut off. People from the coast began flocking to Mobile early to-day.

Scranton, Miss., at 6:45 o'clock, reported high water with high winds and a fierce gale blowing over Biloxi Bay. Waves were dashing over the long Biloxi bridge of the Louisville & Nashville, and it was thought the bridge would be lost. One man is reported to have been washed off the bridge and drowned.

The storm struck Biloxi, Miss., at 3 A. M., the wind increasing until it reached a velocity of sixty miles an hour at 5 P. M. It is estimated that $40,000 to $50,000 property damage has been done there. A large part of the Gulf Coast Traction Company's lines at Biloxi has been washed away.

All the bathhouses and piers along the beach from Gulfport to the home of United States Senator Money, a distance of four miles, have been swept out. Three hundred feet of the electric car line at Long Beach, Miss., has been washed out. The driveway known as the Beach Road along the coast in front of Biloxi is gone, entailing a loss of $10,000 or $20,000.

Reports from Crowley, La., are that the heaviest wind and rain storm in that section for years prevailed there to-day. Many trees in Crowley and neighboring towns and parishes were uprooted. The greatest damage done in that section is to the rice crop. Rice men express the opinion that the crop already has been damaged to the extent of at least two sacks for the acre for the rice not yet harvested, which is fully two-thirds of the crop.

At 9 P. M. the telegraph companies lost all communication with Natchez, Miss. A dispatch from there at that hour stated a high wind was prevailing, and the electric light wires were broken by fallen trees.

The last report from New Orleans said considerable damage had been done. Several houses were unroofed and much damage was done around the Rigolets. All railroads are tied up and three wrecks are reported. All wires to Texas are lost.

Tropical Storm Headed This Way.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The tropical storm now raging will move northward, and merge with the disturbance in the Northwest over the central valleys Tuesday night, causing rain over a considerable part of the country east of the Rockies. The rain will reach the North Atlantic States Wednesday night.

SAVES LIFE; HAS HIS PAY CUT.

John Kelly Took Another Chance Yesterday and Made Another Rescue.

John Kelly, 65 years old, a blacksmith of the Bridge Department, several months ago looked out of a window of the Bridge Department shop under the Williamsburg Bridge in time to see a boy in the water sinking in the heavy tide. The boy was George Aidie of 297 Kent Avenue. Kelly, leather apron and all, took a header out of the second-story window and seized the boy. He beat against the tide to shore with the boy, but the next thing he had pneumonia and almost died.

A letter of praise from the Mayor helped him to get well, but when he got back to work he found the city had cut down his salary per year by $125.

"Never again," said Kelly: "if that's the way they reward rescuers I'll let the next man sink."

Kelly was hammering sparks from his anvil yesterday when he heard a scream from the river. He ran out and saw a man being carried along by the tide toward a scow of the Street Cleaning Department. Kelly saw that if the man reached the scow he would go under it with such a tide, and he had only ten feet to go. Kelly went into the river with a splash, swam to the man, and contrived with strong strokes to dodge the scow, and, with the man he had saved, he was pulled aboard with boathooks.

"Looks like more pneumonia and another cut in wages for him," said one of Kelly's colleagues.

RACE TO AID CLYDE LINER.

The Carib, Disabled, Summons Other Ships by Wireless.

BEAUFORT, N. C., Sept. 20.—Wireless telegraph is again playing an important part in relieving distress at sea, for through this agency prompt assistance was to-day furnished to the Clyde Line steamer Carib, bound from New York to Wilmington, N. C., and Brunswick, Ga., with passengers and cargo. She lay at anchor all last night, with her machinery disabled, off Cape Hatteras.

The Carib's wireless appeals for help first brought to her assistance the steamer Comanche, which got a hawser to her last night. She was unable to tow the disabled vessel because the line parted, and she steamed on her way. To-day the steamer Sabine came up in response to the wireless "C. Q. D.'s" of the Carib, and after some difficulty sent a line to the vessel. In the meantime the Comanche had notified the United States revenue cutter Yamacraw of the Carib's mishap, and the cutter started to her assistance. During the day the Yamacraw kept the Carib informed of her progress toward Cape Hatteras.

During the afternoon the steamer Apache, passing the cape, heard wireless conversation passing between the Carib, Sabine, and the revenue cutter Yamacraw to the effect that the Sabine's hawser was too short and made towing bad in the heavy weather. The Captain of the Yamacraw was asked to hurry to the spot with hawsers. This request was overheard by the Apache, which immediately sent word that she would come with long hawsers and would reach the spot this afternoon.

The Apache and Yamacraw steamed at full speed in a race to see which would reach the disabled Carib first. The Sabine is proceeding at 6 knots an hour with difficulty with her tow under a short hawser toward Southport, N. C. The afterweb on the low pressure crank of the Carib is broken and disables the engines.

Agents of the Clyde Line at Wilmington will have tugs meet the vessels at the bar at Southport and tow the Carib to Wilmington.

ATTACK AND ROB A WOMAN.

Highwaymen Take Her Money and Diamonds in Broad Daylight.

Mrs. Kathryn Goldberg of 241 Angelique Street, West Hoboken, was held up by several men in Church Lane, near the Grove Reformed Church, North Bergen, about 9 o'clock yesterday morning and robbed of her handbag containing a considerable sum of money and her diamond earrings. She didn't tell the police how much money there was in the purse.

According to the story Mrs. Goldberg told the North Bergen police, she was walking down Church Lane when she was set upon by several men, the exact number she could not give as they came on her from behind, and before she could make an outcry she was thrown to the ground. One of the men grabbed her handbag while another tried to tear the earrings out of her ears. Finding he could not do this her assailant knelt down and bit the diamonds out of the setting.

Mrs. Gowen, wife of the Rev. Mr. Gowen, who lives near by, heard Mrs. Goldberg's screams and telephoned to the police station. Sergt. Kennell and Patrolman Lawrence hurried to the scene, but when they arrived the men had disappeared. They found Mrs. Goldberg lying on the ground, and took her to the police station, where Dr. Menger dressed her wounds, which consisted of two scalp cuts and bruises.

She could give no accurate description of her assailants, but the police arrested a man who gave his name as Giovanni Arcuro of 510 Schulli Place, near the scene. He denied all knowledge of the affair.

TELLS OF BRITISH WAR SCARE.

In Constant Fear of German Invasion, Says the Rev. A. C. Nickerson.

Special to The New York Times.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Sept. 20.—The Rev. A. C. Nickerson, pastor of All Souls' Unitarian Church, in a sermon yesterday morning laid bare some facts regarding the relations existing between England and Germany as observed by him on a recent visit to England. Many of Dr. Nickerson's parishioners are English or of English descent.

"England is a vast camp," he said. "Her people feed every day on the possibility of war. Even the youths in the schools are encouraged and urged to form themselves into companies called boy scouts. Already there are 200,000 of them, and they are advised to familiarize themselves with army tactics. Compulsory service, like Germany's, for every young man is strongly urged by English military leaders. Every new material move across the North Sea sends shivers of apprehension down the British spine.

"As you talk with well-informed people you find that they share the general dread of Germany. They will tell you that there is no doubt of Germany's intention ultimately to force a struggle for supremacy upon England."

ROARING GUNS GREET FRENCH SQUADRON

Harbor Forts Fire Salutes as the Three Great Battleships Steam Into Port.

DUTCH COMMITTEE ARRIVES

Representatives of Holland at the Celebration Impressed by Our High Buildings—Other Squadrons Due To-day.

The first class French battleship Justice, flying the pennant of Vice Admiral Jules L. M. Le Pord, with the sister battleships Verité and Liberté steaming majestically behind her, arrived in the North River yesterday afternoon, the first of the foreign fleet that is to participate in the Hudson-Fulton naval ceremonies to drop anchor in the river that Hudson explored.

The great British cruiser-battleship Invincible, with Admiral of the Fleet Sir Edward Seymour on board, and the other British vessels that are to have a part in the great naval show, are expected to arrive to-day, as are also the sixteen battleships, three armored, and three scout cruisers of the Atlantic Fleet, all of which sailed from Norfolk for New York at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The arrival of the French battleships, which are fine vessels of nearly 15,000 tons displacement, was the occasion of a thunderous welcome down the bay and from Governors Island, the guns of the harbor forts and those from Fort Jay on the island booming a salute each of seventeen guns in honor of the French Admiral.

To each salute the Justice responded with a salute of twenty-one guns to the American flag, while from the flagstaff of each of the giants the tricolor of France was dipped as a further compliment to the Nation whose guests the Frenchmen are.

The battleships proceeded slowly up the river, watched by thousands of persons along the shore and in the windows of tall buildings. The Frenchmen are all of the same type and among the newest vessels of the line in the French Navy. They are typically French in design, with bulky superstructures, the three funnels being arranged two forward and the third far aft. They carry a main battery of four 12-inch and ten 7.6-inch guns, in addition to a powerful array of guns of smaller calibre.

Anchored in the River.

The battleships anchored off the Soldiers and Sailors' Monument, near which they will remain during the celebration. Vice Admiral Le Pord, who is one of France's best-known naval officers, said the voyage was a fine one and that his ships had made good time. He did not come in touch with the British warships on the way across, although both squadrons left Europe on the same day.

The officers and men of the squadron were all delighted to be in New York, and from the Commander in Chief to the humblest stoker every natty jackie in blue was enthusiastic over the prospects of one of the best times a foreign sailor ever had in an American harbor.

The French Admiral was met as soon as the Justice had anchored by Lieut. De Vasseau Benoist d'Azy, the Naval Attaché of the French Embassy in Washington, who welcomed the commander in behalf of Ambassador Jusserand. Several American officers also called on the Frenchmen and told them how happy their brothers of the American service afloat were over the prospect of entertaining them. Admiral Le Pord replied that he was just as happy, and so were his men, over the prospect of the things in store for them.

Some time to-day the French Admiral will make a round of visits to the army and navy officers commanding in this locality. He will also, it was said, probably call on Mayor McClellan during the day. He will first call on Capt. Murdock, Commandant of the New York Navy Yard, and later on Major Gen. Wood, commanding the Department of the East, United States Army. The visits will be immediately returned by the American officers.

Late this afternoon the French commander will have his first chance to greet Admiral Schroeder, the American Commander in Chief, whose flagship, the Connecticut, is expected to anchor in the river.

The Verité, Justice, and Liberté are manned by about 1,000 officers and men. The men are a fine-looking set and bear every evidence of thorough training. Admiral Le Pord is one of the youngest flag officers in the French Navy. He represented the French Navy at Cherbourg during the recent visit of the Czar of Russia to France. At that time a splendid salon was arranged on the deck of the Verité, flagship of the fleet, that welcomed the Russian ruler, and the salon will again be used for the entertainment of the American and foreign officers during the visit of the squadron here.

Dinner to the Frenchmen.

Lieut. d'Azy informed Admiral Le Pord that the French Chargé d'Affaires in Washington, would tender a dinner to the Admiral and officers next Friday evening at Martin's. The commanders of the American, British, and other ships, which will then be in the harbor, will be guests of the occasion. No shore leave was given to the French sailors yesterday, but a big delegation will be sent ashore to-day. It was noted that but few mascots were on the French ships. A careful census revealed only four cats, all natives of St. Nazaire.

The British squadron will probably come in to-day about the same time that the Atlantic fleet is expected. Sir Edward Seymour, the commander, it was said yesterday, will receive one of the warmest welcomes ever extended to a foreign officer by the officers of the United States Navy. It was Sir Edward who proved so good a friend to Admiral Dewey immediately following Dewey's victory in Manila Bay. Although Admiral Dewey's health will not permit him to participate officially in the naval ceremonies of the week, it is probable that he and Sir Edward will meet and chat over old times.

The Invincible, Sir Edward's flagship, is without doubt one of the three finest armored cruisers afloat. The Inflexible and the Indomitable are her big sisters. The great fighter carries eight modern 12-inch guns, making her main battery, so far as guns of the highest calibre are concerned, just twice as powerful as any other ship that will be in New York this week. The other British cruisers due to-day are the Drake, Argyll, and the Duke of Edinburgh. The Drake was here as the flagship of Prince Louis of Battenberg several years ago. None of the others has ever been in American waters before.

The Italian cruisers Etna and Etruria will probably reach New York to-day or to-morrow. The Etna is commanded by the Marquis Filippo Baggio Ducarne, and has on board eighty-four Italian naval cadets. The Argentine cruiser Presidente

GOV. JOHNSON DYING AFTER BRAVE FIGHT

Efforts to Give Him Nourishment Fail and His Strength Slowly Ebbs Away.

SURGEONS HAD HOPE EARLY

But Expected Rally Did Not Come—Patient Retains Consciousness Despite His Great Weakness.

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 20.—There is practically no hope to-night that Gov. John A. Johnson will live. It had been the hope of the surgeons that he would rally to-day and would be able to take nourishment that would build up his strength. In this they were disappointed. Shortly after noon the patient began to show signs of weakness, and, despite all efforts to stimulate him, continued slowly to sink. His death was expected at any hour during the day and evening, but his great vitality caused him to linger.

There was a strong feeling at St. Mary's Hospital in the morning that Gov. Johnson would live. He had slept more than two hours after midnight, and at 5:30 o'clock again fell into a doze. Dr. McNevin's early bulletins said there was a slight change for the better, and that he had an even chance if he could retain some nourishment. He was still suffering from gas.

Dr. McNevin's 10 o'clock bulletin showed that the patient was having considerable pain, and that it had been found impossible to give him weak tea or broth as had been hoped. All he had been able to take was a quart of carbonated water. "His chances are still even," the physician declared.

Later it was found possible to give him some strained chicken broth, three ounces at a time.

It was at 2 o'clock that the first alarming note came from the surgeons. Dr. William Mayo issued a bulletin, which showed that the saving rally had not come. "While Gov. Johnson is holding his own he has not made natural progress," said Dr. Mayo. "His condition is very grave."

Dr. Charles H. Mayo said at 3:30 o'clock:

> I saw Gov. Johnson at 1:30 o'clock, and I must say I think he has less than an even chance for recovery. He has remarkable vitality, and this alone has kept him up. I would not say that he is dying. No one can say now what turn his case will take. He must make some marked progress within the next few hours.
> The Governor has not been in a state of coma at any time since the operation. In the last few days he has been very drowsy at times, and that condition is increasing this afternoon, but at any time when his wrist is touched to take his pulse he has opened his eyes and looked at us.

Dr. McNevin at 5 o'clock said that the patient was evidently dying. He was progressively growing weaker. He had been unable to retain more chicken broth. His pulse was then 132, temperature 100, and his respiration about 38.

Drs. Charles and William Mayo both were called by Dr. McNevin, and at 6:30 they issued a bulletin saying:

"We can see that he has failed in the last half hour."

Two wineglasses full of beer had been given to the Governor, and it was hoped he would rally.

"Gov. Johnson is sinking very fast," Dr. McNevin said at 7:40 P. M. "His mind is clear, and he realizes that his condition is very critical. The doctors have not given up hope, but the end seems a matter of only a few hours."

Dr. William Mayo at 8:45 said he did not think the Governor would live until midnight. He was conscious and perfectly comfortable, but his pulse was 150 and feeble, his temperature 97, and respiration 40.

Dr. Charles Mayo came downstairs from the Governor's room at 9:30 P. M. and said:

"There is no news. The Governor is simply failing. He has made no statement concerning his affairs which would indicate that he realizes that the end is near. But I am sure he does realize it. He is fully conscious."

Dr. Judd at 11 o'clock said that Gov. Johnson would live only another hour.

The Governor at midnight said to those in the sickroom:

"Time drags so. I am so uncomfortable."

SAFE OPENER ARRESTED.

Man Who Knows All About Locks Is Accused of Theft.

A man described as Charles Geer, 60 years old, was arrested last night in the Hotel Victoria, Broadway and Twenty-seventh Street, on the strength of a telegram from Stephen B. Wood, Captain of Detectives of Chicago, and was locked up at Police Headquarters on a charge of grand larceny.

The Chicago police said nothing about the story behind the arrest in their telegram. The prisoner said he was innocent. He told the police that he was a safe salesman and an expert at opening safes. He showed the police a package of newspaper clippings, stating that he had been called in by banks and large business concerns to open safes of which the keys had been lost, the combination forgotten, or the time lock broken.

One clipping told how Geer had been offered $5,000 to open a time lock safe in a Cincinnati bank. The story said that Geer manipulated the lock and opened it, and that the bank management then regretted having offered the $5,000 and that Geer slammed the safe shut, locking it, and it cost the bank $27,000 to have it opened after Geer refused to work further with it. Other clippings told of his prowess as a reputable safe opener.

Geer told the detectives that he had been employed by the Victor Safe Company and finished a contract as salesman for them in Toronto, Canada. He said he figured that the company owed him about $400. He made out a draft for $420 and cashed it at a hotel in Chicago, where he was known. This draft had been refused by the company, he said, and hence his arrest. He said he was innocent of any intentional wrong, although he admitted he might have been wrong in his figures as to what was coming to him.

Geer cried bitterly over his arrest and said he was to have gone to work to-day as Superintendent of salesmen for another company.

GAYNOR NOMINATED AT MASS CONVENTION

Municipal Democracy Names Him for Mayor and Offers Him to All Other Parties.

SEABURY ASSAILS HEARST

Independence League's Failure to Indorse the Justice Hypocritical, Declares Former Worker.

Justice William J. Gaynor was nominated for Mayor at a mass meeting held in Cooper Union last night by the Municipal Democracy, an organization composed of members of several political organizations which came to grief at the last Mayoralty election, and which has been rehabilitated for the purpose of taking an active part in the coming campaign.

Cooper Union was comfortably filled when the meeting was called to order by Frederic C. Leubuscher at 8 o'clock, and there was considerable enthusiasm whenever Judge Gaynor's name was mentioned. The principal speakers were ex-Senator Charles A. Towne, who made the nominating speech; Judge Samuel Seabury, who acted as Chairman; Col. Alexander S. Bacon of Brooklyn; ex-Congressman Robert Baker of the same borough, and John J. Murphy.

The emblem of the Municipal Democracy which will appear on the ballot this year is a picture of the City Hall. The organization has not yet been incorporated, but the necessary papers were filed on Saturday. About 1,500 names were signed to the petition nominating Mr. Gaynor at last night's meeting.

Judge Seabury, who was prominently identified with the Independence League four years ago, made an attack upon William R. Hearst for his attitude in opposing Justice Gaynor's nomination, and his speech seemed to please the audience.

"The present traction facilities," said Judge Seabury, "have been wrecked and looted by as bold a gang of criminals as were ever permitted to escape. If in New York County we had anything like a just administration of law these criminals would long ago have been arraigned before the bar of justice. Yet these same traction interests intend to name the candates of both political organizations. As independent citizens we propose to give the citizens of New York another alternative.

"William R. Hearst's position is that he will support Judge Gaynor if Mr. Gaynor will insure his own defeat. Hearst saw no impropriety in accepting a Democratic indorsement when he was a candidate, and now that he is not one he is opposed to any indorsement unless it comes from a Republican machine. These actions are hypocritical. We are not here to plead with Murphy or Hearst or the Independence League, if it has any existence apart from Mr. Hearst, or from any bosslets whatever."

Towne's Tribute to Gaynor.

"This movement for Judge Gaynor," said Mr. Towne, "is significant of a revolution in this country in the theory and practice of municipal government. It is in that branch of administration that all students of our institutions have found the gravest shortcomings of our system. It is there that experience has demonstrated the most serious weaknesses. Bossism, graft, favoritism, extravagance, corruption have become the characteristic reproaches of American cities.

"It is now being realized that the thing which, more than any other, both facilitates the creation of this condition and embarrasses its correction, is the protraction of national party lines into the field of municipal government. In theory nothing could be less logical. There is not the slightest reason why men, who disagree on the tariff, for example, should not be in accord on the city budget, nor why both opponents and supporters of an asset currency might not be found on the same side of a question affecting subway construction.

"Absolutely the first condition of any successful attempt to reform the admitted evils of our American methods of city government is that the voters shall settle city questions on city grounds.

"Judge Gaynor has repeatedly declared his strong support of this proposition. Consistently, he refuses to be placed in a situation calculated in the slightest degree to obscure it. The extended demand for his services at the head of our affairs is proof of the growth of this idea and of the popular conviction that he fully and faithfully represents it. The letter wherein he consents to appear before his fellow citizens as a receptive candidate is addressed to nine gentlemen as evenly divided as possible between the Republican and the Democratic National organization.

Offers Him to All Parties.

"Every National political party is represented in this mass convention. His wider constituency, not here to-night, sends greetings in similar non-partisan consecration from every election district of Greater New York. We are here to denounce nobody. We are here to force no regular convention's hands. We offer him to every convention as to every citizen, as worthy to be every convention's candidate as to be every citizen's Mayor.

"The most determined opponent of Judge Gaynor will not deny his eminent mental and professional capacity. From the time when William J. Gaynor began the practice of the law at Flatbush until this hour never has one word been uttered that challenged his personal integrity. No citizen has shown a greater familiarity than Judge Gaynor has shown with the items of municipal waste and excessive expenditure that have provoked the criticism of judicious men. No one has more plainly pointed them out. No one could be more explicitly committed to use his full personal influence and official authority to abate and correct them."

Said Col. Bacon of Justice Gaynor:

"We appreciate that this crisis in our city's history requires heroic treatment, not high-sounding phrases, but a man, a man of character, who can be depended upon; not a good man alone, but a fighter."

The platform as set forth by the Municipal Democracy demands "economic and efficient service in every city department, honest investigation of the books and the punishment of grafters, prompt construction of subways built by the public, direct nominations, and public ownership of all utilities."

During the meeting Luther S. Bedford, who said he belonged to the "minute men" organization, was arrested for attempting to interrupt the speakers. He was arraigned before Magistrate Barlow in the Night Court and discharged with a reprimand.

MOUNT McKINLEY INQUIRY.

Tacoma Lawyer Asked to Find Out If Cook Made Ascent.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 20.—Attorney J. A. Ashton of this city has been retained by a New York law firm to obtain all information possible regarding the disputed ascent of Mount McKinley by Dr. Frederick A. Cook.

Mr. Ashton says he does not know whether the information is wanted by Peary adherents or by friends of Dr. Cook.

MAURETANIA CUTS RECORD.

Though Delayed by Fog, Reduces Eastbound Time Three-fourths of an Hour.

QUEENSTOWN, Sept. 20.—The Mauretania touched at Queenstown at 6:23 o'clock this morning. Although delayed by fog, she succeeded in reducing her eastbound record three-quarters of an hour.

Her time from New York was 4 days 13 hours and 41 minutes, and her average speed for the trip was 25.61 knots an hour.

TAFT WON'T SELECT CADETS.

Competitive Examinations Are to Govern the President's Appointments.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Instead of making personal selections himself, President Taft has decided that future appointments from the District of Columbia to the Military Academy at West Point and the Naval Academy at Annapolis shall be made by competitive examination.

The District Commissioners have been asked to arrange for these examinations.

BLOODHOUNDS GET FUGITIVE.

Prisoner Accused of Assassinating Man from Ambush.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 20.—James King, charged with having assassinated Charles Scribner from ambush near Beattyville, Ky., has been captured by a posse of officers with bloodhounds after a chase of five days.

King, it is alleged, has confessed to the killing.

SPANIARDS ATTACK MOORS.

Men, Women, and Children in Cemetery Riddled with Shrapnel.

MELLILA, Sept. 20.—The Spanish land forces, supported by warships, advanced on the Moorish positions to-day. The enemy made very slight resistance to the vigorous attack, which was covered by artillery fire, from which great execution resulted, many houses being demolished. Some of the houses showed white flags. The Moors and their women and children were seen running for their lives everywhere, but were cut off by falling shells. A group that took refuge in a cemetery was riddled with shrapnel.

A WET VICTORY SUSTAINED.

Court Holds Alleged Non-Resident Majority Really Lives in Virginia.

BRISTOL, Va., Sept. 20.—Judge Kelly this morning decided that the recent local option election was valid, and that the town is "wet." Preparation for opening several saloons is now under way.

The case in which the contest was made grew out of the election of July 8, when the "wets" won by 32 votes. The "drys" asserted that 170 votes were cast by non-residents. The court held that, though the voters were not bodily present, a residence in Virginia could be retained as long as it was the intention of the voter to retain it, regardless of where he went or how long he stayed.

READMIT JAPANESE LABORERS.

They Were Detained Upon Their Return from Canadian Canneries.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—All the Japanese laborers who were held up by the immigration authorities while they were returning from the canneries in Canada will be readmitted into this country. They worked in the canneries during the Summer. The party detained included a dozen or more of the returning Japanese, and the Board of Special Inquiry at Vancouver detained them as laborers with passports limited to Canada.

The Department of Commerce and Labor holds that the laborers went to Canada for temporary purposes only, and had no intention of abandoning their domicile in this country.

TAFT AS NATION'S HERO.

Will Be More Popular Than Roosevelt, Says John Hays Hammond.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20.—John Hays Hammond thinks that Theodore Roosevelt is not to be mentioned in the same list with President Taft when it comes to a question of popularity. Mr. Hammond, who will accompany the Taft special on part of the journey from Salt Lake City, said last night:

"I predicted that Mr. Taft would get the nomination and be elected, and now I am going to make another prediction. He is going to make the most popular President that the North, East, West, and South have ever had. Roosevelt's popularity won't be in it, according to my way of thinking, with that which is steadily growing up for Taft. His temperament appeals to Western and Southern men, and he understands them and they understand him. After he has completed his trip he will be closer to the people than any other President since Lincoln's time."

RULE OUT GOVERNOR'S GUARD.

Members of Ancient Connecticut Organizations Must Pay Taxes.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 20.—State Tax Commissioner W. H. Corbin and Adjt. Gen. G. M. Cole, for years at the head of the State Militia, to-day ruled that the Governor's Foot Guards, which has existed since 1775, when one company was commanded by Benedict Arnold, and the Governor's Horse Guards are not a part of the National Guard of Connecticut, and therefore the members cannot be exempted from paying the State military tax.

Recently Judge Simpson of the Court of Common Pleas at New Haven, decided that members of the Foot Guards cannot be exempt from jury duty, as they are not soldiers within the meaning of the law.

On parade and at their social events the guardsmen, in their Continental uniforms, are compeers of other noted veteran organizations of the country, especially the Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston and the Old Guard of New York.

COOK WAITS FOR DAY FOR WELCOME HOME

Oscar II. Delays Off Fire Island So as Not to Derange Reception Plans.

NEWSPAPER MEN KEPT OFF

Explorer's Family Will Meet Him on Tug—Reception on Grand Republic and in Brooklyn to Follow.

ON BOARD S. S. OSCAR II., Off Fire Island, (via Wireless Telegraph,) Sept. 20.—"It's good to be an American. It seems that I have been gone ten years."

Thus spoke Dr. Frederick A. Cook, gazing toward the lights of New York after being absent since July 4, 1907. He was pacing the deck of the Oscar II., waiting for daylight and the actual arrival in his native land. Dr. Cook is virtually at home to-night, for the ship is anchored off Fire Island, marking time, as it were, in order that there may be no hitch in the homecoming reception for the explorer, who reported by way of the Shetland Islands on Sept. 1 that he had unfurled the American flag at the north pole on April 21, 1908.

Though sixty miles from the city proper, the Oscar II. was in easy wireless communication with New York during the day and night. Dr. Cook was on deck almost constantly, and as sunset approached he gazed at the brilliant panorama, breathed the sea air, and sent to the newspaper men on tugs a brief halloa in reply to their greetings through a megaphone.

"I feel anxious to get ashore," he said to those who were grouped about him on the deck. "It seems about ten years since I left instead of only two and a half, but I dread the ordeal of landing to-morrow. I would much prefer landing quickly and quietly without a repetition of the scenes at Copenhagen. I hope that I shall be left in peace with my family by to-morrow night at least."

Some New York papers were brought on board this evening containing long reports of Commander Peary's achievement. Dr. Cook read them carefully, then said: "There is nothing new here, and I shall wait until something more definite is published before saying anything further on the matter."

Aside from this short reference to Peary, Dr. Cook's expressions to-day and to-night chiefly concerned the joy of his arrival at home. It was a day of varied emotion for the explorer, and although he is not an emotional man, his eyes glistened as he saw the beach of Fire Island as the Oscar II. passed close in shore, and the passengers were able to distinguish plainly objects on land. Dr. Cook left the deck only a few minutes during the entire day, and with continued good nature, posed repeatedly for photographers at the urgent request of his fellow-passengers, who have lionized him throughout the trip.

Many on Oscar Disappointed.

Many of those on board had gone to bed last night with the expectation of spending thet night in New York, and there was some disappointment displayed when it became generally known that the Oscar II. was to be held up in order that she might arrive at Quarantine about 8:30 o'clock to-morrow morning to get in with the plans for Dr. Cook's reception. Dr. Cook took advantage of the delay to send a wireless dispatch to his wife, asking her to come down the bay to-night and join him on board, and thus avoid the crush of the public greeting to-morrow. Mrs. Cook was slightly indisposed, however, and replied by wireless that she would be unable to come.

The first tugs, bearing the advance guard of newspaper men from New York, reached the Oscar II. to-night, but no one was allowed aboard the vessel except Anthony Fiala, the arctic explorer, a friend of Dr. Cook, who swung himself up from a tug, held a brief conversation with the explorer, and departed.

The passengers, including Dr. Cook, watched with amusement the vain attempts of the newspaper representatives to get aboard, and Dr. Cook shouted "Glad to see you, boys," as the reporters endeavored to make themselves heard through a megaphone.

It is evident that Dr. Cook wishes to avoid a conspicuous reception to-morrow, and his attitude may curtail some of the arrangements pending. The Oscar II. will make her way slowly to Quarantine, so as to reach there about 8:30.

WELCOME COOK TO-DAY.

His Ship Due at Quarantine at 8:30—Reception and Parade.

The Oscar II., with Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the arctic explorer, aboard, dropped anchor last night just off Fire Island, and waited till 12:30 this morning before getting under way to make her entrance into the harbor. Had there been any anxiety to dock the vessel yesterday afternoon it could have been done, for the Oscar II. was within sixty-five miles of Fire Island at 10 o'clock in the morning, and the rest of the trip could easily have been made before 4 o'clock.

The Oscar II., however, was merely ambling into port. Her Captain had his orders on Sunday night to slow down, so that the preparations of the Arctic Club of America and the Brooklyn committee of 100 to welcome the explorer to-day would not be upset. In consequence the Oscar II., all day yesterday, steamed with one engine working.

The ship is due at Quarantine at 8:30 o'clock, and just about that time a little bit of a tug will run out to meet it. On this tug will be Mrs. Frederick A. Cook and her two children, William E. Cook, a brother of Dr. Cook, and Mrs. Austin D. Sullivan of Portland, Me., a friend of the Cook family. Perhaps Dr. Roswell O. Stebbins, Chairman of the reception committee of the Arctic Club, will also be aboard the tug. These will be the only ones who will make up the tug's passenger list. It has been Mrs. Cook's desire that only the immediate family, with Mrs. Sullivan and Dr. Stebbins go along. Mrs. Cook is to be the first to greet her husband.

The explorer, by grace of an abridgement of the strict Custom House rules, will not be obliged to go along with the Oscar II. up to its pier, Collector of the Port Loeb having agreed that his baggage may be taken to the steamer's pier by any one whom he may designate, and the Brooklyn man be permitted to leave the ship at Quarantine. It is not often that such a concession is made. Customs officials never before had to handle an arctic explorer returning with the claim of the discovery of the north pole.

Dr. Cook will transfer from the Oscar II. to the tug just as soon as a ladder is lowered, and for perhaps ten minutes, may be longer, he and his family will be together. Meanwhile the steamer Grand Republic, with more than 2,000 persons aboard, will have been standing by.

The Grand Republic will leave the Battery pier at 7:45 o'clock. Those holding tickets who happen to reach the pier five minutes later will probably have a view of the big steamer as it heads off toward Quarantine. The committee announced yesterday that there would be no delay in starting. Nearly every one of the tickets issued for the trip had been sold.

Ahead of the Grand Republic in meeting the Oscar II. will be the revenue cutter which has to give every incoming vessel a clean bill of health before a landing can be made. The cutter will make its visit to the Oscar II. before Dr. Cook is allowed to board the tug. This formality usually takes a few minutes only, and no delay is expected on that account.

Siren Blast for Greeting.

As the Grand Republic comes within hailing distance of the Oscar II. there will be a blast from its siren for Dr. Cook. Any other craft that happen to be in the harbor at that time will take up the tune, and Dr. Cook will get as rousing a greeting as his heart could wish.

The committee has arranged that as Dr. Cook steps aboard the Grand Republic President Patrick McGowan, Acting Mayor, shall greet him, and extend a cordial welcome, in behalf of the citizens of New York. Next Bird S. Coler, President of the Borough of Brooklyn, will shake the explorer's hand and tell him how proud Brooklyn is of him. Chairman John J. A. Rogers of the Committee of One Hundred, will have the next handshake, and after that Dr. Cook will be escorted to the saloon of the steamer. There some brief ceremonies will be held, beginning with a speech of welcome by Mr. Rogers.

At the conclusion of Mr. Rogers's address Miss Ida Lehmann, daughter of Otto Lehmann, Treasurer of the Committee of One Hundred, will place a wreath of roses about the neck of the explorer, just as was done at Copenhagen when the people of Denmark paid such high honors to Dr. Cook. The garland with which Miss Lehmann decorates the explorer will be worn by Dr. Cook during the parade in Brooklyn, which will follow the arrival of the Grand Republic.

While the ceremonies are in progress on the steamer President Coler will spring a surprise—he has carefully guarded the secret. There was a hint that a gold loving cup would be presented to the explorer on behalf of the citizens of Brooklyn, but as to this Mr. Coler yesterday was mysterious. Lewis G. Berger, President of the Bushwick Club, which is in the neighborhood of Dr. Cook's Brooklyn home, will extend the freedom of the club to the explorer, and then Joseph Vollkomer, President of the Prudential Savings Bank of Brooklyn, will greet Dr. Cook on behalf of the clergy, doctors, bankers, and business men of the borough.

Dr. Cook is expected to have something to say in response to all these greetings, and then, if there is any time left, the rest of the trip to the pier at the foot of South Fifth Street, Brooklyn, will be devoted to handshaking. At the pier there will be a line of automobiles waiting, the first of which will be reserved for the explorer and his family. Members of the Arctic Club of America and of various Brooklyn organizations will occupy the others. A band will lead the parade, which will move at gentle speed up South Sixth Street to Bedford Avenue, to Willoughby Avenue, to Broadway, to Arion Place, to Bushwick Avenue, to Highland Boulevard, then back to Bushwick Avenue and to the Bushwick Club.

At the club there will be another reception, with speeches, and handshaking. The doors of the club will be thrown open to the public for this. After the reception a dinner will be served at the club, with Dr. Cook and his wife as the guests of honor. Ten members of the Arctic Club and ten members of the Bushwick Club will sit at the tables.

Singers Will Greet Explorer.

At 8 o'clock the United Singers of Brooklyn will parade from Arion Hall, 500 strong, and proceed to the Bushwick Club, where they will give Dr. Cook a serenade. Dr. Cook will make a short speech to the singers. After this Dr. Cook and his family will go in automobiles to the Waldorf-Astoria, where the explorer will remain until after the banquet of Thursday night. There will be receptions to the explorer to-morrow in Brooklyn, but what they will be is not to be decided upon until Dr. Cook has been consulted.

The members of the Arctic Club were all excited yesterday over the welcome planned for to-day. They sent a wireless message to Dr. Cook in the morning asking him if the Oscar II. would be sure to wait until this morning before coming up the bay. In response Dr. Cook sent this message:

"Do not worry. Oscar II. will not get in until Tuesday morning."

Dr. Stebbins, who had spent a strenuous night getting the authorities of the Scandinavian-American Line to keep the Oscar II. from coming in yesterday, was greatly relieved when his fears were set at rest by Dr. Cook's personal message. Had it not been for Dr. Stebbins's activities of Sunday night it is likely that the Oscar II. would have steamed up to its dock yesterday afternoon, and some thousands would have been immeasurably disappointed. Dr. Stebbins had to send half a dozen messages Sunday night, through the offices of the steamer, before he learned that the ship would not creep in ahead of time.

D. V. Eskesen, Chairman of a committee representing all the Danish-American societies of the country, received a wireless message yesterday from Dr. Cook accepting an invitation to a banquet which the joint associations will tender to the explorer. The date has not been fixed.

Steamship agents expressed surprise yesterday when they heard that the Oscar II. was held up outside Sandy Hook for twenty-four hours in order that the arrangements for the reception to Dr. Cook should not be interfered with. The vessel has in addition to the explorer 220 cabin passengers and about 900 immigrants on board, and the cost of providing them with three extra meals will cost the company about $500 at a conservative estimate. It is hoped, by the agents of the Scandinavia-Amerika Line in this city that the passengers will all take the delay in good part. The course was adopted at the earnest request of the Arctic Club and the friends of Dr. Cook.

SCOTT HOPES TO SEE PEARY.

Trusts American Will Visit England Before He Starts for Antarctic.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Capt. Scott, who plans to seek the south pole, was seen to-day and consulted with reference to the statement made by Commander Peary regarding his retirement from the field of arctic or antarctic exploration and his willingness to assist other explorers.

"Commander Peary's advice," said Capt. Scott, "will always be acceptable to those who go forth to do polar work in the future, and I feel sure that when he visits England—which I trust will be before the British antarctic expedition starts—it will be a great advantage to me to discuss polar problems with him, as well as a great pleasure to congratulate him personally on his great success."

General Says His Party Abandoned All but Necessaries at Fort Conger.

NORTH CONWAY, N. H., Sept. 20.—Gen. A. W. Greely, U. S. A., retired, talked briefly to-night about the discovery by Commander Robert E. Peary's party of some of the stores of the Greely Expedition in 1883.

"Those stores," said Gen. Greely, "were left by me in 1883 when I was retreating southward. In 1898 when Peary went north during the Winter from his ship, when wintering at Cape Durville, he was badly frozen and was obliged to seek shelter at my old quarters in Discovery Bay. He then lost eight toes and was saved from death by the stores which he then found in good condition. I think that it was over two months before he was able to return to his ship.

"We left at Conger all the books, clothing, and other personal belongings of twenty-five men. Almost anything might be found, as we took with us only our scientific records and diaries and the clothing which we wore, with ten pounds of selected personal property for each man."

PEARY'S SHIP NEARS HARBOR OF SYDNEY

Roosevelt Halts Seventy Miles Away to Enter the Cape Breton City by Daylight.

DISAPPOINTS THE CITIZENS

Mrs. Peary and Children Go Out on Yacht, but Return Before Reaching Explorer's Ship.

Special to The New York Times.

SYDNEY, N. S., Sept. 20.—This has been one of the greatest days that Sydney ever saw. And never before was the city so greatly disappointed. It had turned out in its best bib and tucker to give a royal welcome to Peary and his party, and for hours had thronged the whole length of the single shoreward street eager to obtain a first glimpse of the Roosevelt, whose flaring bow was expected to project beyond Barrack Point at every moment. Just as impatience had reached its height a cable message came announcing that the Roosevelt had come to anchor off St. Paul's Island, a point 70 miles distant, and that the vessel would not reach Sydney until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The Roosevelt remained at anchor till 8:30 o'clock and only then began working her way slowly down the Cape Breton coast.

Later on Sydney realized that it had only itself to blame. For it was then that it recalled the fact that Peary had promised the citizens that he would arrive here on Tuesday. It is now apparent that the Roosevelt was halted off St. Paul's Island to remain there until such time to-night as will bring her into Sydney Tuesday morning.

Reports that the Roosevelt was in the harbor aroused the citizens at 7 o'clock this morning, and from that time the whole city was on edge for Peary's arrival. On both sides of the harbor there was little else to be seen but a mass of bunting, and crowds of people thronging the waterfront anxiously awaiting the news that the Roosevelt had been sighted off the entrance. Many times the rumor spread, but always there came the same answer from the low-point signal station: "Nothing to be seen of the Roosevelt yet." It was nearly 4 o'clock when definite news was received that the vessel was off St. Paul's Island. When Peary finally does reach here he will receive a welcome that will be worthy of his achievement.

The Roosevelt Sighted.

A morning paper announced to-day that the Roosevelt had been sighted off Cranberry Head at 3 o'clock, and as soon as this became public the whole town began to turn out. A score of tired newspaper men were routed out of their beds about 7 o'clock by the news, and, after jumping into their clothes and swallowing hasty breakfasts, it developed that this story was without foundation. The origin of it was the arrival of the Associated Press tug Douglas H. Thomas from Battle Harbor. It was expected that the Thomas would escort the Roosevelt all the way to port. Capt. Cann, however, stated that he had left Peary's ship off the Labrador coast on Saturday morning, and that, in his opinion, she could not possibly be here before late in the afternoon if she got here at all to-day.

At 9:30 St. Paul's Island, seventy miles from Sydney, reported that the Roosevelt was off there. All the nautical experts in the city at once began to figure out again how many knots the Roosevelt could steam, and the general calculation was that she would arrive in Sydney between 3 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon. Commander Peary, in his last message before leaving Battle Harbor, had stated that he would be in Sydney on Tuesday morning, and would endeavor to time his arrival so as to reach here in daylight, but for the time being this promise was forgotten.

With the news from St. Paul's Island the city began to put the last finishing touches on its reception plans. The bands were ordered to report at 11 o'clock, the various reception committees got busy with a rush, the boats of the escorting flotilla were decked with flags, bunting appeared all over the town, and crowds began to assemble on the Esplanade to see the world-famous ship steam up the harbor. About 2 o'clock the Esplanade was packed almost to suffocation. A general holiday had been proclaimed, stores were closed, schools dismissed, and the pupils in a body were marched down to the ferry wharf and lined from there to the Sydney Hotel in two ranks, through which the explorer was to pass.

Sydney Gets Into Frock Coats.

Mayor Richardson and the other members of the Reception Committee got into their frock coats and silk hats, brushed up their carefully prepared addresses of welcome, and, after waiting some time for definite news of the Roosevelt, put out to the south of the harbor in the tug C. M. Winch, which had been placed at their disposal by the Dominion Coal Company. A little later the big oceangoing steam yacht Sheelah, owned by James Ross, which had been in Baddeck when the news of the Roosevelt's approach was received, swept into the harbor, dropped anchor off the Sydney Hotel, and lowering a launch, sent it ashore for Mrs. Peary and family, the American Consul, and Col. Borup, whose son is on the Roosevelt. Little Robert Peary had dressed himself in a sailor suit and carried an American flag. The party was soon on board, and the Sheelah, which in the meantime had been decked rainbow fashion and carried the blue ensign at the main and the Stars and Stripes at the fore, put out to sea. One by one other boats followed, but still no word was received from Low Point.

To all inquiries, and they were hurled at him every few minutes, Light Keeper Peters returned the same answer—"Nothing to be seen of the Roosevelt yet." As the day was a very clear one and from this station the steamer could be picked up twenty miles out at sea, the crowd, many of whom had been waiting on the water front for hours, began to get anxious, and finally a bulletin from St. Paul's Island announcing that the steamer had put back and was lying off the island, as it had been found impossible to reach Sydney in daylight, was posted up in the office of the Western Union. It took some time for the news to percolate through the big crowd, but it finally did percolate, and, much disappointed, the people dispersed.

Peary's Family Comes Back.

As soon as this news was received, efforts were made to catch the Sheelah at Low Point, but the big white yacht had steamed out to sea. The Sheelah went nearly to St. Paul's Island, but did not sight the Roosevelt, and returned here after 11 o'clock to-night. She will go down the bay again in the morning.

After cruising about the mouth of the harbor for several hours, the Civic Reception Committee on the Winch and the excursion steamers Peerless and Pawnee, each with several hundred people on board, were informed that Peary could not arrive until to-morrow, and they sadly put back to Sydney.

For a city of 15,000 people, Sydney had a hearty welcome prepared for Commander Peary. Several tugs and excursion boats and a score of motor launches, all bedecked with bunting, were to have met the Roosevelt off South Bar and to have escorted her up to Sydney Harbor. The Roosevelt was to have anchored off the ferry wharf, and it was on this wharf that Commander Peary was to have landed. Through ranks of cheering school children, he was then to have proceeded to the Syndey Hotel, on the veranda of which the Mayor's address of welcome was to have been given.

All of the principal buildings in the city were brave with flags, and on the signal mast of the Royal Cape Breton Yacht Club in the international signal code, that volapuk of the sea, the signals "Welcome 55 and "Congratulations" fluttered in the September sunshine. All of the shipping in the harbor was dressed, the Canadian ensign and the Stars and Stripes in many cases floating from the same yardarm.

Many of the business houses closed for the afternoon, and in all the schools there was only a morning session.

When Commander Peary gets into Sydney he will display the "north pole flag," which he had made at Battle Harbor, for the first time. It is a standard United States flag with a broad white band laid on diagonally from the Union corner down.

On the white ground are the words "North Pole" in black letters. Coming into Sydney a Canadian ensign, presented to Peary at Battle Harbor by the Captain of the Canadian Government vessel Tyrian, will decorate the foretopmast of the Roosevelt.

The Peary Arctic Club flag will be displayed at the mainmast, and the New York Yacht Club flag, which has been displayed at Cape Sheridan, will be at the mizzenmast. The "north pole flag," which is 10 by 20 feet, will fly from the peak of the spanker gaff.

FOUND COOK'S HOUSE VACANT.

Murphy Says Many Packages Had Been Broken Open When He Came.

SYDNEY, N. S., Sept. 20.—Commander Peary has given emphatic denial to the assertion credited to Dr. Cook that he told the Eskimos at Annatok that Dr. Cook was dead, and that he consequently would take possession of the supplies left there by the Brooklyn man.

As near as can be ascertained from members of the Roosevelt's crew, the house built by Dr. Cook at Annatok and left in charge of Rudolph Francke, was found unoccupied when the Roosevelt arrived. Francke was away trying to get passage home, his authority for his departure being a letter he exhibited purporting to be from Dr. Cook at Cape Thomas Hubbard. Dr. Cook's house had been empty for several weeks, and the supplies therein were being pilfered. Francke sought permission to go to the United States on the Peary auxiliary ship Erik. Permission was given, and he turned over an inventory of the supplies in Dr. Cook's house. Boatswain Murphy was then placed in charge of the house and its contents. He says he found that many packages had been broken open and their contents partially or totally removed. The stores were checked, and the house, which is built of boxes, was taken down and re-erected a short distance away on higher ground, the first location having proved wet and uncomfortable.

Dr. Cook Made Complaint.

When Dr. Cook returned to Annatok he complained about the occupation of the house and its removal to a new position. Murphy says he explained the situation fully to Dr. Cook, who appeared satisfied, and it was agreed that the house be occupied jointly. The boatswain says he offered to vacate immediately, but as everything had been satisfactorily explained, this was not thought necessary.

According to a statement made last Saturday at Battle Harbor by William Pritchard, cabin boy and assistant cook on the Roosevelt, two persons knew as long ago as last April that Dr. Frederick A. Cook asserted he had reached the pole April 21 of 1908. These persons were Harry Whitney and Pritchard himself. Both saw Cook at Annatok, Greenland, after his return from the pole. The only reference to Dr. Cook to which Whitney is said to have made during the brief sojourn on board the Roosevelt was a casual remark to a member of the Peary party that he believed that Dr. Cook had reached the pole. Pritchard kept the news even more faithfully, and his statement of Saturday was the first intimation that he had any information on this subject. Pritchard explained Saturday that he kept the news to himself because he did not wish to be dragged into the trouble.

He was asked how he knew, before he came south on the Roosevelt, that there was going to be a controversy, whereupon he declared that Dr. Cook had cautioned him not to speak to any one until he reached civilization. Pritchard's reticence with this important news in his possession was a complete surprise to everybody on board the Roosevelt.

Says Cook Talked Freely.

In the beginning Pritchard told the correspondent that Cook had talked freely to him at Annatok with regard to his dash over the ice, indicating to him on a map the route he had followed. Later Pritchard modified his story by explaining that Cook's story was related to Whitney and that he, Pritchard, was present in the room. Pritchard said Dr. Cook had only two Eskimos with him at the pole. The language barrier made it impossible for Pritchard to talk with these Eskimos.

John Murphy, the boatswain of the Roosevelt, who was ashore with Pritchard when Dr. Cook appeared at their station, was greatly astonished when informed of Pritchard's knowledge. Murphy declared that Cook talked with him on several occasions while they were together about his trip on the ice, but said nothing about having reached the pole. Cook limited his information to Murphy to the fact that he had passed the eighty-seventh degree, which was Peary's furthest north in 1906, and that the ice was rough up to 84. Murphy was curious to know more about Cook's experiences on the ice, and later, when in company with Whitney in the musk ox country opposite Etah, he inquired if Dr. Cook had reached the pole. The boatswain says Whitney told him he did not know.

Asked how it was possible for Pritchard and Whitney to hear Cook's story without his also hearing it, insomuch as all four men occupied the same house at Annatok during Cook's stay, Murphy replied that a question to Pritchard had brought him the answer that Dr. Cook's story of his dash to the pole was recited to Whitney and the cabin boy on a day he (Murphy) was absent at Etah. This statement was referred to Pritchard, who identified the date on which he heard the Cook statement as the day Murphy was absent at Etah.

KISLINGBURY WANTS RELICS.

Says Greely's Party Ate His Brother, Whose Books McMillan Found.

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 20.—"They ate my brother years ago, but no one shall rob his heirs," declared John P. Kislingbury, a veteran mail carrier of this city, when he applied for a certificate to-day showing that he is still administrator of the estate of his brother, Lieut. Frederick F. Kislingbury, who died during the Greely polar expedition.

Although named administrator on July 22, 1884, Mr. Kislingbury has never sought his discharge. He has always remembered with bitterness the fate of his brother, whose body was partially eaten by other members of the Greely expedition. Now he is determined that the Kislingbury relics found at Fort Conger by Prof. McMillan of the Peary party shall be turned over to the Lieutenant's family. One of the Lieutenant's four sons, Douglas E. L. Kislingbury, is a salesman, residing in a suburb of Rochester.

DR. W. H. TOLMAN RETURNS.

He Will Lecture in the Interests of Safety Appliances for Mechanics.

Dr. W. H. Tolman, Director of the New York Museum of Safety and Sanitation, returned yesterday on the Nieuw Amsterdam of the Holland-America Line from a three months' tour of Europe in the interests of the institution and to gather material for a lecture tour in the interests of safety appliances for all sorts of mechanics' tools and machinery. Dr. Tolman attended the International Medical Congress at Budapest, where in the Section of Hygiene and Prevention he presented a paper on the New York Museum of Safety.

"They are waking up on the subject abroad," said Dr. Tolman yesterday. "In Amsterdam they are going to get an appropriation from the Dutch Government for a museum similar to ours. They really had one there as early as 1893. It is a shame that in this the biggest industrial country in the world there is no such public institution. In Europe there are ten. The idea is to exhibit all sorts of devices to prevent injuries from saws, planes, adzes, and tools of very kind, and to show the most approved systems of sanitation. I have material for 125 lectures, and I propose to travel all over the country delivering them. Elbert H. Gary and Richard Watson Gilder are members of the committee in charge of the museum and the lectures."

Miss Caroline Ransom, recently elected to the Professorship of Archaeology and Art in Bryn Mawr College, returned on the Nieuw Amsterdam from a six months' tour of Egypt, where she visited the camps of the Metropolitan Museum and the University of Pennsylvania.

MURPHY MAY TAKE DOWLING.

Justice Said to be on Tammany's Slate for Mayor—Balance of the Ticket.

Tammany Leader Charles F. Murphy is still holding his slate for the city ticket in abeyance, pending the action of the Republican City Committee. In the meantime, friends of Justice William J. Gaynor, who hope that he may be indorsed by Tammany Hall, heard with some concern yesterday that Mr. Murphy has had some of his lieutenants make a careful search of the record in the Legislature of Justice Victor J. Dowling with a view of showing that his votes on measures in which labor people took an interest always had been in their favor.

While this is being done Mr. Murphy is having his dragnet out with a view of capturing some prominent Catholic to run on the same ticket as Justice Gaynor in case it should prove expedient to accept the Brooklyn jurist as Tammany's Mayoralty candidate. This is regarded as essential by many of the most influential leaders in Tammany Hall.

Martin S. Paine, a Vice President and Director of the Bowery Savings Bank, and George J. Gillespie, a lawyer, loomed up in the Tammany gossip yesterday as men who had been sounded on the Controllership. It was also said that Mr. Murphy had asked John F. Galvin, a wealthy manufacturer, not very closely identified with Tammany Hall, to become candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen on the Tammany ticket.

Mr. Murphy was asked yesterday if he had been able to locate the source from which Justice Gaynor had been assured of the Democratic nomination for Mayor. Mr. Murphy shook his head and said he had not.

BACKING ELY TO BEAT DADY.

All the Social Set on Brooklyn Heights Are with the Yale Man.

All "the fellows" of the Heights set in Brooklyn hurried back to town yesterday from Lenox, Bar Harbor, Newport, and Southampton to back up Morris Upham Ely, cotillion leader, and Yale alumnus, in his picturesque fight to wrest control of the First Assembly District from the veteran politician, Col. Micheal J. Dady.

This promises to be a memorable day in the political history of the Heights, and all society there is on the tiptoe of expectancy as to the outcome. Of course, all the débutantes and matrons of Remsen Street and Pierrepont and Hicks and Willow and Henry Streets and Grace Court and Montague Terrace are "rooting" enthusiastically for Ely, and all the men there who haven't neglected to enroll are going to vote for him.

Ely hasn't wasted any time on the Heights set. He has felt that he had them with him from the start. But he has been doing some strenuous campaigning among the proletariat in the district and has caused the usually indifferent Dady to get into action. D. Harry Ralston, who is regarded as the Adonis and Chesterfield of the Dady camp, has been making polite and polished efforts to win the Heights from Ely, but the latter believes he is safely intrenched there. There will probably be great doings at the Heights Casino and the Crescent Club to-night if he appears with the Colonel's political scalp dangling from his belt. Last night both sides were claiming victory.

Lumber Schooner Hits HellGate Rocks

Caught in the treacherous currents of Hell Gate, the three-masted schooner City of Augusta, Bath, Me., with a cargo of lumber, struck Scaly Rock head on off the Astoria shore about noon of yesterday, stoving in her bow and ripping a big hole in her port side. Her crew patched up the holes and kept her afloat with pumps until a tug aided by the rising tide pulled her off and towed her to the lumber docks in Harlem, where temporary repairs were made.

MEETING COMPETITION

How many of your customers are buying as many classes of goods from you as they might?

Suppose you could know in each customer's case just what goods he is buying from your competitor.

Suppose you could know just why that competitor is getting the business instead of yourself.

Can you conceive of any more powerful weapon in meeting competition?

That is one class of facts in the selling end of a business which our service provides for collecting regularly and completely.

We believe you will find an interview with us suggestive.

WILL STOP PUMPING OF SARATOGA'S GAS

Justice Andrews Will Issue an Injunction to Protect the Springs from Exhaustion.

COMPANIES IGNORED LAW

Hughes Summoned a Special Term of Court and Justice Has Upheld the State's Contention.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 20.—Justice Andrews, in an extraordinary term of the Supreme Court to-day, announced that he would issue an injunction forbidding further pumping of carbonic acid gas from the mineral springs at Saratoga. He was summoned to hold court by Gov. Hughes because the companies engaged in pumping were continuing their operations despite the law passed by the Legislature to forbid this practice and the decision of the Court of Appeals that the law was constitutional.

The cases came before the court on application of the people represented by the Attorney General for a permanent injunction restraining all pumping operations. Deputy Attorney General D. E. Brong conducted the case for the people, assisted by Attorneys J. Nash Rockwood, Charles E. Lester, and B. E. McKelveny. Senator Edgar T. Brackett conducted the case for the defendant gas and spring companies, assisted by E. W. Hatch and G. R. Plante.

Arguments on three of the seven cases were heard to-day, and the four others will come up to-morrow. Attempts on the part of Senator Brackett to introduce the evidence of officers of the companies and of Prof. W. B. Clark of Johns Hopkins University and State Geologist of Maryland, to the effect that no injury had been done to others, and that there had been no undue extraction of gas were all objected to by the State and ruled out by the court.

It was soon evident that the Court was inclined to continue the decision of the Court of Appeals as covering and forbidding the present pumping, though he confessed to some doubt as to just how comprehensive the language of Judge Hiscock was. At the conclusion of the day's argument he informed the counsel that he would hold for the State, but would hear arguments of counsel as to what the terms of the order should be. Senator Brackett asked that the injunction should not immediately operate, since it would spell ruin to his clients, but Brong argued that the defendants were illegally operating now and should be stopped.

The question is being fought out for the purpose of an appeal to the Court of Appeals, with the view of having the previous decision on the constitutionality of the anti-mineral spring pumping act more specifically interpreted.

The companies and springs involved in the litigation are the Geyser's Natural Gas Company, the New York Carbonic Acid Gas Company, the Lincoln Spring Company, the Congress Spring Company, the Natural Carbonic Gas Company, Mary Augusta Patterson, and Henry M. Levengston. The cases taken up to-day were those of the Geyser, the New York Carbonic Acid Gas Company, and the Lincoln Spring Company.

Senator Brackett desires to have the operation of an injunction stayed until the Court of Appeals can say whether the law prohibiting the pumping out of the excess of natural carbonic acid gas, or the pumping out of both water and gas, and whether, where no proof of injury is shown, a prohibitive law can be held to be constitutional.

The Attorney General declares that the public is being injured by the pumping operations, which the law was enacted to forbid, and that this injury should stop.

The United States courts have been asked to intervene, but have declined to do so until the State courts have settled the matter so far as their jurisdiction extends.

The extraordinary term was ordered by Gov. Hughes at the suggestion of the commission appointed by the Governor to purchase the spring properties in Saratoga for a State reservation. The commission reported that the springs were being used for gas-extracting purposes, and that it could not place a value upon the property until the courts had determined whether or not these companies had the right to continue such operations under the new law.

FIGHT ON WADSWORTH.

Direct Primaries Issue Raised by Democratic Opponent's Friends.

Special to The New York Times.

GENESEE, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Speaker Wadsworth of the Assembly, who has been vigorously opposed to Gov. Hughes's project of direct primaries, will have to face a fight on the question in his own district this Fall. When Mr. Wadsworth was nominated he made an attack on the Hinman-Green bill. The nomination for Assembly in opposition to Mr. Wadsworth of Albert C. Olp by the Democratic County Convention will bring the direct primaries issue sharply before the district's voters.

In his acceptance of the nomination Mr. Olp, who is Democratic County Chairman and a lawyer, said he would fight for direct nominations.

"If I am elected to the Legislature," said he, "a direct nominations bill will be introduced, if I have to do it myself. If one is introduced in general like the Hinman-Green bill I will support it in every way. We in this county have seen so many illustrations of the need for primary reform that I think all who desire good government will indorse my stand on this. I am a Democrat, and I stand for reform on this and many other obvious lines. If I couldn't be for both, then I should still stand for reform."

Mr. Olp, who is a lawyer practicing in Rochester, lives in Mount Morris, the home of Speaker Wadsworth.

Reports are heard here that before Mr. Olp's nomination men prominent in State politics of both parties went to him and asked him not to run.

Some of those who favor direct nominations are forming an organization in Livingston County and enrolling members. A committee is canvassing the seventeen towns of the county, with the final aim of forming an organization to have membership in the Direct Primaries Association of the State. Those who have charge of this work include C. W. Bingham, a banker of Mount Morris; Dr. J. Arthur Jackson of Dansville, and Kidder M. Scott and J. Hunter Black, lawyers, of Geneseo.

PARROTS FOOL CUSTOMS MEN.

Talk South Sea Island Language in a Box at the Pier.

For the first time in the experience of those who go down to the sea to meet ships choice South Sea Island lingo was heard yesterday on the Hamburg-American line pier in Hoboken after the arrival of the Hamburg from Mediterranean ports.

"Makan! Makan!" came in a muffled screech from a big canvas-covered box. "Pisang! Pisang!"

"Ha! Somebody trying to sneak in without being searched," reflected one of Mr. Loeb's special customs men.

"Just two big white parrots," exclaimed an express messenger, who drew aside the canvas cover.

The parrots were really Ceram cockatoos, and they were brought from the South Sea Islands by Prof. Harrison W. Smith of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who has been spending the last eight months collecting specimens among the islands of the Pacific. Prof. Smith visited Tahiti, the Society Islands, Java, and the Dutch insular possessions, and New Guinea.

CRANE AND WU MEET AT FAREWELL DINNER

New Minister to China Hopes to Restore American Commercial Supremacy There.

WU PRAISES THE CANAL

Boon to the Far East, He Says, and Will Vastly Increase Our Trade with the Orient.

In a banquet hall decorated with the Stars and Stripes, the red suns of Japan, and the black dragon of China on its yellow field, the American Asiatic Association gave a dinner last night at Delmonico's in honor of the newly appointed Minister to China, the Chicago banker Charles Richard Crane.

Seth Low, President of the society, acting as Chairman, opened the speeches by reading this letter from President Taft:

> Beverly, Mass., Sept. 5, 1909.
> My dear Mr. Low:
> I have your letter of Sept. 2, and greatly regret that I shall not be able to be present at the dinner to be given in honor of Mr. Crane on the eve of his departure to Peking as Minister of the United States to China. Our relations to China in the Far East, of course, are of great importance, and I am sure that Mr. Crane carries with him the spirit of friendship toward the great Middle Kingdom and her people, and the interest in their development, which correctly represent the feeling of our Government and our people toward China. I earnestly hope that his mission will have a successful issue, and I beg you to convey to him my sincere wishes for a pleasant voyage and patriotic and useful service.
>
> Sincerely yours,
> WILLIAM H. TAFT.
>
> Hon. Seth Low, President American Asiatic Association, Bedford Station, N. Y.

Mr. Low then said in part:

"I conceive that the interests of the United States in China far exceed our trade relations with that country, great and important as those surely are. Mr. Minister, it is your privilege to represent in China the vitally important commercial interests of the United States already established and to be established in that vast empire, and it is also your privilege to represent there all that is best in the United States.

Mr. Crane said in part:

"Toward the end of the last century there was rather a widespread opinion that China was on the eve of breaking up. She certainly was menaced externally and internally, but in 1907 a distinguished American citizen proceeding to the Philippines was asked to speak in Shanghai. I shall only quote one paragraph, as follows:

> China has no territory we long for, and can have no prosperity which we grudge her, and no political power or independence as an empire, justly exercised, which we would resent.

"The Shanghai speech was so frank and so clear, and sounded so much like one of the good old Uncle Grover's, that I felt that possibly the Government might be safe in the hands of one Republican. [Applause.] Since that speech all talk of dismemberment of China has quieted down.

"When I was in China some thirty years ago the foreign business was largely in the hands of some fine old American houses. They have not prospered much in recent years, but with the new outlook and the new interest we have there I hope to see them get back to the former dominating position."

The Chinese Minister, Wu Ting Fang, following, spoke of the open door policy in China as now a permanent and established fact. "We now know that trade with the outer world is good for us," he said, "and that railroads are good, and that it is good for us that foreigners should come to China that we may learn from them.

"I have just come from South America. Passing through Panama I saw the canal. I think it a gigantic and wonderful undertaking. It will be a great boon to the nations in the Far East. Who can say but when it is done the trade between the Orient and America will equal, if not exceed, that between Europe and America. Then the ships will pass right through, across the Pacific to China and Japan."

Other speakers were Nicholas Murray Butler, Benjamin Ide Wheeler, and Gen. T. H. Hubbard.

Those at the guest table were Dr. Lyman Abbott, William Travers Jerome, Judge Alton B. Parker, Prof. F. W. Williams, Melville E. Stone, Dr. C. C. Creegan, Attorney General Wickersham, M. Hanihara, S. D. Webb, William Skinner, A. P. Wilder, John P. Finley, Gen. J. H. Wilson, and Edwin A. Alderman.

1,500 MORE FOR JEROME.

His Nominating Petition Being Signed by the Masses, He Says.

At the headquarters of District Attorney Jerome it was said last night that there had been received during the day 1,500 new signatures to the petitions to place his name on the ballot. Mr. Jerome said he was very much gratified at this ready response.

"If there is anything that gratifies me more than another in this fight, and in every fight that I have ever taken part in," said Mr. Jerome, "it is the fact that my support has come from the masses of the people rather than from the classes so called."

BOMB TRIAL STOPPED; NEW TRIAL ORDERED

Chicago Judges Investigating Jury Plot Dismiss Jurors Chosen and Entire Panel.

SUSPEND ACCUSED OFFICIAL

Decide to Have Great Care Used in Selecting Jury to Try the Three Charged with Conspiracy.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—After a meeting of all the Judges of the city, except those in the Municipal Court, to investigate the charges in the jury scandal, made by State Attorney Wayman, Mr. Wayman said:

"One thing I told the Judges was about the bomb jury when 114 union men were called. I told them it was very strange that if I were trying a union man a lot of union men were called for jury service and if he were trying a crooked banker a lot of crooked bankers were called into the box. There's something rotten in Denmark."

Those who are alleged to have been guilty of jury irregularities include several city and county officials.

The discharge of six jurors already chosen and the entire venire of seventy-five men called in the trial of Vincent and Joseph Altman, who are charged with being concerned in the throwing of a bomb and the wrecking of a sash and door factory, were ordered by the Judges this morning. Judge Kickham Scanlan ordered a non-suit entered in the Altman trial, and immediately after the order had been entered the Altmans were again arrested on a capias issued following the return by the Grand Jury of a new indictment for the same offense.

The meeting of the twenty-eight Judges was presided over by Judge Cutting of the Probate Court in the chambers of Judge Brentano, Chief Justice of the Superior Court. State Attorney Wayman described the methods which he alleged had been employed in drawing juries.

He asserted that names drawn by lot for jury service were fraudulently displaced in the Jury Commissioners' office by names of persons supposed to be in the conspiracy to defeat the ends of justice. Whole venires, he declared, were drawn by this method, even the Grand Jury suffering from the practice.

The Judges decided to suspend John J. Holland, Secretary and member of the Jury Commission, who is now under bonds of $20,000, charged with conspiracy.

The Judges also agreed that special care should be taken in the selection of the present jurors, and that the boxes from which the jurors are drawn should be turned over as evidence to the Criminal Court upon the order of a Judge of that court. The Altman trial will be postponed for several weeks.

Nicholas Martin, who was arrested on Saturday and put under $5,000 bonds, and who was not arrested on the second warrant issued, has given bonds for $20,000. Martin is secretary to Alderman Michael Kenna. Willis G. Rayburn, a real estate dealer of Oakland, the other prisoners, gave the new bonds for $20,000 yesterday. Holland and Rayburn were arraigned before Justice McEwen, but the hearing was postponed.

State Attorney Wayman to-day issued a statement acknowledging an upheaval in the Jury Commissioners' office, charging the district with it, and wrote a letter to President William Busse of the County Board asking for $10,000 to carry on the trial of the three men arrested.

Mayor Passes Night Court Charges.

Mayor McClellan declined yesterday to discuss the report of the Commissioners of Accounts on the conduct of the Night Court, in which they cast reflections on the conduct of several Police Magistrates, but the Mayor has forwarded a copy of that report to the Bar Association. The Mayor feels that the Appellate Division is the only body with the power of removal of Magistrates. Action of this kind must be taken by the Appellate Division, and it has been sought at the instance of the Bar Association.

Sarmineto, with about the same number of cadets on board, is already in New York, and is anchored in the naval reservation off Tompkinsville, S. I. She will probably take her place in the river to-day.

German Ships Expected.

The German cruisers Victoria Luise, Bremen, and Dresden are all nearing New York and are expected any day now. A telegram received from Newport last night stated that it was positively known there that Grand Admiral von Koester of the German Navy, who is due to arrive in New York to-day on the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm II., will not personally command the German squadron. He comes to the United States, it was explained, as the personal representative of the German Emperor, and will therefore not hoist his flag on the Victoria Luise. This will give Sir Edward Seymour, the British commander, the senior rank among naval officers attached to the squadrons assembling this week.

DUTCH DELEGATION ARRIVES.

Queen Wilhelmina's Representatives Here to Take Part in the Jubilee.

The Holland-America liner Nieuw Amsterdam, which arrived yesterday from Rotterdam, brought the official representatives of Queen Wilhelmina and the Netherlands, who are to be the guests of New York during the Hudson-Fulton ceremonies. The big Dutch ship, as she entered the harbor, flew the royal ensign of the Netherlands in token of the fact that J. T. Cremer, who brings a personal message from Queen Wilhelmina to the citizens of New York, was on board.

Beyond admitting that the message was one of good will and well wishes from her Majesty, who was referred to by a member of the delegation as "the best-beloved ruler in Europe," Mr. Cremer declined to give out the text of the message.

The delegation on the Nieuw Amsterdam, who are now quartered at the Hotel Plaza, where they are the guests of the Hudson-Fulton committee, is composed of the following members:

W. F. Van Loeuwen, Burgomaster of Amsterdam, wife and two sons.
J. T. Cremer, Government representative, President of the Netherlands Trading Society, Vice President of the Netherlands Commission, and former Secretary of State for the Colonies, and Mrs. Cremer.
S. P. Van Eeghen, President of the Amsterdam Chamber of Commerce, and Miss Van Eeghen.
Mr. and Mrs. E. P. de Monchy.
R. Van Rees, Treasurer of the Netherlands Commission, wife and daughter.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Heldring.
Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Van Ryn.
Prof. Baron J. d'Aulnis de Bourulll of the University of Utrecht.
Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Stoop.
S. Alsberg.
J. Rypperda Wierdsma, Director Holland-America Line.
Otto Reuchlin, Director Holland-America Line.

Mr. Van Loeuwen, Burgomaster of Amsterdam, who comes with his wife and two sons, is here on his first visit. The Burgomaster was as happy as a schoolboy as the big liner came up the bay, and several times exclaimed about the wonders of New York. The sky line of the city, he declared, was one of the most wonderful sights he had ever seen.

"I suppose you know without my telling you that we are not accustomed to such buildings in Amsterdam," he said. "Your sky line is marvelous. To one who has lived in a country where low buildings are the rule, the height of your office buildings appears all the more vivid, I suppose. Still, I don't think that I would want to make a permanent change from the scenery of Holland to that of an American city, such, at least, as I find here. I love the picturesque. And Holland, it is much more picturesque than New York. Here you are all business. In Amsterdam we are hustlers, too, but our ways are evidently different from yours."

Mr. Cremer is not a stranger to New York. He was here twenty-two years ago. He is one of the representative men of Queen Wilhelmina's kingdom.

"It is indeed wonderful," said Mr. Cremer, "the way New York has grown in the twenty-two years that have passed since I was here last. I don't see how you have piled the buildings up so. Vast is the only word that can adequately describe the greatness of the city."

Mr. Cremer said that great interest was being taken in Holland in the celebration; a fact, he said, that was shown by the fact that the new Half Moon was paid for by popular subscription.

A Reception Committee from the Hudson-Fulton Committee met the Nieuw Amsterdam off Quarantine and welcomed the Netherlands delegation to the city. Howland S. Davis and George Gordon Fry officially welcomed the visitors in behalf of the committee and afterward escorted them to the Plaza, where a suite of rooms had been reserved for them during their stay in New York.

ATLANTIC FLEET SAILS.

Battleships and Cruisers Off from Hampton Roads for New York.

Special to The New York Times.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 20.—Most of the vessels of the Atlantic Fleet sailed this afternoon for New York, to aid in making great the Hudson-Fulton Celebration. The battleship Louisiana did not sail with the other vessels.

Fouling one of its anchors, the vessel lost it in attempting to raise it to get under way, and all of the afternoon was lost in an effort to recover it. The anchor was not found, but no more time will be lost in looking for it. The vessel will sail for New York early to-morrow morning and will overtake the other vessels of the fleet, which are steaming at reduced speed, in time to enter New York Bay with them early Wednesday morning.

The battleship Connecticut, flagship of Admiral Schroeder, hoisted anchor in Hampton Roads at 2:20 o'clock. The other vessels followed the example of the flagship, and at 3:54 the ships, forming a line about seven miles long, began passing Cape Henry in the following order: Battleships Connecticut, Kansas, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Mississippi, Idaho, Georgia, New Jersey, Nebraska, Rhode Island, Virginia, Wisconsin, and Missouri; cruisers North Carolina, New York, Birmingham, and Salem; auxiliary Panther, battleship Ohio, and gunboat Yankton. Later several supply ships went to sea.

Another big vessel of the fleet left behind was the cruiser Montana, under orders to be at Lewes, Del., on Sept. 22 to aid in a patriotic celebration there. The Montana will go to sea to-morrow. Also left in the Roads is the auxiliary cruiser Dixie.

WRIGHT AIRSHIP HERE FOR FULTON FLIGHTS

Aeroplane Housed on Governors Island—Ready Soon for Tuning-Up Trials.

AVIATOR LIKES GROUNDS

He Won't Do Any "Circus Stunts," but Hopes to Give Practical Demonstrations—Gen. Wood Promises to Help.

Wilbur Wright's flying machine has been found. Mr. Wright received word that the aeroplane had arrived at the freight yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Jersey City yesterday morning while he was paying his respects to Gen. Wood, Commander of the Department of the East, on Governors Island.

The news elicited from him one of the typical Wright smiles, and later in the day Mr. Wright made a second visit to the island and superintended the removal of his flier from the Government tug which had been dispatched with orders to hurry the machine to Governors Island. It was packed in three or four boxes, and Mr. Wright did not take his eyes off them until they had been safely housed in the big shed facing the wide expanse where his long flights over Manhattan Island are to begin.

Mr. Wright was accompanied to the island in the morning by William J. Hammer, Secretary of the Aeronautics Committee of the Hudson-Fulton Commission, who introduced the aviator to Gen. Wood.

"It is a great pleasure to welcome you to Governors Island," said Gen. Wood. "We shall do all we can to make your flights a great success. If I have any command over the aerial regions I will surely order them to furnish zephyrlike breezes during your stay here."

"Well, I shall hope for the best," said Mr. Wright. "At any rate, I shall not complain to Congress for an official investigation in case adverse winds should confront us. I am not asking for no wind or very little wind. It is a good thing to have some wind, just to show the public what an aeroplane can do."

Mr. Wright said one thing that impressed him very favorably with Governors Island for flying purposes was the fact that the winds were likely to be steady. He did not expect to be bothered with the gusty winds that troubled him at Fort Myer.

"It is these troublesome little puffs that come from no one knows where that make flying difficult," said Mr. Wright. "All I want are ordinarily favorable conditions. I shall attempt no circus stunts, such as trying to land on top of high buildings. I only hope to show the people of New York that an aeroplane is a perfectly practical machine when properly operated, and I am confident that I shall be able to fulfill the terms of my contract, which include one or more flights of at least an hour's length and a flight ten miles long."

At the request of Mr. Hammer, the reports of the Weather Bureau for the last ten years during the period of the coming flights have been obtained, and they show no evidence of abnormally high winds at this season. The average velocity has been from nine to fifteen miles an hour. Under such conditions, Mr. Wright said, there would be no difficulty in making good flights. He has been up in a wind blowing more than twenty-five miles an hour, but at Fort Myer he was particularly careful because he was making Government tests to show the highest efficiency of his machine, and his flying area was more restricted than it will be at Governors Island.

Mr. Wright's chief mechanic, Charles F. Taylor, arrived from Dayton with his kit of tools during the afternoon. Mr. Taylor was with the Wright brothers at Fort Myer and understands every detail of the machine. Gen. Wood offered the aviator every possible facility, and additional men will be furnished when needed, and a detail of sentries will guard the aeroplane sheds while Mr. Wright and Mr. Curtiss have their machines there. The shed for the Curtiss machine is about 24 feet from the Wright headquarters, and is of the same size, 43 feet long, with large sliding doors so that the entire front can be thrown open.

Mr. Wright will use no catapault or weight in starting. His monorail track will be built this week. Material for the sleepers and rails has been shipped to the island. Mr. Wright will begin unpacking his machine to-day, and within three or four days hopes to be ready to do a little preliminary work in the air. It is his intention to make a few short trial flights over the island to test the force of the wind and get his bearings before launching out for Manhattan.

JOYOUS WELCOME FOR CURTISS.

Aero Club to Meet Him To-day—Luncheon Guest To-morrow.

Glenn H. Curtiss, the International Aviation Cup winner, will be met to-day on his arrival on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II. by a delegation from the Aero Club of America. A small delegation will go down the bay to meet him, while a larger representation of enthusiasts will extend their welcome from the dock.

So many applications have been received by Chairman Alan R. Hawley of the Dinner Committee of the Aero Club for the complimentary luncheon to be given to Mr. Curtiss to-morrow at the Lawyers' Club that doubt was expressed yesterday as to whether they could all be accommodated.

Following Mr. Curtiss's return the rivalry between the cities that want to hold next year's international races is expected to reach a keen stage. No less than eight cities have made tentative applications to the Aero Club. L. D. Dozier, President of the Aero Club of St. Louis, one of the first to make a bid for the big meet, arrived in the city last night and was very much disappointed when he found that it would be impossible for him to go down the bay on the revenue cutter to meet Mr. Curtiss. Mayor Mahoon of Baltimore will arrive to-day to attend the luncheon, and delegations will also be present from the Philadelphia and Washington Aero Clubs.

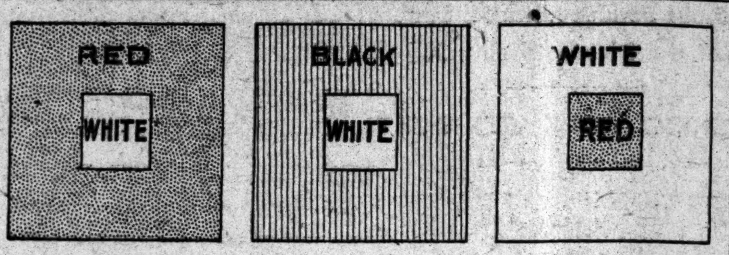
The Washington Aero Club sent its formal application last week for affiliation with the Aero Club of America, the first step necessary to be in line to conduct the international contest, as by the rules of the International Aeronautic Federation the affair must be conducted by one of the federated clubs or its affiliated bodies. There has been no big rush in the past to become affiliated with the Aero Club of America, but now, with the chance of getting one of the greatest aviation events of the year with all of its attendant financial results, the Aero Clubs in the cities anxious to obtain the week's series of races are hastening to equip themselves with the official badge of affiliation.

Besides St. Louis, Washington, and Philadelphia, applications have been received from Cincinnati, Detroit, Indianapolis, Spokane, and Los Angeles. The Washington club has already gone so far as to make arrangements with Norfolk and Baltimore, and the officers state that within a short time they will be prepared to make a guarantee of a large purse for the 1910 aviation contests. Congressman Herbert Parsons, one of the members of the Washington club, will be present at the Curtiss luncheon.

There will be no formal speaking at the luncheon, but among those who have consented to make short talks are St. Clair McKelway and George T. Wilson. Vice President A. Holland Forbes will preside and will present the club's gold medal to Mr. Curtiss. An invitation was sent to Wilbur Wright yesterday. Among those who will be present are Col. John Jacob Astor, John J. Carroll, Robert J. Collier, Joseph Pulitzer, Jr., Justice O'Gorman, Payne Whitmey, Dave Hennen Morris, Colgate Hoyt, and James W. Osborne.

AIRSHIP SIGNALS FROM TIMES TOWER

Army Corps Announces System for Telling the Public of Arrangements for Flights.



These are the signals to be displayed from the tower of THE NEW YORK TIMES Buildingf at the Hudson-Fulton Celebration to indicate when the Curtiss or Wright flights will take place from Governors Island:

White flag with red centre will mean that the weather is favorable.

The black flag with white centre will indicate weather conditions unfavorable and flight improbable that afternoon.

The white flag and the red flag flying together, the white over the red, will indicate that a flight is probable within an hour.

All three flags flying together, one above another, will indicate that an aeroplane has left the island and is then in flight.

The same signals will also be displayed at Governors Island, the Singer and Metropolitan towers, and the Brooklyn and Queensboro Bridges.

Audible signals, consisting of bombs, will also be used at each of the signal stations named; one bomb announces a flight probably in an hour, two bombs a flight in fifteen minutes, and three bombs flight then in progress.

NOVEL NEW AIRSHIP IN FLIGHT.

Inventor to Compete for $10,000 Prize in Hudson-Fulton Celebration.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 20.—The residents of White Plains believe they have a flying machine in their locality that is likely to arouse more than ordinary interest very soon. It is a torpedo-shaped machine built by John Roeder, a German engineer, who came to America recently to build a flying machine along lines of his own with which to compete for the $10,000 prize in the flight from New York to Albany during the Hudson-Fulton Celebration.

Mr. Roeder took his machine out to the fair grounds early this morning, and in his first test circled the half-mile trotting track four times, rising from 50 to 150 feet. He carried two passengers, Peter Roeder, his brother, and Peter Berner, his assistant in the construction of the craft. Mr. Roeder said he was in the air about four minutes. He was so well pleased with his success that he promised to make a long public flight to-day.

Late in the week the machine will be shipped to New York preparatory to competing in the long-distance flight up the river. The machine is an ingenious contrivance, and is said to be totally unlike anything every before built for flying. The gas bag is 50 feet long, and to this is attached a small car surrounded by steel lattice work. It will easily carry four persons, Mr. Roeder says. Its aeroplane feature consists of a single deck of canvas, pointed at the forward end and gradually enlarging until it reaches a spread of sixteen feet near the centre. A single vertical rudder is attached to the rear, and the motor is a four-cylinder twenty horse power engine. There is also a propeller in front.

The greatest novelty of the machine, however, is a small generator by which to renew the buoyancy of his machine on the trip. The inventor does not use ordinary gas, and has not told just what his ascensional composition consists of. It is a composition of certain gases and air which, the inventor says, is an original discovery.

Mr. Roeder has worked as a mechanic in the Zeppelin and Voisin works abroad.

ARMY'S PART IN THE FETE.

Gen. Wood Assigns Twelve Military Companies to the Parade.

Twelve companies of coast artillery from the forts in and near New York City have been designated by Major Gen. Leonard Wood to participate in the Hudson-Fulton Celebration parade on Sept. 30. The troops are drawn from the regular garrisons at Forts Hancock, Wadsworth, Hamilton, Totten, and Schuyler, and are to be commanded by Col. Henry L. Davis. The field and staff officers who will be subordinate to Col. Davis will be named by Col. Henry L. Harris, commanding the artillery districts of New York. The companies will represent the maximum enlisted strength permitted by law.

Gen. Wood has also named the officers who are to have charge of the regular army military tournament, to be held near Albany during the celebration. These officers, with the duties they are to perform, are Major William F. Martin, in charge of military events; Major Henry S. Greenleaf, sanitary officer; Capt. F. J. Koester, judge and time keeper; Capt. Franklin S. Hutton, judge and time keeper; Capt. T. N. Horn, judge and time-keeper; Capt. H. C. Smither, judge and time keeper; First Lieut. Allan L. Briggs, judge and time keeper; Second Lieut. Joseph C. King, judge and time keeper; Capt. Claude H. Miller, recorder and clerk of the course; Capt. Henry C. Kromer, starter; First Lieut. Noble J. Wiley, chief scorer and announcer; Capt. H. B. Nelson, commissary; Capt. E. T. Hartmann, quartermaster and ordnance officer; Second Lieut. Jesse W. Boyd, assistant quartermaster and ordnance officer, and Chaplain Horace A. Chouinard, chaplain.

In the signaling of the airship flights from the Singer Building, the Metropolitan tower, the Times Building, and the Brooklyn and Queensboro Bridges, the Signal Corps will only operate the flag code. The operation of the audible code with bombs will be in charge of employes of the fireworks concern that will supply the bombs.

BIG BALLOONS HERE FOR RACE TO ALBANY

Capt. Baldwin and G. L. Tomlinson Getting Ready for Hudson-Fulton $10,000 Contest.

MAY START NEXT SATURDAY

Starting Point at 120th Street and Claremont Avenue—Another Entry Coming.

With the arrival of two big dirigible balloons yesterday at 120th Street and Claremont Avenue, overlooking Riverside Park, another aeronautic centre of interest was established in this city. This is the place from which will start the Hudson-Fulton long-distance flight from New York to Albany, following the line of the Hudson River, for the $10,000 prize offered by The New York World.

Capt. Thomas S. Baldwin arrived in the city early in the morning, and before evening a dozen men were busily engaged in setting up the large tent in which his balloon will be housed during the work preliminary to the flight. A hydrogen gas plant will be installed to-day. Capt. Baldwin said he expected everything to be ready for the inflation of his dirigible by Friday.

The second dirigible reached the city late in the day from Syracuse. It is owned by George L. Tomlinson, a manufacturer of that city, who has been interested in aeronautics for several years, and has made several balloon ascensions. The Tomlinson balloon was built by Capt. Baldwin more than a year ago and is the one used by him at Arlington last June. It has, however, been equipped with a new motor calculated to drive the machine under favorable conditions at the rate of twenty miles an hour or better.

The third entry for the contest, John Roeder's torpedo-shaped dirigible, is being tried out at White Plains, and will reach the starting point, which the aeronauts have dubbed "Fulton Square," within the next two or three days.

Capt. Baldwin's balloon is a new one. It is practically a duplicate of the one he built for the United States Government last year, and in which during the tests at Fort Myer he remained in the air 2 hours and 5 minutes, with Glenn H. Curtiss as a passenger. This is the American record for duration with dirigibles. The envelope is 96 feet long and 17 feet in diameter, containing 19,000 cubic feet of gas. The motor is a new four-cylinder 25 horse power Curtiss engine, similar to the one used by Curtiss in his aeroplane in his flights on the Hempstead Plains before going abroad to win the International Aviation Cup.

To win the $10,000 prize, which is the largest purse ever offered in America for aeronautic flights, it will be necessary to follow the course of the river to Albany, the finish being in Ten Eyck Park. The distance is approximately 140 miles, and no landing must be made during the trip. The flights may begin at any time of the day after 10 o'clock next Saturday morning, and the contestants have until Oct. 9 to make the trip. In case of failure the contestant may start again as many times as he wishes within the dates set for the contest.

"Do I expect to reach Albany?" queried Capt. Baldwin while superintending the unpacking of his big dirigible yesterday. "Why, of course I do. Moreover, I expect to arrive in sight of Albany within five to seven hours after starting. I shall start as near 10 o'clock as possible on the first favorable morning. Favorable means almost no wind or any breezes from the south. It would be useless to try it against northerly winds, for I don't intend to buck against the atmospheric tides any more than possible.

"I expect to sail directly over the course of the river every mile of the way, and shall keep as near 3,000 feet in the air as possible. With good conditions my motor ought to drive the machine fully 25 miles an hour. Indeed, at Worcester, Mass., two weeks ago, where I tried out the machine for the first time, the motor did somewhat better."

A Weather Bureau headquarters will be established at "Fulton Square" this week, and beginning Saturday bulletins will be received at intervals every day regarding the nature and force of the winds at different points along the Hudson River.

HIGH FLIGHT BY ROUGIER.

Goes Up 650 Feet at Brescia—Vain Attempt to Beat Curtiss.

BRESCIA, Italy, Sept. 20.—The flying carnival was brought to a close to-day with a new height record for this meeting. Rougier reached an altitude of 198½ meters, (about 650 feet,) and was greeted with enthusiastic applause by the multitude gathered in the aerodrome.

Lieut. Calderara, after wrecking his aeroplane, brought out a reserve machine and attempted to lower Curtiss's time of 49 minutes and 24 seconds for fifty kilometers, (thirty-one miles, but he succeeded only in covering the distance in 50 minutes and 50 3-5 seconds.

King Victor Emmanuel was present throughout the day and warmly congratulated the aviators.

OUT OF WORK, ENDS HIS LIFE.

Veteran Salesman Puts a Bullet in His Head at the Broadway Central.

In a fit of despondency because he was out of employment and 63 years old, Thomas Royston, for many years a traveling salesman for Thomas Day, wholesale milliner, of Boston, committed suicide at the Broadway Central Hotel yesterday by shooting himself through the head with a revolver.

He registered at the hotel on Sunday and was assigned to a room on the seventh floor. The hotel clerk said that Mr. Royston seemed to be in good spirits when he came to the hotel. When the maid tried the door at 3:20 P. M. yesterday she found it was locked inside and informed the house detective who looked over the transom and saw the man lying dead on the floor with the revolver beside him.

He had been dead some hours, according to Coroner Harburger, who was summoned by the police. The suicide had placed pillows around his head to muffle the sound of the shot. The bullet entered the right side of his head.

Royston was identified by P. Caluwaert, an importer of 640 Broadway, who had known him for thirty years. Mr. Caluwaert said that Royston was an Englishman and came to this country about thirty-five years ago from Luton.

After leaving the firm of Thomas Day he said that Royston had been employed by another millinery firm which failed, and he became despondent and drank somewhat to excess. He wrote to Mr. Caluwaert last Tuesday saying that he was going to end his life and requesting that his body might be cremated, and not to let it go to Potter's Field. Yesterday morning a second letter was received from Royston by his friend, dated Sunday, which stated that the writer had seen his family and was not going to commit suicide.

The body was also identified by Victor A. Plaut of 640 Broadway. Nothing was found in the man's pockets except 3 cents and a Belgian coin. He leaves a wife, three daughters, and one son, who live at Richmond Hill, L. I.

AUTO RUNS DOWN THREE.

One Man Seriously Injured by a Car That Quickly Escaped.

An automobile in which were two women and three men turned out of Union Avenue into Richmond Avenue, New Springville, S. I., last night, traveling at high speed. It skidded around and started down the road swiftly when the chauffeur got it straightened out.

Ahead in the road were walking James Barnes, 56 years old, and two boys, Augustus Sties, 16, and George Depuy, 17 years old, on their way to their homes in Richmond Avenue. It was dark, and apparently the chauffeur did not see the trio until it was too late to stop his car.

The automobile pitched them to the side of the road. Barnes was made unconscious. They expected to see the automobile stop, but instead its driver increased the speed and made off.

The boys got help and Dr. Potter was called from St. Vincent's Hospital in West Brighton. He took Barnes there, where it was said that he was badly hurt, his nose being broken in two places, and there being the possibility that he had internal injuries.

The police are trying to find the automobile, which was going toward Port Richmond. No one got its number, but it was a black touring car.

RITA FORNIA WED SECRETLY.

Metropolitan Opera Signer Has Been Mrs. Frank Labey Since April.

Rita Fornia, one of the stars of the Metropolitan Opera Company, has been married since last April, it was learned yesterday, and now should be known as Mrs. Frank Labey. This American soprano, who is about to commence her third season at the Metropolitan Opera House, stole away one afternoon last April to the office of a Justice of the Peace, where the marriage was performed. Then she decided to tell nobody about it. When she went to Europe this Summer she sailed alone as her husband is engaged in business in New York, and so it was easy for her to keep her secret.

Yesterday, however, when seen at her apartment, 315 West Seventy-ninth Street, she admitted that she should henceforth be known as Madam. "We decided that it would be much more amusing not to let people know, and I cannot understand how anybody found out," she said.

Miss Fornia will be heard in three new parts at the Metropolitan and New Theatre this Winter, in "Maestro di Cappella," "The Cricket on the Hearth," and "La Favorita."

DETECTIVE ROBBED ON TRAIN.

Pickpocket, Caught, Says He Came Here to Work Hudson-Fulton Crowds.

Headquarters Detective Gegan, riding uptown on a Third Avenue elevated train yesterday afternoon, felt some one wrench at the diamond pin in his necktie. Just then the train, which had stopped at the 133d Street station, started up, and the detective saw the man whom he suspected escape him by leaping from the train as the gates slammed shut.

Gegan was compelled to ride to the 138th Street station, but there he took a train back. He was delighted to see his man struggling with another man on the platform at 133d Street, and grabbed the suspect. The other man introduced himself as Ralph Klonz of 575 East 172d Street, a magazine agent. He said Gegan's prisoner had taken two books of magazine page samples from his pocket.

Gegan took his man to Police Headquarters, and on the way says that the fellow first tried to bribe him to let him go, and, failing in this, admitted that he was a professional pickpocket who had come here to "work" the Hudson-Fulton Celebration. He said he was Nathan Schmile of 2 East 171st Street.

Gegan says that his picture is in the Rogues' Galley as a pickpocket.

CAUGHT AFTER YEAR'S CHASE.

Twenty-three of Gallucci's Fifty-two Years Spent in Italian Prisons.

Capt. Corcoran of the East 104th Street Police Station announced last night that he had caught an Italian criminal who has been in this country for a year and for whom the police have been looking all the time. The man is Genero Gallucci, and, according to Capt. Corcoran, he has spent twenty-three of his fifty-two years in Italian prisons.

The Captain says Gallucci escaped from prison in Italy in 1908 and came here as a stoker on a French liner, eluding the police, who had been warned to look for him in this city, and going West. He returned about three weeks ago. Since then, so Capt. Corcoran says, he has received more than fifty complaints from small shop keepers that Gallucci had held them up and robbed them in their stores and in the street.

Early yesterday morning the Captain received word that Gallucci was at 110th Street and First Avenue, and he sent Detectives Archiopoli and Trievar after him. Gallucci tried to draw a revolver, the detectives say, but they overpowered him. After being taken to the Harlem Court Gallucci was remanded to Headquarters. It is probable that he will be deported.

Second Dividend by Lafayette Trust.

Announcement was made yesterday by the receivers of the Lafayette Trust Company of Brooklyn that they would make a payment of 20 per cent. of claims to depositors on Oct. 1. With this payment, the second, about $275,000 will have been paid over to the depositors by the receivers. This will leave the bank still indebted to its creditors to the extent of about $800,000. As slow progress is being made in the collection of loans and the disposal of the company's realty holdings, the dates on which further installments will be paid to depositors are regarded as uncertain.

Many Bishops to be at Consecration.

The consecration of the Right Rev. George W. Mundelein, D. D., as Bishop of Loryma and Bishop Auxiliary of Brooklyn and Long Island in the Roman Catholic Pro-Cathedral of St. James, Brooklyn, this morning will be attended by twelve Bishops and many other clergymen of prominence. Bishop Colton of Buffalo and Bishop O'Connor of Newark will act as assistant consecrators to Bishop McDonnell of Brooklyn. Bishop Cusack of New York will deliver the sermon.

KNICKERBOCKER TO PAY

Another 25 Per Cent. on "A" Certificates—$30,000,000 Paid Creditors.

The Directors of the Knickerbocker Trust Company have decided to pay, on Oct. 29, an additional 25 per cent. of the surplus "A" certificates issued under the plan by which business was resumed in 1908. This payment, which is the second 25 per cent. disbursed on these surplus certificates, leaves only 15 per cent. of the deposits held by the company when it closed its doors during the panic remaining due to depositors.

The first payment of 25 per cent. on the surplus "A" certificates was made only a little more than a month ago, on Aug. [illegible] Each 25 per cent. payment on the surplus "A" certificates involves a distribution of over $2,500,000 to the old depositors, and when the disbursement is made on Oct. 29 over $30,000,000 will have been paid out.

Under the resumption plan depositors accepted for their accounts 70 per cent. of their claims in the form of installment certificates of deposit, which were to be paid at regular intervals, ending in August, 1910. These certificates, representing $25,000,000, were paid up in little over a year after the reopening, or sixteen months earlier than the date specified in the plan. The remaining 30 per cent. was accepted by the depositors in the form of surplus "A" certificates, which were to be redeemable at the pleasure of the company whenever the surplus exceeded $8,000,000, and were all to be redeemed before any dividends could be paid to the company's stockholders.

When the installment which will be authorized to be paid on Oct. 29 is out of the way there will remain only $5,000,000 to be paid out of the $35,000,000, approximately, owing depositors when the company closed its doors.

That elusive "something" which makes all the difference in clothes for men, often makes no difference at all, in the price.

It is a far cry from the barn-storming actor to the Broadway star. Give to each of them the identical "lines"—and mark the difference in their rendering.

Assuming that two makers of men's apparel should use the identical fabrics in producing a suit—the outcome may be, and most likely will be, totally different.

Quoted prices convey little meaning—unless taken in immediate conjunction with the "values" represented. If you pay $15, or $25, or $40 for your Fall Suit or Topcoat, you may pay these prices and get only "cloth"—or you may pay the same prices here—and get unequalled distinction.

FULTON STAND ROW WORRIES PATRIOTS

Members of the Order Declare They Didn't Know What Was Going On.

VOTE TO COME TO TERMS

Willing Now to Let Seats Go at $1 a Day If Commissioner Smith Will Let Them Keep Stand.

Members of the New York Society of Founders and Patriots of America expressed considerable chagrin yesterday that the society should have been put in the position of seeming to be trying to make money out of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration by General Secretary Leonard's act in turning over to a speculating contractor the permit granted to the society to build a stand in Central Park West from which the members of the society might watch the parade.

On learning that General Secretary Leonard of the order was allowing Contractor Mark L. Stone to charge the general public $5 a day for seats in the society's stand, Park Commissioner Henry Smith revoked the permit for the stand last Saturday. Some members of the order expressed particular regret yesterday at the General Secretary's statement last Satuday that "what was left over after the building of the stand was paid for would go into the order's treasury."

"It certainly looks objectionable that a patriotic society should be put in the light of trying to get money out of the general public through a patriotic occasion of this kind," said a member of the order yesterday. "The situation is particularly embarrassing because many members of our order are also members of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission."

Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, who is President of the Celebration Commission and who was also Governor General of the Order of Founders and Patriots several years ago, when seen yesterday by a TIMES reporter at the commission's headquarters, in the Tribune Building, expressed surprise over the situation.

"I have been too busy recently to read the papers," said the General, "and I did not know that the permit for our stand had been revoked by the Park Commissioner. I certainly did not know it had been revoked for such a cause. I was, several years ago, Governor General of the Order of Founders and Patriots. My predecessor was Gen. Frederick D. Grant. My successor was the late William Goodrich, a Justice of the Brooklyn Supreme Court. The present Governor General is ex-Gov. Woodruff of Connecticut. The men connected with the order are as good men as we have in New York.

"I hope everything connected with the stand is all right. If any wrong has been done by any one in connection with the stand, the order will be glad to have that man punished. A full investigation will soon be made. But until I have the facts I can say nothing more.

A meeting of the Council of the Order was held later in the day at the offices of Theodore Fitch in the Equitable Life Building. Among those who attended it were George C. Batcheller, Governor of the New York Society; General Secretary Clarence Leonard, whose action in turning over the order's stand permit to Contractor Stone has aroused so much comment; John C. Coleman, the society's counsel, and Mark L. Stone, the contractor to whom the permit was turned over.

After considerable discussion, in which every one hastened to assert that Contractor Stone had been allowed to charge the general public $5 for the seats only because the officers of the order had not understood that this was an exorbitant price, Contractor Stone agreed that he would charge for the seats only whatever Park Commissioner Smith and the officers of the order, after consultation to-day, should direct him to charge.

"I learn that Commissioner Smith has said that the stand will be torn down to-night at 11 o'clock," said Contractor Stone after the meeting. "He needn't do that. If he won't permit us to use it, let it be open to the children of some orphan asylum or city institution. If he will permit us to go ahead and pay for the cost of the stand by selling the seats, we will charge $1 a day for them, or whatever he likes. I set the price at $5 a day because the other stands were charging that. There was nothing said about the price of seats on the permit."

The meeting of the officers of the society at which it was decided to turn over the permit to Contractor Stone and to let him build the stand and sell most of the seats on it to the general public without restriction as to price took place in the office of Col. Henry W. Sackett in the Tribune Building a week or so ago. Col. Sackett said yesterday that he was present at that meeting, and that he "considered that Commissioner Smith had taken just the right attitude."

Commissioner Smith said yesterday that he would decide definitely whether or not to tear down the society's stand after he had learned to-day what policy the order meant to adopt in selling the seats to the general public. Commissioner Smith stated that, with the exception of the Founders and Patriots' stand, he had been able to find no evidences of overcharging or "grafting" in connection with the Park stands.

"I have issued permits for the erection of Park stands only to patriotic societies of many years' standing and to members of city departments," Park Commissioner Smith said. "Representatives of the Health Department, the Street Cleaning Department, the Tax Department, the Park Department, the Dock Department, and the Borough President's office have come to me for permission to erect stands for themselves and other city employes. But in each case I have been careful to make the men promise not to charge more for seats than will cover the expense of building the stands."

An afternoon paper precipitated considerable trouble by accusing Park Commissioner Smith of working in with the speculators. The paper founded its article principally on Commissioner Smith's refusal to furnish the paper's representative with a list of the fifty-one patriotic societies and city departments to which he has issued permits to build stands. The Commissioner refused on the ground that to print the list of stand builders would be to tell speculators just whom to go to to dicker for seats. Commissioner Smith went to City Hall to consult Mayor McClellan later in the day. The Mayor said that the Commissioner's policy was wise.

"There would be $100,000 graft in this park stand business if I wanted to take it," the Commissioner said to a TIMES reporter.

DROPS WASHINGTON LIFE SUIT

Negotiations in ex-Judge Leo S. Dessar's Action End Satisfactorily.

Notice of the discontinuance of the suits instituted against the Washington Life Insurance Company by ex-Judge Leo S. Dessar, on allegations that the contract of reinsurance of the Washington Life's risks in the Pittsburg Life and Trust Company was a violation of his policy contract with the Washington Life, has been filed in the County Clerk's office. It is understood that a settlement was reached satisfactory to Mr. Dessar. Another suit is pending, brought by Herbert S. Wolfe, the consulting actuary, who is a Washington Life policy holder, on somewhat similar allegations.

The Dessar suits had some interesting legal complications while they were pending. They came originally before Justice Mitchell L. Erlanger of the Supreme Court, who granted the receivership for the Washington Life in the action brought by William Hepburn Russell, and which was, by Mr. Russell's consent, held in abeyance when Supt. Hotchkiss of the Insurance Department took charge. It was this receivership which drew out the unusual attack upon Justice Erlanger by ex-Justice Hatch and Henry A. Rubino, counsel for the Pittsburg Life and Trust Company, for which both lawyers apologized in court later. The Russell action was finally thrown out by the Appellate Division, some time after Mr. Hotchkiss had the situation well in his hands.

In the Dessar case the defendant demurred, and Justice Erlanger, on motion of Herbert R. Limburg, counsel for Mr. Dessar, gave judgment for the plaintiff on the pleadings, giving the defendants, however, five days to file an answer. A stay was then sought, which Justice Erlanger declined unless the defendants would agree that, pending the decision of the action, the non-payment of premiums on Mr. Dessar's policy should not be considered as forfeiting the policy, nor should the payment of the premiums be taken as a recognition of the reinsurance contract by him. The lawyers for the Washington Life had advanced this double-barreled contention

The defendants then went to Justice Houghton of the Appellate Division, who granted a stay, but recently Justice Houghton receded from this position and took the position that Justice Erlanger had taken. Negotiations following this decision led eventually to a settlement.

PACKAGE SWINDLE BY MAIL.

Many Italians Victimized and Alleged Swindler Caught and Held.

For some days the Post Office authorities have been receiving complaints from Italians and Croatians in various parts of the country to the effect that they had received letters from the "European-American Transfer Company" of 53 Leroy Street to the effect that parcels had been received from Europe for the recipients of the letters, which would be forwarded if $2.95 was paid to the trading company. Those who paid the $2.95, of which $1.95 was alleged to have been duty and the balance forwarding charges, got about 30 or 40 cents' worth of cheap jewelry, it is alleged.

After some preliminary investigation Post Office Inspector Kinkead went with Deputy Marshal Pickney to the Leroy Street house yesterday and found that the office of the company, if it had any, was on the second floor of a tenement house. There Mr. Kinkead and the Marshal got Dominico Forte, an Italian, who admitted that he had sent out the letters and that the packages were not received from Europe for the account of those to whom the letters were addressed. In his rooms were found lists containing the names of some 10,000 of his countrymen.

United States Commissioner Gilchrist held Dominico in $1,000 bail for examination.

PRINCE KUNI A FINE SHOT.

Makes High Score at Target Practice with Experts of Monticello Club.

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Prince Kuniyoshi Kuni, Japan's representative at the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, had an opportunity here to-day to justify his reputation as one of the best marksmen in the Japanese Army. The Prince spent the morning at target practice with the experts of the Monticello Gun Club. Although using a rifle with which he was unfamiliar, he scored several bull's-eyes

The Prince and Princess Kuni, with their attendants, who arrived yesterday at Merriwold Park, the country residence of Dr. Takamine, an eminent Japanese chemist, will leave to-morrow by special train for West Point, where they are to be the guests of the Government for the day.

The royal party spent this afternoon on a sightseeing trip to Mongaup Falls, and this evening they received the society folk of the neighborhood on the Merriwold lawns, which were decorated for the occasion.

NO AID TO FORMER WIFE.

Cleveland Brewer Refuses to Loan Her Money to Repay Embezzlement.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—Rather than loan his former wife $500, which would have kept her from going to prison, Jacob Fickel, a brewer, saw her sentenced to the penitentiary for two years here to-day. Sentence was suspended, and Mrs. Fickel's son will attempt to raise the money.

Mrs. Fickel embezzled $596.76 from the estate of Bertha Bozenhardt while acting as guardian to the woman last Winter. She was convicted, but Judge Vickery told Mrs. Fickel she could go free if she would repay the money. Judge Vickery called Fickel as a witness and scored the brewer because he would not pay the amount of the embezzlement. An attorney for Fickel attempted to speak in behalf of his client, but the court refused to permit him to talk.

"Any man who is half a man would do as much as is asked of Fickel to save the mother of his children, even though he has no regard for her as his wife," said the Judge.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 20.—William R. Rainey, of the "Paid in Full" company, which played here to-night, learned during his stay here that his wife had died in Washington, and that letters of administration had been granted to Anthony Gallagher of Newport as next of kin, on the ground that Rainey was dead or in parts unknown.

Rainey called at the Probate office to learn something of the case, and was told that Catherine Rainey, his wife, died last Winter. The will was not probated. Rainey said he saw his wife last year and she had agreed to go to Europe with him, but did not do so. Rainey left here fourteen years ago. He was married here.

The estate is personal property, and includes damages recovered here by Mrs. Rainey in a lawsuit.

TELL CITY'S HISTORY IN HUDSON PAGEANT

RUSHING WORK AT NIGHT

Workmen Busy Putting Fifth Avenue in Shape—Edwards Plans a Spotless Town.

Announcement was made yesterday by the Hudson-Fulton Commission of the organizations and floats which will compose the historical pageant on next Tuesday afternoon, indicating that this will be one of the most spectacular of all the features of the fortnight's celebration.

The parade will consist of four divisions, the whole headed by Mayor McClellan and Herman Ridder, Vice President of the commission. Leading the first division will be a company representative of various societies, led by Thomas Kelly, Grand Marshal of all the Irish societies. Four hundred Friendly Sons of St. Patrick will come next, followed by 2,600 men from the Ancient Order of Hibernians, 1,500 from Italian organizations, 1,500 Bohemians, 250 Poles, and 250 Hungarians. With their National colors, these bodies will carry the American flag, massed in front of each.

The Second Division will represent the Dutch Period and will be led by 1,000 members of the Italian societies and 1,000 Hibernians from Kings, Queens, and Richmond Counties. The Title Car will be followed by the Half Moon, "The Fate of Henry Hudson," and the First Vessel Built on Manhattan Island, each manned and escorted by the United Dutch Societies of New York. Then will come the "Purchase of Manhattan" and Bronck's Treaty, the latter manned and escorted by Danes, Bronck himself having been a Dane.

Floats representing the Reception of Stuyvesant and Bowling on Bowling Green will follow. One representing the Huguenots will be manned and escorted by the Huguenot societies. "A Dutch Doorway" will follow. "When New Amsterdam Becomes New York" will be in charge of 250 students of New York University. One of the most attractive of the floats, "St. Nicholas," will be attended by 250 children gathered by the City History Club.

Swedish and Irish societies, including 1,500 members of the Clan-na-Gael, will precede the floats of the Colonial Period, and the Swedes, under the Presidency of Charles K. Tohansen, will escort the title car. The first float, "Schuyler and Indians at the Court of St. James's," will be escorted by members of the Society of Colonial Wars, with a mounted bodyguard. Scotch societies, in kilts, and marching to the music of the bag pipes, will escort the "Trial of Peter Zenger." The "Stamp Act" will be escorted by the Junior Order of American Mechanics; "A Colonial Home," by the Patriotic Sons of America. The "Gov. Dongan" float will be in charge of 250 members of the Irish League. Major E. T. McCrystal will impersonate the noted Governor.

The part of Washington in "Washington Taking the Oath of Office" will be taken by Richard Sheldon, once a tackle in Yale and 6 feet 4½ inches tall. Members of the City Cavalry will escort the float. Washington's coach will be escorted by the Sons of the Revolution; "Nathan Hale" by 150 students of the City College, and "Washington's Farewell," a scene in Fraunce's Tavern, by sons of the Revolution. Children from the City History Club will tramp along with the "Legend of Sleepy Hollow," and the "Legend of Rip Van Winkle."

The Fourth Division, representing the United States Period, will be led by 500 members of the Patriotic Order of Sons of America. After the Title Car and preceded by 250 men from the Irish-American Athletic Club, will come the Clermont with a similar escort. Martin Sheridan, the athlete, will take the character of Fulton on this float. Preceding "Fulton's Ferry" will be veterans of the Seventy-ninth Scottish Highlanders.

"The Reception of Lafayette" will be escorted by 200 men from French societies. The Erie Canal boats will be guarded by the Counties Athletic Union. "The Old Fire Engine," an exact reproduction of the machine with which they used to run, will be escorted by the Veteran and Exempt Firemen. "The Old Broadway Sleigh" will come next.

The closing features of the pageant will be the floats of "Croton Water," with Syrian societies in costume, and finally the "Statue of Liberty," with the French societies.

Preparations for the celebration were rushed in every part of the city yesterday and even last night. A large force of men worked all night in Fifth Avenue replacing the torn-up pavement. The City Hall was one of the public buildings decorated yesterday.

Commissioner William H. Edwards of the Street Cleaning Department expressed the desire yesterday to make the city as nearly a "spotless town" for the celebration as possible. To that end he issued an appeal to the public to aid him by not throwing rubbish and paper on the streets. He will have a large number of extra receptacles put on the streets for the disposition of rubbish.

The street cleaners were expressing keen appreciation yesterday for the effort made by Mr. Edwards that they and their families might see the parades. While some must work, others will be off, and the Commissioner has permitted those off duty to erect a stand at Ninety-third Street and Central Park West for the use of the men and their families.

Police Commissioner Baker held a conference yesterday with his Inspectors regarding the police arrangements for the celebration. The first of a series of general round-ups of the shiftless element which will take place before the celebration brought sixty beggars to the Jefferson Market Court yesterday. Three men and six women were discharged, but all the rest were sent to the workhouse for six months.

PAINTINGS OF HUDSON'S TIME.

Private View to Metropolitan Museum Members—Fulton Relics, Too.

The opening reception of the Hudson-Fulton exhibition was given at the Metropolitan Art Museum last evening, when a private view of pictures and furniture of the times of the discoverer and inventor was given to the Trustees and members of the Museum. Receiving the guests were Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, President of the Hudson-Fulton Commission, and the members of the Committee on Art Exhibits: President J. Pierpont Morgan of the Museum, Robert W. de Forest, Sir C. Purdon Clarke, Director of the Museum; George A. Hearne, George F. Kunz, and Edward Robinson. Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Herbert Satterlee, daughters of Mr. Morgan, were present, and Joseph H. Choate was one of the guests. A dinner of thirty covers at the University Club of those interested in the exhibition preceded the reception.

The exhibition, which has been in preparation since the beginning of the year, is one of the finest ever shown by the museum. It is divided into two sections, Dutch and American. Well-known collectors have lent 145 paintings for the former, and in it there are no less than thirty-four Rembrandts, twenty Frans Halses, five of Johannes Vanmeer, four of Salomon van Ruysdael, eleven of Jacob van Ruisdael and Aelbert Cuyp each. Hobbema Jan Stean Wouwerman and Van der Helst are other names of artists represented. There is also Dutch furniture.

In the American section are fifty-three paintings and miniatures of artists born before 1800, and there are 200 pieces of furniture showing the development of the work of the cabinetmaker down to 1815. There are many interesting pieces made by Duncan Phyfe, the New York cabinetmaker; silver plate made by Colonial silversmiths, and specimens of early American work in pottery and glass. The exhibition will remain open until the end of November. There was music throughout the evening by an orchestra under the direction of David Mannes.

One little lady present, who enjoyed the music more than the pictures and who tried to dance to it, was one of the latest Fellows of the Museum—little Miss Virginia Marie Burbige, who at the exhibition of German pictures last January was discovered by President J. Pierpont Morgan as the most interesting feature of the reception and made a $1,000 Fellow for life. Virginia was then six months old and she received the honors thrust upon her and her framed membership certificate with little interest. The reception of last evening was the first since she became a member.

"Virginia received her invitation," said Mrs. Burbige. "It was her first, and so I brought her."

Virginia was not the only baby at last night's reception. Baby Matilda was there, too, a pretty little girl of 15 months, and thereby hangs a tragedy of infant life never before told. Matilda, it was learned, was also at the exhibition of German pictures in January, the one at which Virginia received her great honor, and not only that but Matilda was at the reception earlier in the evening than Virginia, and was really the pioneer baby of the Metropolitan Museum receptions.

"But I thought," little Matilda's mother said in telling the story last evening, "that Mr. Morgan wouldn't like a baby around at the reception, and so I kept in a corner."

Little Matilda's father is Henry Immicke, who, like the father of Virginia, is one of the attendants at the Museum. But if Matilda felt grieved that little Virginia gained the honor she herself might have had it was not apparent in her smiling face last night.

OMAHA STRIKE HALTS WHEN TAFT IS THERE

At President's Request No Attempt Is Made to Run Cars During His Visit.

WANTS A RAILWAY COURT

Executive Would Give Commerce Commission More Power and Restrict Operation of Anti-Trust Law.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 20.—A truce was declared in the strike of street car employes here during the time of President Taft's visit to Omaha to-day. By special request of the President, through Fred W. Carpenter, his private secretary, no effort was made to run street cars.

A telegram from Mr. Carpenter was received this morning by Mayor Dahlman, asking if a suspension of the strike controversy could be arranged during the President's visit. The Mayor consulted President Wattles of the street car company, who readily agreed to the proposal, and announcement was at once made that all car service would be stopped for the day at 4 P. M.

Following is a copy of Secretary Carpenter's message:

> White House, Washington, Sept. 20, 1909.
> The Mayor, Omaha, Neb.: Please wire me at once condition of strike in your city. Cannot arrangements be made to have strike called off for period of President's visit?

The Mayor's reply follows:

> Everything quiet here. All cars will be stopped from running before President arrives and during his stay in the city.

Greeted by Crowds.

The President reached Omaha at 4:30 P. M. Earlier in the day he spoke at Des Moines, Iowa, on the inter-State commerce and anti-trust law.

The strike did not prevent the gathering of a great crowd in the downtown districts when Mr. Taft arrived, and there were times when the President's automobile had difficulty in making its way through the cheering throngs.

The President, arriving at 4:30 P. M., was taken for an hour's ride through the city. He passed nearly every school building in Omaha, and received a greeting from the children, who stood in front, waving flags and cheering.

To-night the President was a guest of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben at a dinner at the Omaha Club. Afterward he was taken to the "Den" of this organization, where he witnessed one of the famous initiation festivals. Afterward he made a brief address, in which he expressed his gratification for the greeting he had received and his enjoyment of the entertainment arranged in his honor.

In his speech at Des Moines the President, having disposed of his views on the tariff at Winona, Minn., detailed at length the recommendations for amendments to the inter-State commerce and anti-trust laws that he will make to Congress in his message of December next.

In addition to making his speech in his stay of four hours in Des Moines, the President took breakfast with Senator Cummins and reviewed a parade of 5,000 Federal troops engaged in a military tournament here. The President's speech on the inter-State commerce and anti-trust laws was delivered at an open-air meeting which was attended by a large crowd.

The President's Speech.

The President, in reviewing the work for Congress at its next session, in accordance with the promises of the Republican Party platform, first spoke of labor legislation. He dwelt upon the necessity of passing at the earliest possible moment legislation to carry out platform pledges as to injunctions. He said also that he would recommend that Congress require the railroads to adopt additional safety devices to guard the lives of their employes.

The President then turned to the subject of the Inter-State Commerce Commission and its powers. The operation of the Railway Rate bill, he said, was defective because of the delay entailed by the litigation over orders of the commission.

"The court appeal cannot be abolished, because it is a constitutional right," he continued. "Something must be done to reduce its effect by way of delay, so that the decision of the court shall be prompt, final, and effective.

"It is proposed now by a number of gentlemen of my Cabinet who have conferred with some members of the Inter-State Commerce Commission to facilitate these appeals from the commission by the creation of a separate inter-State commerce court of five members, which shall sit in Washington and which shall be the only court to which petitions to set aside or nullify the orders of the Inter-State Commerce Commission can be made, and it is proposed to allow a single Judge to make an order staying proceedings of the Inter-State Commerce Commission but sixty days, and thereafter that no injunction shall be allowed against the order of the commission unless granted by the whole court of five members."

Replies to Objection.

The President answered the objection to the appointment of additional Judges by saying that if the establishment of such a court should prove to be a mistake the natural expansion of the Federal judiciary system would furnish an opportunity to use the members of the court for other work. However, he predicted that the establishment of such a court would give to the shipper and railroad litigants quick decisions as to their rights.

"A second change in the inter-State commerce law," Mr. Taft continued, "ought to give to the commission the power to hear and entertain complaints against unjust classification of merchandise for transportation. It is perfectly clear that by including articles in the same class which ought to pay different rates a railroad can commit exactly the same kind of injustice as it would by imposing an exorbitant rate as to any one class. Hence, I haven't the slightest hesitation in recommending to Congress that the power of the commission should be extended to include not only the fixing of rates after complaint, but also the readjustment of classification if it proves on complaint to be unjust.

Institution of Complaints.

"I am aware that Congress at the time of the passage of the Rate bill thought it wise to limit the power of the commission to the consideration of rates actually complained of by persons interested. It would now seem from the experience of the commission that it is the extension of its power so as to institute complaints of its own that is necessary to make its work truly effective. I do not think that until we try this new amendment and see how it works we ought to put down the bars entirely and give to the Inter-State Commerce Commission the absolute power to fix rates in advance and on its own initiative, and without complaint filed and investigation made, as is done in some of the States. I think it a great deal better to proceed cautiously in this matter and feel our way to a satisfactory act which shall accomplish the purpose without too drastic or radical action."

Mr. Taft also proposed that when a new rate of classification is filed the commission be authorized to postpone the date that it is to take effect, provided that within thirty days of the time it is to be put into operation complaint is made that it is unreasonable. This, he said, would give to the public the same right to have changes which affect it injuriously investigated before they go into effect, as it does the railroad, by appeal to the courts, to have the order of the commission subjected to investigation and hearing.

Power to Suspend Rules.

"A third amendment to the act," Mr. Taft went on, "should provide that the commission may, by order, suspend, modify, or annul any changes in the rules or regulations which impose undue burdens on shippers. No doubt ought to be left with respect to the power of the commission on such a subject, because the rules and regulations of a railway are the means by which injustice may be done to the shipper. It would seem well to empower the commission to compel connecting carriers to unite in forming a through route and to fix the rate and apportionment thereof among the carriers.

"Another most important amendment of the inter-State commerce law—part of which was specifically promised in the platform—is a prohibition against any inter-State railroad company acquiring stock in any competing railroad in the future, and a further provision that no railroad engaged in inter-State commerce shall after a certain date hold stock in a competing railroad, and the further amendment that after the passage of the amending act no railroad company engaged in inter-State commerce shall issue any additional stock or bonds or other obligations except with the approval of the commission, based upon a finding by the commission that the same are issued, first, for purposes authorized by law; and, second, for a price not less than par for stock, and not less than the reasonable market value for bonds, such price being paid either in cash or in property or services, and if in property or services, then at the fair value thereof as determined by the commission."

Agreement on Rates.

Mr. Taft said that the railroads should be permitted to agree upon traffic rates and make contracts with respect to rates that should not be pooling contracts, but should constitute agreements as to rates—provided always that such agreements shall receive the approval of the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

The President then took up the anti-trust law, saying that one way in which it could be made more effective was to narrow its scope so as to exclude its operation against everything except a conspiracy or combination or contract entered into with actual intent to monopolize or suppress competition in inter-State trade.

The theory entertained in the framing of the law, he said, seemed to be that a contract in restraint of inter-State trade tended to a monopoly, and, therefore, should be denounced because of its tendency, whether or not there was any actual purpose on the part of the person making it to monopolize or suppress competition.

"This feature of the present anti-trust law," Mr. Taft said, "has, it seems to me, weakened its force because it has seemed to bring within the condemnation of the law contracts and other arrangements which were actually innocent in their character.

"All combinations to suppress competition, or to maintain a monopoly in whole or in part, of inter-State trade are, and should be, in violation of the anti-trust law, and should be punished as such.

Effect on Boycotts.

"If the statute were limited to combinations, conspiracies, and contracts to restrain trade with intent to monopolize inter-State trade, or with intent to suppress competition therein, it would probably not include within it denunciation of the boycott against goods going into inter-State trade, because such a boycott is a restraint against inter-State trade with the intention to restrain it, but it is not a restraint of inter-State trade with intent either to suppress competition or to maintain a monopoly of the goods with respect to which the contract is made.

"I am entirely opposed to excepting from the operation of any law of general application a class of persons like laborers or workingmen or farmers or ministers or teachers or lawyers. Take the present anti-trust law, therefore, and insert a special exception to the application of that law by providing that it should not apply to the trade union class, and it would be legislation of the most vicious character; but when you make the law apply only to conspiracies seeking to suppress competition or to monopolize the trade, then the labor boycott is probably not included, simply because the statute would not seem wide enough to include it in its scope, and this result is obtained without class legislation at all.

"I am in favor of this change because I believe that the ordinary action in equity by injunction in any place where the boycott is operative can effectively accomplish all the purposes that ought to be accomplished in the suppression of such an evil.

"On the other hand, to apply the anti-trust law for the purpose of suppressing evils growing out of the labor organizations is to take advantage against such unlawful labor organizations of the literal terms of a statute which probably was not intended to include that which judicial construction could not avoid including within its words."

At Denver to-morrow night Mr. Taft probably will discuss the conservation of natural resources.

Shortly before midnight the President boarded his car and resumed the journey westward.

GLAVIS TO ANSWER TAFT.

Will Publish Evidence in Alaska Cases —Not Fighting, Says Pinchot.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 20.—L. R. Glavis, who was dismissed as Chief of the Seattle Field Division of the United States Land Office because of charges made against chief officers of the Interior Department, has written a letter to President Taft, as follows:

> The President.
> Sir: I have laid before you all the essential facts in my possession regarding the official conduct of certain cases by the Department of the Interior concerning coal lands in Alaska. As Chief of Field Division, directly concerned and because of the tremendous values involved, I felt my personal responsibility most keenly.
>
> The evidence indicated that a great syndicate is trying to secure a monopoly of this coal, in direct violation of the law. Ultimately I felt myself obliged to appeal to you over the heads of my superior officers in order to bring about the enforcement of the law, which in a measure would conserve these coal lands to the people at large. I deemed it my duty to submit the facts to you, and I cannot regret my action.
> Since there may be now even greater danger that the title of these coal lands will be fraudulently secured by the syndicate, it is no less my duty to my country to make public the facts in my possession concerning which I firmly believe that you have been misled. This I shall do in the near future with a full sense of the seriousness of my action and with deep and abiding respect for your great office. Respectfully,

AVALON, Catalina Island, Cal., Sept. 20.—After a two weeks' sojourn at San Clemente, a barren island forty miles off the coast of Southern California, Gifford Pinchot, Chief of the Bureau of Forestry, arrived here to-day. Concerning the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy, Mr. Pinchot said:

"It is a mystery to me why it has been called the Ballinger-Pinchot fight. I have no fight. Although I am not yet in a position to say definitely, I have every reason to believe that matters will be adjusted satisfactorily as soon as I can return to Washington next week. At present I am awaiting a letter from President Taft which I expect to receive here about Tuesday."

He denied having taken any part against Mr. Ballinger in the Glavis incident. It is understood Mr. Pinchot has no intention of resigning. He will return to Washington about Sept. 30.

During his stay at San Clemente with Senator Flint, ex-Gov. Pardee, and Prof. C. F. Holder, Mr. Pinchot had some great fishing. He captured two swordfish weighing 180 and 186 pounds on light fishing tackle. One of them was hooked late in the evening while Mr. Pinchot and Mr. Pardee were in a rowboat. They were towed ten miles to sea, and were rescued at midnight by Prof. Holder in a gasoline launch.

FIRE BURNS AS TAFT SLEEPS.

Small Blaze on President's Private Car Does Little Damage.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Sept. 20.—A small blaze in the kitchen of the Mayflower, President Taft's private car, shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, caused some commotion among those in the car. The attendants quickly extinguished the flames, however, and there was no damage beyond the scorching of the woodwork.

The cause of the blaze is a mystery. The President did not awaken.

AUBURN, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Miss Henrietta C. Wise, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Wise, and a prominent young society woman of this city, was found dead in bed to-day. Death was due to the inhalation of illuminating gas. The tubing connecting with a gas heater was found disconnected from a wall fixture.

EUROPE SEEKS OPENINGS.

Capital, if Safeguarded, Will Be Sent to America, Says Lane.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—"Hundreds of millions of dollars in England, France, and Germany is awaiting investment in American railroad securities as soon as the investors can be assured of absolute Federal regulation."

This statement was made to-day by Franklin K. Lane of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, who has just returned from a trip in Europe. He visited England, France, Germany, Switzerland, and Italy.

"Men of money abroad," continued Mr. Lane, "are satisfied that America is on the eve of a phenomenal era of prosperity and are ready and anxious to invest their money in any stable enterprise in this country; but what they want is some assurance from the Government that their investments will be protected in a fair way. They would like to see the capitalization of our railroads hedged about by Federal legislation so that a purchaser of stock would be assured of getting what he paid for. With the enactment of a law to prevent overcapitalization American railroads would have no difficulty in obtaining in Europe all the money necessary for their development."

BLOW UP TWO HOTELS.

Enemies of Proprietors Thought to Have Exploded Dynamite.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 20.—An explosion of nitroglycerine or dynamite early to-day at West Brownsville, Penn., injured two persons and partly destroyed the Hotel Aubley and Atwood Hotel. The structures adjoin, and the police suspect that enemies of the proprietors made an attempt to ruin their places.

Several hundred guests were thrown into the greatest excitement when the explosion occurred, and two received injuries in the rush for the outside. The damage is estimated at $5,000.

Opening of Paris and American Dresses and Wraps
Begins To-morrow Morning
With An Exhibit Entitled
"American Belles Through a Century of Fashions."

These socially historic characters will be portrayed by twelve of the famously beautiful young women now playing in Havana at the Casino—one of the best liked and most successful productions New York has ever had. They will represent ten belles whose tastes influenced the fashions of the decade in which each lived, and two American girls in the costumes of this present season, the first showing the influence of the period of Louis XVI. on present fashions, and the second showing the way in which Callot Soeurs and Paquin have reverted to the styles of 1843 in order to revive the hoop-skirt!

On all matinee days the exhibition will begin at ten in the morning and continue till twelve.

On all other days it will begin at ten and continue till four—in the O'Neill Building.

Along with this exhibition will be shown one of the richest collections of beautiful Tailor-Made Suits Sixth Avenue has ever witnessed—individual, stunning, exquisitely tailored with that classic simplicity that has made the distinction between the well and the poorly dressed woman so marked of late—for $15.75 to $75.

THE PERFECT RAZOR

DURHAM DUPLEX
The Correct Diagonal Stroke

THE best thing about the old-style razor is its sliding diagonal stroke, but it has to be stropped and honed, and it often cuts you.

The best thing about the "safety" razor is its interchangeable blades and the freedom from cuts and scratches, but it scrapes and pulls the hair off.

The faults of both have been eliminated and their good points retained in the

DURHAM-DUPLEX RAZOR

It gives the sliding diagonal stroke—you can't cut yourself with it—and the blades are interchangeable. It is called "Duplex" because you can use it either as a "safety" or an old-style open-blade razor.

It is the perfect razor.

ARE YOU Going Deaf?

I have made a discovery in the treatment of head noises and deafness that does away with the necessity of passing instruments through the nostrils into the ear tubes. Experience has shown me that the passage of the instruments into the ear tubes is painful, and that the improvement to the hearing resulting from such measures lasts but a short time. The soreness caused by the passage of such instruments usually further increases the closure of these tubes.

Feeling how important my discovery was, I felt it my duty to make public what I had learned. I know that thousands whose hearing could be improved have neglected their ears rather than undergo the pain that is caused by the passage of instruments into their ear tubes, and on account of the soreness that remains after these operations.

Among the first upon whom I tested my method for head noises and deafness in New York was Mr. John M. Turner, a gentleman fifty-nine years of age. Mr. Turner lives at 246 Main Street, Lakewood, N. J., where he has resided since 1868. The story he told me when I first saw him was that he had not heard well with his left ear since 1870. He said that he got along pretty well until his right ear began to fail. Since last April he could not understand what people said to him unless they spoke in a very loud tone of voice and right at him. He could not hear what the clergyman said in church or what the speaker said in the Christian Endeavor Meeting. He could not hear in church even when he was in the front seat. He had noises in his ears, which were different in the two ears. In the right ear there was a continual buzzing sound, while in the left there would be sounds like the singing of the tea kettle. Then these sounds would change and become like the chirping of crickets. He told me that when he was sitting at the table he could not understand what people said to him around the table, unless the speaker spoke in a very loud tone and talked right at him. Mr. Turner came up from Lakewood purposely to be treated. He was a good patient. I put him under the new method I have devised, and he reports that his hearing is perfect again, his head noises are all gone, and that he can hear better than he could since he was thirty years of age. He reports he goes to church and can hear every word the preacher says.

The case of Mr. Turner is cited to show how under my method cases of deafness and head noises in persons well advanced in years can often be greatly benefited. I mention this case only to show what can be done by my method in many cases of head noises and deafness in persons well advanced in years.

This is who I am and what I have done:—I graduated in medicine in New York in 1879. I was the prize winner of my class. I won in competitive examination the position of physician to Bellevue Hospital, where I served in 1879 and 1880.

I have made a specialty of diseases of the throat and ear for thirty years. I decided the best way I could tell the people who I was and what I had done was to advertise in the daily papers.

If you think my training and experience should make me a good ear doctor, I should be pleased to have you visit my offices. It will cost you nothing for an examination and advice. If your ears have been so neglected that treatment will not restore your hearing I have the best instrument ever invented to make deaf people hear. It is called the Baker Microphone. I will be pleased to give you an opportunity to test this little device free.

WATCH PRICES UP; TARIFF AIDS TRUST

Big Manufacturers All Over the Country Advance Rates by About 7 Per Cent.

IMPORT TRADE TO SUFFER

Increase in Amount of Duty Means More Business for Large Concerns but Hurts the Small Dealers.

Special to The New York Times.

WALTHAM, Mass., Sept. 20.—The price of watches all over the country has been increased about 7 per cent. The Waltham Watch Company to-day fell in line with the other manufacturers, and put into effect the higher rates.

Two days ago it was announced at Chicago that two of the largest Western watchmaking concerns had advanced rates. To-day the Eastern companies followed suit, the Waltham company acting in conjunction with other concerns of the East.

The advance affects both watches and watch cases. The high price of materials is the reason which the manufacturers put forward.

Tariff Law Helps Trust.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The action of the Waltham Watch Company in raising prices to-day shows that the Watch Trust is taking very prompt advantage of the favorable effect upon its industry of the new tariff law, which has been in operation only six weeks.

There are several ways in which the new tariff benefits the Watch Trust. First, by a direct increase of rates of duty on the cheaper grades of watch movements. Next, by a direct increase of the duty upon watch dials; and then, indirectly, by provisions regarding the marking of movements, cases, and dials with the name of the manufacturer and the country of manufacture, the effect of which will be to restrict the trade which many small jewelers have had. These jewelers have been in the habit of selling their own brands of watches, advertising them as of their own make when, as a matter of fact, the movements have been made abroad, usually in Switzerland, and the cases are also imported.

Small Dealers Affected.

A complete stop will be put to that business by the provision in the new law requiring the name of the manufacturer and the country of manufacture to be "cut, engraved, or die sunk conspicuously and indelibly on the plate of the movement and the case respectively." This of course, will necessarily increase the business of the American manufacturers of both movements and cases, for only by dealing with domestic manufacturers can the small jewelers continue selling watches of "our own make."

The direct increases of duty are all on the lower grades of movements. The tariff laws for a number of years have classified watch movements according to the number of jewels used in them. There are five classes, and what has been done by the new tariff law can probably be shown best by the following table, which gives the amount of duty on one watch in each of the various classifications:

No. of Jewels.	Dingley Rate.	Payne Rate.
Not over seven....	35c. and 25%	70c.
Eight to eleven....	50c. and 25%	$1.35
Twelve to fifteen..	75c. and 25%	1.85
Sixteen & seventeen.	$1.25 and 25%	1.25 & 25%
Over seventeen.....	3.00 and 25%	3.00 & 25%

It will be seen on the better grades, those having the greater number of jewels, the rates of the Dingley law are retained unchanged. It is only on the cheaper grades of movements that the rates are increased.

Many Cheap Watches Imported.

The largest importations of watch movements in 1907, the year taken by the Senate Finance Committee for purposes of illustration during the debate on the new tariff law, was of those having not more than seven jewels. In that year there were imported of these movements 857,184, having a gross value of $731,331, an average of 85 1-3 cents each. Under the Dingley law the duty on each of these movements was a small fraction under 57 cents. Under the new law it is 70 cents on each such movement, an increase of 13 cents. The equivalent ad valorem of the Dingley rate was 66.02 per cent., as figured by the experts of the Senate Finance Committee. Under the new law it is a little over 78 per cent.

On the next grade of movements, those having more than seven but not more than eleven jewels, the importation in 1907 was 20,031, with a gross value of $58,782, which is an average of $2.93. On these movements the increase of duty is about 4 per cent. The Dingley rate of 50 cents and 25 per cent. would make the duty $1.23 each. Under the new law it is $1.35 each.

Increase on Another Grade.

Of watch movements having more than eleven but not more than fifteen jewels, 58,522 were imported in 1907, having an aggregate value of $192,393, which is an average of $3.29. The Dingley rate of 75 cents and 25 per cent. made the duty on these movements $1.57 each. Under the new law it is $1.85 each. This is an increase of about 9 per cent. equivalent ad valorem.

On the next grade of movements there is no change in rates of duties. Of such movements, those having more than fifteen but not more than seventeen jewels, there were imported in 1907 18,600, having an aggregate value of $122,947, or an average of $6.61. These are the movements that, when put up in gold cases, sell all the way up to $40 or more, depending on the value of the case. They are in the better grade of silver cases and the cheaper grade of gold ones. Only 6,113 movements of the highest grade, those having more than seventeen jewels, were imported in 1907. Their aggregate value was $184,383, however, an average of over $30 each.

Big Makers Benefited.

This shows what the direct increase in duties does for the watch manufacturers of the United States. It probably will be not as great a benefit to them in the aggregate, as the provisions regarding the stamping of cases and movements with the names of makers and the country of manufacture. There is hardly a small jeweler in the country who has not been selling as his own make watches which he has imported. If he is to continue selling his own watches he must have them made in the United States, or they will bear upon movement and case the plain and undeniable contradiction of his claim that they are of his own manufacture.

There is also another provision of the new law which will benefit American manufacturers. That is a flat increase of 3 cents each in the duty on dials, with the requirement that each imported dial shall have plainly and indelibly printed or painted upon it the name of the country of its origin. That will virtually prohibit the importation of dials.

In all the tariff debates no real attempt was made to defend the increase in the duty on watches, in spite of the charge that it was done simply because the Republicans had the votes to do it, and that it was directly for the benefit of the Watch Trust.

EBERLIN WOMAN MUST GO.

Her Deportation Ordered Because She Had Brain Disease When She Arrived.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Civia Eberlin, the Jewish alien whose deportation is opposed in appeals of Jewish authorities in New York City, was ordered sent back to Russia, according to official reports to the Department of Commerce and Labor, because she is suffering from a progressive and incurable disease of the brain and has become a public charge.

She came to this country on the steamer Petersburg almost three years ago, and the insanity, for which she is being treated at the Central Islip State Hospital, is attributed to causes prior to her arrival in the United States. Most of the cost of her maintenance is borne by the State, although the hospital has been paying $3.50 a week.

Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Labor McHarg takes the position that the burden of her care should be assumed by the country of which she is a native, and not by this Government.

SEEING GOOD ROADS.

B. F. Yoakum's Party from Southwest Inspects Them Near Washington.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The Yoakum good roads party, composed of representative citizens of the Southwest, who are touring the country to inspect good roads, as the guest of B. F. Yoakum, Chairman of the Executive Board of the Rock Island & 'Frisco Railway system, made Washington its headquarters to-day.

The party arrived in the special car Signet. The members of the party went first to the Department of Agriculture. Secretary Wilson received them and chatted for some time with them in regard to good roads and soils. Later they took an automobile trip to Arlington National Cemetery and Fort Myer.

After being entertained here at luncheon the party rode in automobiles through Rock Creek Park to Silver Springs, Md., where Chief of Highways Crosby of Maryland showed some roadway improvements in his State.

ATTACKS LABOR BUREAUS.

Government Hopes for Action Against Men Who Furnished Strikebreakers.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 20.—Again urging them to take action against the employment agencies that furnished men to the Pressed Steel Car Company at Schoenville during the recent strike there, John H. Jordan, United States District Attorney, to-night sent to Govs. Stuart of Pennsylvania and Hughes of New York a copy of the testimony taken in the Federal investigation into conditions at the plant during the strike. Mr. Jordan also sent to the Governors a letter recommending that charges against employment agencies of New York and Philadelphia be pressed at once. The Governors are told that the Federal Government hopes that the matter will not be overlooked.

It is alleged the imported workmen were brought here without being told exactly where they were going or without being supplied with copies of the contracts they were required to sign.

SUIT FOR $61,287,800.

Railroad Declares That the Government Gave Away Its Lands.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—A suit against the United States for $61,287,800 probably will be tried by the United States Court of Claims during the coming Winter.

This suit was instituted some time ago by the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad Company. It is alleged that Congress, by law, agreed to convey to the company title to every alternate section of land to the extent of ten sections per mile on each side of its line through the Indian Territory and Kansas, and that subsequently many of these lands had been deeded to the Indians in severalty and had otherwise been disposed of to the great loss of the railroad company.

The railroad has engaged eminent counsel to prosecute its case before the Court of Claims, and it is understood that Attorney General Wickersham will appear for the Government.

GERMAN AIRSHIP LINE.

Company Plans Service of Dirigibles for Passengers by May, 1910.

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—If present expectations are fulfilled, Germany will have dirigible balloons and aeroplanes carrying passengers between Berlin and the principal cities of the empire by May, 1910. The Air Navigation Company, which is to perform this service, is being actively supported, and no less than twenty financial institutions and men of wealth have subscribed to the company's stock. Among the shareholders are several well-known banks, Prince von Fürstenberg, Count Tiele-Winkler, Prince von Donnersmarck, Isador Loewe, and the General Electric Company.

Herr Loewe is one of the active organizers of the concern. It is not expected to make money from the start, but the hope is entertained that it will be possible to cover expenses from the tourist and other travel. The company has arranged to buy Zeppelin, Parseval, and Gross dirigible balloons, as well as some of the Wright aeroplanes if these machines can be adapted to long cross-country trips.

Several of the men interested in this new company are shareholders in the company that acquired the Wright patents for Germany.

Wires in Pina del Rio Still Down—Many Hundreds Destitute.

HAVANA, Sept. 20.—Telegraph wires and bridges between here and Pinar del Rio are still down, and it has consequently been impossible to learn accurately the extent of the damage wrought by the storm last week in that section. It has been learned, however, that many hundreds of peasants are destitute by reason of the destruction of their huts and crops.

The Treasury is without available relief funds, and President Gomez last night called a special session of Congress to meet Sept. 24 for the purpose of making a relief appropriation. The total loss in Pinar del Rio is to-day estimated at $1,000,000.

NORTHCLIFFE FEARS GERMANY

Says Her Warlike Preparations Do Not Warrant Optimism.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 20.—Lord Northcliffe passed through Portland Sunday. In an interview regarding the peace of Europe he said:

"We have the facts that Germany has refused to discuss her vast armaments; that the whole of her shipbuilding yards are engaged in naval construction; that scores of her leading writers make no secret of her intentions; that she has on previous occasions made unprovoked and sudden attacks on other nations, and that the vessels she is building are designed for commerce destroying purposes and for fighting with an enemy that is near at hand.

"We know also that the Kaiser has said in a public declaration that the future of Germany is on the water. In the face of these significant facts I fear that any foolish optimism is greatly to be deprecated."

SAW STEAMER BLOW UP.

British Sea Captain's Report May Account for Long Missing Waratah.

MANILA, Sept. 20.—The British steamer Harlow, Capt. Bruce, from Newport News June 14 for Port Natal and Manila, reports that on July 27, while 180 miles from Durban, she passed a steamer afire. The vessel in question, whose name it was impossible to make out, was shortly afterward destroyed by an explosion.

It is supposed that this steamer was the missing British steamer Waratah, which, with 300 persons on board, has not been heard from since July 26.

ROCKHILL MUST WAIT.

Cannot Take Charge of Russian Embassy Till Czar Returns.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 20.—W. W. Rockhill, the newly appointed American Ambassador to Russia, conferred with Foreign Minister Isvolsky to-day regarding his taking official charge of the embassy before the return of the Czar, which may possibly be deferred until December.

It was found impracticable to arrange the matter, and Montgomery Schuyler, Jr., Secretary of the Embassy, will remain formally in charge.

Briarcliff Milk is Guaranteed Milk

Briarcliff Farms at Pine Plains holds the only permit so far issued by the New York City Board of Health for the production of Guaranteed Milk.

Guaranteed Milk means the best milk which can be produced with the present scientific knowledge of the subject.

Briarcliff Milk is also Certified, which means the approval of the New York Milk Commission.

Briarcliff Milk is drawn from healthy Jersey cattle, bred and raised on Briarcliff Farms, a 3600 acre tract of land in the limestone belt of Dutchess County. The Briarcliff herd is under the constant supervision of veterinarians. The milk is bottled at the Farms and sent to New York in ice and delivered to the consumer by Briarcliff Farms' own delivery system. It is always sweet and wholesome; stands the test of ocean voyages; is helping to build the Panama canal; and has saved the lives of thousands of babies. It is a daily table luxury for the whole family.

The supply of Briarcliff Milk is limited, and those wishing service are requested to communicate with the Briarcliff Farms' New York City office at 5½ East 46th Street, Windsor Arcade.

Talks on Teeth

By G. GORDON MARTIN
(Incorporated)

Free Examination of Teeth

We might preach on the text of good teeth until we have exhausted the subject, but our preaching would be all in vain unless you take advantage of the opportunities we offer to give you good teeth.

Like everything else that is worth having a full set of Martinolar teeth are not to be had without some effort. We can't send them to you. Dentistry is one of the arts that cannot be practiced by mail. You must come to the nearest of our offices and allow our examining dentist to go carefully over your teeth.

Each individual case calls for individual handling, but, fortunately, the Martinolar Method of supplying missing teeth without plates can be adapted to any mouth where there are two or more teeth left in either jaw to work from.

We say where there are two or more teeth to work from. If these teeth are allowed to decay to a point where they cannot be saved, then we can do nothing better for the patient than supply our removable work, which resembles the ordinary plate work in a measure, except that it is immeasurably superior to any other that we have seen.

You can appreciate that delays are dangerous, and that you should not put off coming for the free examination a day longer than necessary. Teeth, once they begin to go, go fast.

There is no pain or discomfort attached to the Martinolar work; no boring or cutting into the gums; so you have nothing to fear, and you do not obligate yourself to spend a dollar with us just because you take advantage of this free examination offer.

Listen to the testimony of three of our many patients who are enjoying Martinolar Teeth:

Cedarhurst, L. I.

Dr. Martin:

Dear Sir—I am very much pleased with the work I had done at your office a short time ago. My teeth were in very bad condition, both upper and under. I can now eat everything just as I did with my natural teeth. I like the Martinolar Method much better than the old-fashioned bridge work.

Yours sincerely,

Gentlemen—I am very proud of the restorations, etc., accomplished for me by you and it is right that I should tell you so. The work is so superior to the ordinary run of dentistry. The Martinolar Process, as you have named it, means to me the actual restoration and perfect fitting that applied to the lost teeth at the maturity of their growth. The gums seem to connect with the restored teeth as they do with the natural ones and there is no difference as far as comfort, ability, and appearance are concerned. My kindest regards and appreciation for your skill and courtesy to me.

Very truly yours,
EDWIN M. SKINNER.

Gentlemen—I am more than pleased with the dental work you did for me. It is absolutely perfect. I shall always be glad to recommend your method, which I consider superior to all others. You have my permision to use this.

M'LAUGHLIN TELLS OF WORK FOR GOULD

Sent Peabody After Evidence That Katherine Clemmons Was a Bigamist.

TESTIFIES FOR DETECTIVE

Thought It in Line with Police Duty, He Declares—Decision in Detective's Case Reserved.

Inspector William W. McLaughlin, who was in charge of Detective Headquarters when former Detective William F. Peabody took a trip to Baltimore to inquire about the past life of Mrs. Howard Gould, told for the first time yesterday of his connection with that phase of the Gould case during his cross-examination as a witness in the trial of Peabody before Deputy Police Commissioner Stover. Peabody, who was dismissed from the force by former Commissioner Bingham as an outgrowth of the detective's connection with the Gould case, is trying to get his job back on the ground that he was dismissed without cause.

Former Inspector McLaughlin, who retired from the department just after the charge had been made that the police had been used in the interest of Howard Gould, turned out to be a strong witness for Peabody, but his testimony went further than Peabody's lawyer had anticipated and caused quite a stir in the trial room. Mr. McLaughlin admitted that he had taken an interest in one phase of the Gould case, but said his connection with it had been merely that of a police official.

The charge had been made to him as Chief of the Detective Bureau, he said, that Katherine Clemmons had been married before she became Mrs. Howard Gould, and if that were proved true she would have been guilty of bigamy. McLaughlin said that Detective Peabody had gone to Baltimore during Peabody's vacation time in search of the murderer Kid Regan.

Before McLaughlin took the stand Peabody had told of this trip and said that he had been asked by the Inspector to search the records in Baltimore relating to the marriage of one George Dawson. He said that he had done so, and found that, instead of Dawson having married Katherine Clemmons, he had married another woman many years ago. McLaughlin was an interested listener to this testimony and followed Peabody on the stand.

"Lieut. Peabody is one of the greatest detectives I ever met," he testified. "He has a greater knowledge of thieves and more avenues of getting information than any man I know."

Then McLaughlin told of Peabody's southern trip, after which Sergt. Murphy, legal representative of the department, took the witness in hand and asked him if he remembered a visit to the office of De Lancey Nicoll, counsel for Howard Gould, about a week prior to Peabody's Baltimore trip. McLaughlin admitted such a visit.

"It was a police matter with me, not a personal matter," he said. "There was a man known as Big Hawley, a thief, who had been in prison many times, who had been boasting that he had information that Mrs. Howard Gould had been married before and that bigamy had been committed. I instructed Peabody to find Hawley and bring him to me. Peabody learned that Hawley had gone out of town, so I told Peabody to drop it."

"You considered that police business?" asked Sergt. Murphy.

"Yes, Sir," replied McLaughlin.

Sergt. Murphy asked the witness if he had instructed Peabody to telegraph from Baltimore in the event he found the marriage record. McLaughlin said that if Peabody did not find the record he was to notify Detective Sholes.

"You considered that in line with police duty?" asked Murphy.

"Well, in a way, yes," replied McLaughlin. "It was a matter of courtesy to me that Peabody looked up the case in Baltimore."

"Police business so far as you were concerned, but not so far as Peabody was concerned," suggested Mr. Grant.

"Yes, Sir," answered the witness, who appeared somewhat nervous when he left the stand.

Inspector McCafferty, the present head of the Detective Bureau, was another witness yesterday. He said that Peabody was a very efficient officer in getting information about crooks. He said, too, that since Peabody's dismissal from the force he had been employed by former Commissioner Bingham in running down burglars, and had succeeded in arresting several burglars, although he was no longer in the department.

Peabody, in telling the story of the Gould case and its result so far as he was concerned, prefaced his recital by saying that during the seven years he was in the Police Department he had arrested 5,000 thieves and recovered about $300,000 worth of stolen property. He said that he had been intimidated by the then Third Deputy Commissioner, Bert Hanson, who, he said, had called him an unmentionable name, one which he had never before been called without knocking down the man who said it. He said that he had been assured by Mr. Hanson that if he pleaded guilty he would get off with a small fine or a reprimand, as he (Hanson) was to be the trial judge. He said that Hanson also told Dan O'Reilly, the lawyer, that it would not be necessary for Peabody to have counsel at the trial, as he (Hanson) would see that Peabody got off with a slight fine.

Mr. O'Reilly was a witness yesterday and substantiated this. Peabody said that Hanson tried to get him to resign without a trial, and told him that the Commissioner would not accept his resignation in such a case. He said he refused to do this.

Deputy Commissioner Stover reserved decision.

SUFFRAGE CAMPAIGN BEGINS.

New York State Association Gets Into Action for the Fall Work.

The New York State Woman Suffrage Association started its Fall work in New York yesterday with a reception to the Presidents of local organizations at the headquarters, 505 Fifth Avenue. Every woman was asked to send in the names of those of her constituents who were willing to work at the coming county fair at Mineola to get signatures to the woman suffrage petition and distribute literature.

It was announced that 1,600 new signatures were obtained at the State fair at Syracuse last week, some thousands more at other county fairs, and that there was a great awakening of interest among women. In different places, it was said, where taxpaying women are allowed to vote, women previously opposed to voting had been instrumental in obtaining better water supplies and other local improvements, and had been converted. Announcement was made of the State woman suffrage convention to be held in Troy on Oct. 20 to 23 inclusive.

The State and National suffrage headquarters have been crowded with visitors since the opening last week. Mayor Tom Johnson of Cleveland, who is a strong advocate of the franchise for women, was one of these.

No Pittsburg Thaw Commission.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 20.—Without comment on the petition, Judges Cohen, Swearingen, and Carnahan handed down a decision to-day refusing to appoint a commission to determine if Harry K. Thaw is insane. The petition was filed last Friday in behalf of James B. Graham, a lawyer of New York, who alleges he has a claim against Thaw of $2,054.

RIDE TO QUEENS FOR 5 CENTS.

New York & Queens Electric Line Makes the Offer If Permit Is Granted.

Offers of a through 5-cent fare from any part of the Borough of Queens across the new Queensboro Bridge into Manhattan were made yesterday by William O. Wood, President and Genetral Manager of the New York & Queens County Electric Railway, to President Gresser of the Borough of Queens, if a temporary permit can be obtained from the city for the operation by the trolley road of a shuttle service across the new bridge pending the putting into effect of the franchise granted that road for the operation of its cars across the bridge. It will take about fifty-five days to fulfill all legal requirements.

This offer on the part of the trolley company was brought about through the operation by the city of a bridge service which began Sunday. During the early rush hours yesterday morning the bridge cars were jammed with passengers, who left the Queens trolley cars at the bridge plaza, and on the return last night big crowds were unloaded at the Long Island City plaza, so that it has been found necessary to start empty cars from that point to accommodate the crowds, as well as from the old starting point at the Thirty-fourth Street Ferry, in Hunter's Point.

In his communication to President Gresser on the trolley situation, Mr. Wood stated that his company could put a shuttle service into immediate operation across the bridge, providing the necessary permit could be obtained, and thus passengers from Queens would at once realize what they have been seeking to obtain for years—a 5-cent fare from any part of Queens across to Manhattan.

Under a two-minute headway yesterday during the rush hours the trolley service installed by the city across the bridge had about all it could do to handle the crowd.

$126,000 WILLED TO CHARITY.

Mrs. Tillotson Distributed It Among New York Institutions.

The report of the appraisal of the estate of Mrs. Emma A. Tillotson, widow of the late Luther G. Tillotson, who died at 19 East Forty-ninth Street on Sept. 12, 1908, was filed with the Surrogate yesterday. It showed her gross personal and real estate to be $748,941, and its net value $724,438. Her jewelry was estimated at $15,188.

In her will she gave about $126,000 to local institutions, among them being the Woman's College, Barnard College, Home for Incurables, New York Institution for the Blind, Home for Old Men and Aged Couples, New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, St. Mary's Free Hospital, St. Luke's Hospital, Skin and Cancer Hospital, and the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Many small bequests were made to relatives and friends, the residue going to her sister, Hanna P. Glen; her brother, Forrest Glen, and her nieces, Lillian E. and Mabel Glen.

SUICIDE IN A CEMETERY.

Man Takes Poison, Then Shoots Himself—Had Hains Trial Clippings.

A man who has not yet been identified committed suicide in old Calvary Cemetery, in the Blissville section of Long Island City, about noon yesterday by drinking creosote and then shooting himself three times with an old-fashioned rim fire revolver. He was removed to St. John's Hospital, Long Island City, where he died without regaining consciousness.

The suicide was about 48 years old, 5 feet 8 inches in heighth, and had a dark complexion, and dark hair. He wore a mustache. His physique was remarkably good, the doctors said. He wore a gray suit of good texture and underclothing of good quality. In his pockets were a pair of shears, a spectacle case, a memorandum book, and a newspaper clipping of the alienists' testimony in the defense of Capt. Peter C. Hains, Jr., in his trial for the murder of William E. Annis.

All tailor marks had been removed from his clothing, but the initial letter "K" was found in his derby hat.

BOWERY HOTEL MUST GO.

Kenwood House Advertised for Sale and Will Be Demolished.

Controller Metz yesterday advertised the sale of the Kenwood House, at 31 Bowery, over which there has been so much discussion during the last few months. The building must be demolished by Oct. 29. The house stands on the property taken over by the city for the Manhattan terminal of the new Manhattan Bridge.

Bridge Commissioner Stevenson has for a long time been demanding that the building, together with the other structures on the property, be torn down as soon as possible. The hotel stands in the heart of "Little Tim" Sullivan's Assembly district, and has housed many voters in the past. It was closed to the public some time ago, after the management had been raided on a charge of running a disorderly house.

$500,000 FOR 2D AVE. LINE.

Receiver Linch Obtains Order to Borrow Funds for Needed Improvements.

Supreme Court Justice O'Gorman gave permission yesterday to George W. Linch, receiver of the Second Avenue Railroad, to borrow $500,000 and issue certificates bearing 6 per cent., which are to mature in one year, the proceeds to be used to improve the road and its properties.

Mr. Linch stated in his petition that contracts had already been entered into for the reconstruction of the car barns at Ninety-sixth Street and Seventh Avenue, destroyed by fire some time ago, and beyond the amount received by insurance, $139,000 would be needed. In many places, he said, the tracks were so worn as to be dangerous for the operation of cars, and money was needed to make repairs. The Public Service Commission had required him to put the entire rolling stock in good condition, and he had endeavored so to do out of the earnings of the company, but could not wholly comply with the requirements without more money, and $50,000 would be necessary for this particular purpose.

After reviewing other history of the road, Mr. Linch stated that the present use of the Third Avenue Company's tracks was extremely disadvantageous to the Second Avenue Company for the reason that the receiver of the former is operating cars on its own tracks with better equipment, and competing with the Second Avenue line.

He held that by equipping the Worth Street line with electricity the Second Avenue road would be provided with a very advantageous terminal in a congested business district, which would afford a most convenient means of service transportation from that section to the Williamsburg and Manhattan Bridges. By using these advantages, he said he believed that the Second Avenue would not alone obtain its fair share of traffic, but would also gain largely in its earnings.

CAN'T WED AN ACTOR OR A DIVORCED MAN

Mrs. Hennessy Puts the Ban on Them in Leaving a Legacy to Her Granddaughter.

She Also Remembers Faithful Family Servants and Members of the Catholic Clergy.

The will of Mrs. Ellen M. Hennessy, widow of James S. Hennessy, who was at one time Fire Commissioner of this city, was offered for probate yesterday in the Surrogate's office. Mrs. Hennessy, who lived at 117 East Eighteenth Street, left a large estate, the value of which is not known. She was widely known in Catholic circles and has left a considerable amount for distribution among various Catholic charities, chiefly in connection with St. Francis Xavier's Church, in West Sixteenth Street.

After makng a number of specific bequests, Mrs. Hennessy directs that her residuary estate be divided into three equal shares. One each to go to Forbes J. Hennessy, her son, a former Assistant District Attorney; Mrs. Ellen Mary Parker, a daughter, and Miss Catherine Bradley Bigelow, a granddaughter, the latter of whom is the daughter of Mrs. Bigelow, a daughter of the testatrix, who died recently. In providing that Miss Bigelow shall come into her inheritance on reaching the age of 25 years—she now being under ten years old—Mrs. Hennessy directs that her granddaughter shall forfeit her legacy should she marry either a divorced man or an actor. The exact wording of the clause is:

"I desire that my granddaughter, Catherine Bradley Bigelow, at no time shall marry a divorced man or an actor, and in case this provision of this will should be broken by my said granddaughter, she shall thereupon forfeit all interest in my estate, real and personal, and her share shall go to my son, Forbes J. Hennessy, and my daughter, Ellen Mary Parker.

"I direct that my said granddaughter, Catherine Bradley Bigelow, shall always be provided with a maid or chaperon when traveling, who shall be a person of education and refinement, the expense for which shall be paid out of her surplus income, but must not amount to more than $75 a month."

The will further directs that Miss Bigelow shall receive $1,000 a year from the income of her share of the residuary estate until she is 10 years old. This amount is to be increased to $1,200 when she is 15 years old; to $1,500 a year at 18 years, and $2,000 a year on her twenty-first birthday.

The charitable bequests are:

$1,000 to the College of St. Francis Xavier for founding a "Catherine Bradley Scholarship," $1,000 to the Church of St. Francis Xavier, $250 to the Rev. Thomas F. Myhan, pastor of the Church of St. Ann in East Twelfth Street, $500 to St. Francis's Hospital in East Fifth Street, $250 to the Society of St. Vincent de Paul in West Sixteenth Street, $500 to the rector of St. Francis Xavier "for masses for the repose of my soul," $1,000 to the rector of St. Francis Xavier for "masses for the souls of my husband, James S. Hennessy; Daniel Bradley, my father; Catherine Bradley, my mother; Martha Agnes Bigelow, my daughter; John J. Bradley, my brother, and Joseph and Forbes Holland, my uncles, all of whom are dead"; $500 to St. Patrick's Cathedral, $300 to the Society of the Children of Mary of the Convent of the Sacred Heart, $500 to the rector of St. Francis Xavier for the benefit of the parochial school, $1,000 to St. Joseph's Seminary for the Dunwoodie Seminary, and $200 to the Little Sisters of the Poor in Seventieth Street.

Among the private bequests are: $1,000 a year to John J. Donnelly and $100 each to the Rev. Francis Forbes Donnelly and Wesley Donnelly. To Lizzie Callahan, "in recognition of her faithful services to me for many years, if in my employ at the time of my death," Mrs. Hennessy bequeaths $450 outright and $200 a year for life. Mary Flynn, her cook, and Michael Hines, the coachman, also get $100 each if they were in Mrs. Hennessy's employ at the time of her death.

Besides the third share in the residuary estate, Forbes J. Hennessy, the only son of the testatrix, gets many of the personal belongings of his mother, including the painting "The Elements," "the picture of his father in the costume of a fireman"; "the certificate of his father as Fire Commissioner," and half of the oil paintings belonging to Mrs. Hennessy.

Mrs. Ellen Mary Parker is to receive the other half of the paintings, as well as all the bric-à-brac, china, and cut glassware in the house.

The executors are Forbes J. Hennessy, Mrs. Parker, and Michael Conlan. The will was dated June 2 last.

ASYLUM INMATE OWN LAWYER.

Argues His Case and Court Sets Him Free—In Asylum Twelve Years.

James T. Walker, 63 years old, of Palmyra, N. Y., who has been an inmate, as an alleged insane person, of the Millard State Hospital for twelve years, convinced Justice Marean of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, yesterday that he was perfectly rational, and obtained his freedom. Walker acted as his own lawyer in court, and the proceedings lasted but half an hour.

Mr. Walker had to contend against the opposition of members of his family, who were represented by counsel. They have long believed him insane. It was on an application of Walker's wife twelve years ago that a commission was appointed to pass upon his sanity, after which he was committed to a State institution.

Walker told Justice Marean that he never had a chance to present his side of the case properly. Justice Marean heard his story, and when he was finished the Justice declared that Walker impressed him as being the most sane man in the whole affair. The Justice then promptly signed the writ of habeas corpus which gave Walker his freedom. Walker is the inventor of a device for preventing horses from slipping on icy streets. His son, J. Townsend Walker, who was in court yesterday, said afterward he believe his father would be back in the asylum in a short time. He was absolutely sure, he said, that his father was hopelessly insane and that his present normal appearance was only temporary.

Boston Delegation Here to Study Their Method of Handling Goods.

A delegation consisting of twenty-five members, representing the Joint Board of Metropolitan Improvements, the Chamber of Commerce, and several commissions of Boston, made a thorough inspection of the Bush Terminal Company's plant in South Brooklyn yesterday. The members of the commission were met at the pier by Vice President Byrnes of the New Haven Railroad and Vice President J. A. Nash of the Bush Stores. Dock Commissioner Spooner accompanied the party.

The visitors were taken through the entire plant by Mr. Nash. He told George C. Crocker, Chairman of the Joint Board, that fifteen more immense concrete lofts were to be erected, and when completed will be occupied by various industrial concerns, employing thousands of men.

Mr. Crocker said that he and the members of the commission had been sent here to make a thorough study of transportation and storage facilities. The party in its progress along the river front was accompanied by a delegation from the West End Board of Trade, the members of which assisted in explaining to the visitors the various transportation problems which from time to time have engaged the attention of the public here.

The commission will make a full report of what they saw to their home city, in the belief that their work will aid materially in solving some of the transportation problems of Boston.

WIDOW A SUICIDE.

Victim of Illness and Despondent, She Takes Gas in Daughter's Absence.

Depressed because of a chronic stomach trouble, and believing herself to be a burden on her daughter, Mrs. Emma Burtnett, 72 years old, a widow, committed suicide yesterday morning in a rear room on the second floor of her residence, 466 Park Avenue. She was dead when found with a rubber tube connected with an open gas jet at the head of the bed in which she was lying.

Mrs. Burtnett was the widow of Henry Burtnett, a wealthy fur dealer, who died in 1882. After his death the fortune of the widow dwindled rapidly and finally she and her daughter, Miss Ida Burtnett, were forced to open a boarding house to maintain themselves.

Last week she appeared particularly despondent, but was more cheerful toward the end of the week. On Friday when her daughter announced that she would like to spend Sunday at the home of a relative out of the city, Mrs. Burtnett urged her to go. The daughter returned yesterday morning to find her mother dead.

The Beer Question

Science affirms that there is no question as to the healthfulness and food value of good beer. So the beer question is: What beer combines the highest quality as a beverage with the greatest food value?

Jacob Ruppert's Knickerbocker Beer

is a beverage of the highest quality and purity and is rich in the food elements derived from barley—malt. Scientific sterilization is maintained at every stage of brewing and bottling. The answer to the beer question is Drink Ruppert's.

THE MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN.

If, as now seems probable, the conference committees and the Convention shall agree upon Mr. IVINS as the candidate for Mayor of the Fusion forces, it seems to us that they will have made the wisest possible choice. It is not always that Fusion movements make so fortunate a beginning.

For one thing, Mr. IVINS can make his own platform campaign, and he can make it in a way to attract the attention and inform the minds of the voters. No man in the city has a clearer or more comprehensive knowledge of the organization, the operation, the defects, the needs, and possibilities of reform of the city Government than he. He is perfectly able to tell upon the platform, and to tell effectively, what he knows and what he thinks about municipal affairs. That is not the end of it. The knowledge that equips him for the campaign before the voters is the best possible, the indispensable, equipment for the administration of the office. Probably no man in the country has made a profounder comparative study of municipal government than Mr. IVINS, and, more than that, he has had qualifying experience in large business affairs. The Government of this city is a business affair.

The credit of the city, as everybody knows, is not what it ought to be. To make it better there must be fiscal reorganization. The revision of the Charter, which was largely the work of Mr. IVINS, gives proof of his capacity for that undertaking. We should suppose that the taxpayers and all conservative voters would be better satisfied to intrust the duties and responsibilities of the Mayoralty to Mr. IVINS than to such an aspirant for the office, say, as Judge GAYNOR. No man can say what would happen to the credit of New York City if he were to become its Mayor. We can hardly tell what he would do in an administrative office, but if he administered as he talks, his election would be alarming, for his talk is habitually reckless and radical. Probably Tammany would prefer some other candidate than Mr. IVINS in opposition, for Mr. IVINS has an uncomfortably full knowledge of Tammany's ways and of the ways of its political leaders. It is pretty well known that Mr. MURPHY is much disinclined to accept Judge GAYNOR as a candidate, though a good deal of pressure is being brought to bear upon him for that nomination. Information reaches us that a still more powerful opposing pressure is also being exerted. Tammany Hall numbers among its faithful many property owners, many conservative men, to whom the Gaynor candidacy does not at all appeal.

THE QUEENSBORO TROLLEY.

The bridge authorities thought they might have 10,000 passengers on the first day the trolleys ran over the Queensboro Bridge. As a matter of fact, they had 18,000, and 10,000 were carried at a profit, since it requires only the fares of 8,000 to pay expenses upon the scale provided. Doubtless much of this was "joy riding," it being a pleasant Sunday, and the cars a novelty. And yet it is altogether likely that the numbers will grow, rather than decrease. If not it will be the first time that traffic facilities have been provided in excess of need. It is certain that the traffic would grow if it were treated as private business would be treated. At present this bridge—like the others—lacks any connection with any crosstown or west side feeders on the Manhattan side of the river. At the other end no provision is made to accommodate those who would like to reach the Long Island Railway, or any of the busy centres of Queens Borough, without paying a second fare for a ride of altogether less than two miles. Yet as the city carries its passengers a shorter distance than the street cars, and for a larger fare per mile than Engineer ARNOLD reckons is profitable for the subways, it would seem that a short extension of route in each borough would be feasible, apart from its stimulating effect upon the volume of travel. This municipal line has the capacity of providing a three-cent fare—two for 5 cents—for large areas now unimproved. Tax values could be created throughout mosquito swamps, and New Jersey would be hopelessly distanced in the race for population and taxpayers.

Yet it is unlikely that this course will be taken. The service which is showing such possibilities of growth is spoken of as temporary, and there is discovered no disposition to break away from the old bad methods of operating the bridges as though they were ferry routes. The municipal imagination shows no capacity to rise above shuttle trains and two rides for two fares. There is every sign that the system of stopping all trains at the terminals will be followed. This is called a "through" ride for one fare, but it leaves passengers where they must pay a second fare or walk away. So great is the indisposition to pay a second fare that 80 per cent. of the passengers walk away from the Brooklyn Bridge. Evidently this system limits the usefulness of the bridges too closely to those able to walk to or from the terminals. There is no bridge which would not be more useful in proportion as its communications were improved, and the Queensboro Bridge communications are the worst of all at both ends.

THE ILLUMINATIONS.

Decorative illumination will be carried further in the Hudson-Fulton Celebration than ever before in a public festival. The night will be gilded by millions of electric lights, both arc and incandescent, by magnesium torches, flashlights, and searchlights of a power hitherto unknown. The illuminations will extend from Staten Island along the shores of the bay and far up the Hudson River. In the Washington Heights neighborhood great pillars of fire, forty in number and each 120 feet high, formed by throwing the most brilliant searchlights on columns of steam and smoke, will make the river radiant for many miles. Near the water gate, while the night parade of the ships and boats is under way, next Saturday, arches of light, ingeniously contrived by the use of searchlights on either bank, will span the river.

Incandescent bulbs by the million will decorate the big bridges and the public buildings throughout the greater city, while many of the tall commercial buildings will be brilliantly illuminated. The long line of warships will be outlined in flame, while the culminating point of brilliance will be reached Saturday night, Oct. 9, when beacon fires will burn on every hilltop and in many other available places from the Narrows to the head of navigation on the Hudson. This fire will be made of peat, mixed with other inflammable materials, and will burn three hours. While they blaze out the message of the triumph of peace, commerce, and knowledge, all the other illuminations will blaze, the arches of fire will span the river, the bridges and buildings and ships will shine, and the pillars of fire will burn. One who is out in all the glare will do well to wear blinders. The stars themselves will be eclipsed. "Light seeking light doth light of light beguile."

The time has long since passed when a few candles in a few windows and a few dim transparencies, making darkness visible, served for an illumination. We have had many splendid illuminations of the town and its rivers in late years, but not quite equal in extent, cost, and ingenuity of design to that promised for the coming celebration. The cost will be high, of course, but the game is worth the candle.

LOST.

Would it be too much to ask of President TAFT to mention in his tariff speeches, at some convenient time, what became of the test for tariff revision rates which he recommended so definitely and strongly, the difference in foreign and domestic cost, with a fair allowance for profit to American industries?

The attitude of the President from time to time as to this test is a curious psychological phenomenon. He evidently worked out the principle involved with a good deal of care, and found it extremely attractive. It afforded safe middle ground to stand on. It secured an ample measure of protection to American interests and still permitted substantial and practical reduction of taxes on foreign goods. For a statesman and politician anxious to preserve the solidarity of his party, a protectionist party, with a large number of members who wished an honest revision of the tariff, this seemed like a veritable golden mean. Mr. TAFT still appears under the influence of the attraction the idea had for him at first, for he repeated his expression of faith in it in his speech in Minnesota last week. But in the meantime there is not the slightest evidence that he or any one else has made anything like a real attempt to apply the test, or even to obtain adequate information for applying it.

Certain inquiries were made abroad by agents of the Government, and Mr. PAYNE's committee made some corresponding inquiries of the beneficiaries of the tariff when the bill was under consideration. But these were but scattering and inconclusive inquiries, and no systematic or approximately complete investigation of relative cost was ever attempted. Nor did the framers of the tariff, or its advocates in the House or in the Senate, or the President himself, ever submit to the public any statement of the nature of the inquiries, of their definite results, of their bearing on important schedules, or upon the revision generally. The American people do not at the present moment possess any information of the slightest value as to the working of the President's test, or even as to any effort whatever seriously to apply that test to the tariff.

This is not at all remarkable as an example of the tricky way in which Republican politicians have been in the habit of dealing with the tariff. But Mr. TAFT cannot be accused of trickiness in these matters. If he regarded the complete abandonment of the test as something acquired to attain a party aim, a mere device of the political game, he would not keep on referring to the test in terms of what may be called paternal admiration. But how is it that he seems utterly oblivious of the neglect and contempt with which his favorite idea has been treated? How is it that his shrewd and practiced legal mind goes on pleading a case when his own associates have knocked all the facts from under it and upset it? It may be that he has been persuaded by the authors of the amazing tariff that his idea was really applied. In that case it would be well worth his while to instance a single schedule of any consequence to which the application was made, with the specific results of the application, the figures of home and foreign cost, the allowance for American profit and the exact relation of the figures thus obtained to the ad valorem tax levied in the revised tariff. If he can do this, he can greatly relieve the puzzled minds of his friends and save his own reputation from the injury to which his attitude thus far has exposed it.

THE NIGHT COURT.

The report of the Commissioners of Accounts, whom Mayor MCCLELLAN directed to investigate the conduct of the Night Court, indicates clearly that that court has been made to serve purposes for which it was not established. In the first five months of its existence 15,459 prisoners were arraigned at its bar, a larger number than three of the day courts had before them in that entire year. The report says that "these facts show the disadvantageous conditions under which this court labors." They also show that the Night Court must be used largely to lessen the burdens of the day courts, while the principal purpose for which it was established was to save possibly innocent persons from imprisonment overnight, and to secure prompt action in cases of great emergency.

The Night Court has been found so useful to these ends that the establishment of a second one in the northern part of the city is recommended by the Commissioners. They find that some of the Magistrates have been careless in the conduct of this court, but both of the chief offenders, DROEGE and WAHLE, are off the bench now. The practices of the probation officers have been shameful, but this seems to have been due, however, as much to the lack of any system of management of the probationers as to any particular depravity of the officers, and doubtless the appointment of a chief probation officer, with some understandable powers, which the Commissioners recommend, will serve to correct these abuses.

A courtroom of its own the Night Court ought to have, surely, and its experimental stage having passed, it should be administered with all the care and system of any Magistrate's court, while its work should be limited to the really pressing cases. A case that can just as well be left for the day courts to attend to should not be rushed into the Night Court to get the responsibility quickly off the hands of the police. If this practice were to be continued, we might as well have most of the Magistrates' courts open at night, and only one or two in the daytime.

THE CURRENCY "CORNER."

In his Milwaukee speech in favor of a central bank President TAFT said that the Government had floated $700,000,000 of 2 per cents. "by getting the banks into a corner, so they had to have under the law some Government security, and so they were obliged to buy those 2 per cent. bonds." However, the banks got themselves out of their corner in the manner described by Bank President REYNOLDS before the Bankers' Association last week: "With about $650,000,000 of our circulating medium consisting of National banknotes secured by United States 2 per cent. bonds carried by the banks at a highly inflated value, the only flexibility shown has been a material expansion of our banknotes during the past few months, when we have had a plethora of money, and interest rates have been abnormally low, since our banks could not have followed any other course without suffering great loss through the sale of their United States bonds."

We called these facts to the attention of those interested when they were occurring, and now it is time to call attention to the opposite conditions. Now bank reserves are low, and there is an urgent demand for money to move the crops. Interest rates are rising, and as the balance of trade happens to be adverse at the moment, they must rise considerably to cause the import of sufficient gold to relieve the situation. Consequently the money the country needs is being "shaken out of Wall Street." Last week the loans of National banks were reduced $30,625,000 in this city alone. Yet all National banks were only able to issue $966,683 of banknotes, although they issued much larger sums when they were not wanted. The demonstration that the people cannot get National banknotes when they need them for proper uses, and that they have to take them when they do not want them, is almost too familiar for further attention. The present point is whether it is the banks or the people who are in the currency corner, and suffer by it. The banks, with their loss of $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 on Government bonds bought above their investment value, may think that they are in the corner. The people unable to get facilities for their daily business may think that they are in the corner. Inasmuch as the banks' loss at worst is limited, while the people's loss is unlimited, and repetitious with each movement of the volume of trade in either direction, it may seem more nearly correct to say that the people got themselves into a corner by putting the banks there, as they thought.

It might seem that the excess of note issues so recently made would be useful at this time of need. But those notes are not in the hands of those who want them. They have been absorbed in the general currents of trade, and cannot be recalled for any specific use. The same remark is true of the funds absorbed in the speculative uses of Wall Street. Finance abhors idle funds as much as nature abhors a vacuum, and displays great ingenuity in finding work for the idle dollars to do. Our local banks loan themselves up to their limit, although they know that their reserves range near the amounts which their payment of interest upon deposits has attracted from interior banks. Those sums are liable to withdrawal whenever the market rate rises above the rate allowed on deposits, and then the local banks see their reserves withdrawn and loaned at better rates, at the very moment when their necessities compel them to withdraw from the loaning market. This example of how the concentration of reserves works under the law allowing the redepositing of reserves is not altogether comforting.

"Huge $175,000 Graft in Park Fête Stands; Public Is Shut Out; $25 to $40 Charged for Seats" is the legend of headlines that decorates an evening newspaper of this city. It accuses Park Commissioner SMITH of issuing permits to various patriotic societies for stands in the public parks from which a view of the land parades of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration may be had at the exorbitant prices quoted. The facts are, as reported in THE SUNDAY TIMES, that the Commissioner has revoked the permit of one society that failed to observe its agreement to charge only enough money in selling its seats to cover the expense of erecting its stands. The submission to Mr. SMITH of evidence that any other society is violating the agreement, which is the same for all, will suffice to make its permit forfeit.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

More Than a Subject Is Needed.

Ever since the Hudson-Fulton Celebration became the object of general attention we have had occasion to wonder at the number of people who not only saw in the great anniversaries the fitting subject of a great poem, but imagined, for no conceivable reason other than seeing, that they themselves ought to write the poem and get it printed. The result has been the receipt by us of what it is not much of an exaggeration to call numberless pieces of verse, all confidently offered, some "at regular rates" and others at rates considerably higher.

All except a very few of them have evidently been the work of utterly unpracticed writers. They went to work in complete disregard of the fact that a large subject demands for even endurable treatment more than ordinary talent and skill, and that poets who possess both find enormous difficulty, and often fail when they attempt what is called "occasional verse." It is hardly necessary, and it would be most unkind, to enter into any detailed description of the results achieved by those who are not even amateur poets when they attempt to sing momentous historical events. They go about their work with a pathetic seriousness, utilizing all the sonorous phrases and worn-out metaphors that memory supplies, and they achieve a dreadful badness which does not have even the redeeming fault of being funny.

Now, we are very fond of our poets, we are glad always to receive their offerings, and we have the repeated assurances of many readers that we have always been able daily to select from the half hundred, more or less, received one which, if not a masterpiece, yet had one or another merit that made it worth reading. Not infrequently the productions of our bards have been real poetry, and modesty has never forced us to admit that our band of choristers was on the whole inferior to that which sings in the big magazines. But, in all amiability, we must say that Messrs. HUDSON and FULTON, early Colonial history, the present and past of the United States do not lend themselves very readily to anybody's poetizing, and that the inexperienced had better begin a literary career with smaller subjects.

Attained Art Artlessly.

That good writing, when one has something to say and thinks of the something and not of the saying, is easy was beautifully illustrated by the letter from GEORGE BORUP to his father, printed in THE TIMES yesterday. Evidently the young man had no intention of producing "literature," or even "journalese," when he wrote. He was only aching to tell an interested and sympathetic listener just what he had seen and done while following the fortunes of an admired and respected leader through the arctic wilds, and at the first opportunity he went ahead and did it.

The result was a production delightfully "natural," and, curiously enough, it was exactly in the form and tone that would have been used by a great literary artist who had in mind less the narration of certain exciting adventures than the revelation of a young hero's character. Now it was the boy that spoke, honestly proud of his exploits and not ashamed to boast of his achievements; now the man, sobered by danger and appreciative of responsibility. Through the whole letter, too, rang the clear note of loyalty to the competent chief, by whom much was expected and to whom everything was rendered as a matter of course. The hardships of the journey, the risk of life, the sufferings from cold and hunger—all these were mentioned, but as a part of the day's work, and with never a whine, and least of all with any appeal, open or covert, for parental commiseration. Things were "tough" at times, but the worst of them somehow combined with all the rest to make the memory of it all an unmitigated delight.

Of course the view of the expedition taken by Commander PEARY and the other older men is different, more sedate, with less dwelling upon little details, and yet it may easily be doubted if any one of them in the grave books to come gives a more informative description of life in the polar regions than is set down in this artless narrative, intended only for the eyes of the home circle. It is fortunate for the rest of us that young BORUP didn't have a chance to edit it before it saw print, for almost certainly he would have eliminated most of the personal revelations and offered in their place—statistics. How easily "fine writing" and attempts thereat were spared! As for the occasional naughty word—well, the worst of them wasn't very naughty, and emphasis of speech is probably requisite in driving Eskimos and dogs to the north pole.

A Boycott of a New Kind.

Brandy has been boycotted by the German Socialists, not because they consider the drinking of that potent liquid dangerous or reprehensible, but because they want to prevent the agrarian distillers from gaining the advantages they expect to derive from a tax they have had placed on their product. The result is expected to be a marked diminution in the consumption of brandy, and so will temperance be achieved to some extent, at least since the Socialists can hardly resort to any more fiery or harmful beverage if they search through all the alcoholics for a substitute. Nothing is said, however, about any abstinence except from brandy, so perhaps the net result will not be large. The episode is peculiar, and it may contain suggestions for the foes of the Demon.

NATURALIZATION.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

From what I have heard about the Naturalization Bureau in this city, I judge that something more than a mere increase in the staff is necessary. Two friends of mine, both men of superior ability and education, have recently had experiences in their efforts to become citizens of this country which they agree in characterizing as degrading.

Some of this country's most distinguished citizens—James J. Hill and Simon Newcomb, to mention only two of my compatriots as examples—have been foreign born, and this country should recognize by a dignified and courteous conduct of the procedure of naturalization that in conferring citizenship it is receiving reciprocal benefits. When young men of talent and character proffer their formal allegiance to this country its officials should not be permitted to treat them like pickpockets in a police court. It is true that no small proportion of those who present themselves for naturalization are not of the type I mention.

In treating these people like swine or Subway passengers, however, the representatives of the Government only shame the citizenship which it has pleased many orators and certain advertising writers to vaunt as raising the holder to a dignity equal to the kings of Europe. For my own part, though I am qualified by length of residence, and I flatter myself in some other particulars for citizenship, I do not propose that the first incident in my career as an American shall be a bullyragging by a mucker from Cork.

Where the Clermont Was Built.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

At this time of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, do many know that the Clermont was built in Jersey City, at the southwest corner of Morgan and Green Streets? Here stood an old foundry where, at the time of the Mexican war, cannon were cast. In 1878, in making excavations, I found a piece of one of these old cannon weighing 500 pounds.

At the time of our civil war, monitors were built there by Secor, and later pillars were cast there for the Ninth Avenue elevated railroad.

In 1869 the foundry came into my hands, and in making further excavations, about three feet below the level of the foundry yard, I found the old ways upon which Fulton built his first steamboat. Hence its name of Fulton Foundry. A. A. GRIFFING.

Children Should See Parades.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Will you kindly tell me why the children in the public schools are not to be permitted to see the historical and military parades of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration week?

The historical parade will be decidedly of educational value, so it is far more important for the children to see it than for any one else.

Certainly they cannot do any real work in the schools, for many of the children will not attend. Thus a premium is put on disrespect to the laws.

Can these days not be made legal holidays, so that the people may have the benefit of this celebration? A READER.

Not a Coney Island Affair.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The majority of the citizens of New York are looking forward to the festivities of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, but the pleasure of many can be entirely spoiled if the evenings are permitted to degenerate into Coney Island Mardi Gras rowdyism. The police should issue notices that such abominations as cowbells, ticklers, and ridiculous horn blowing will not be permitted.

Let us celebrate, but celebrate decently. J.

A GREAT FEAT OF TELEGRAPHY

The Transmission of Peary's Narrative to The Times and Its Associates.

From The Fourth Estate.

Following so soon the sudden appearance of Dr. Cook at Lerwick on Sept. 1, Commander Peary's message of Sept. 6 to THE NEW YORK TIMES from the wireless station at Indian Harbor, Labrador, announcing that he had "nailed" the American flag to the north pole, startled the world, and when on Sept. 7 he filed an 8,000-word exclusive story for THE TIMES it was the topic of every tongue.

The difficulties which accompanied the transmission of this dispatch and the ease and rapidity with which the narrative was resent to papers throughout the United States, Canada, and Europe which had arranged with THE TIMES for its simultaneous exclusive publication presented a striking example of the enterprise of a great metropolitan journal.

To get the great message to New York required four relays and three days' time and was the hardest part of the big undertaking. After being filed by Commander Peary at Battle Harbor it was sent to Cape Ray, Newfoundland, from that point to Port au Basques by the Newfoundland Government line, thence to Canso, Nova Scotia, by Government cable, and from Canso to THE TIMES office direct by Commercial Cable. Two of these relays were over single lines, which caused much of the delay in transmitting.

The operators at THE TIMES office and at the different relays had to work in relays. Sometimes no more than a few words were received at a time, and in other instances two or three hundred came within a few minutes. In this way the story was not completed in THE TIMES office until late in the night of Sept. 10.

Far from this strain and this long-drawn-out transmission was the remarkable way the narrative was retransmitted to the various papers throughout the United States, in Canada, and in Europe. After the story, in installments extending through three nights, had been filed in THE TIMES telegraph office, a close approximation shows that THE TIMES operators sent direct during the three nights 350,000 words of the story to papers.

This business was transmitted over the lines of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies to the different papers within a space of nine hours, all told. That is, it took two hours on the first night's installments, four more on the second, and three hours on the third and last.

A special wire for the transmission of the dispatches to The London Times was run into THE NEW YORK TIMES office, and over the Anglo-American Company's cables, and dispatches were flashed rapidly to London and there printed in special editions of The Times of that city.

This work was accomplished with a force of twenty operators among the most skilled in the country, and it is said by telegraph officials to be the greatest feat of its kind ever performed in the history of telegraphic communication.

TAFT AND THE CENTRAL BANK.

Secretary MacVeagh Says the President Isn't Committed to It.

From The New York Evening Post.

DUBLIN, N. H., Sept. 20.—In speaking to a representative of The Evening Post the Secretary of the Treasury made it plain that the Administration is not committed to the plan of a central bank. President Taft's passing allusion to the subject, in his speech last week at Boston, has been misinterpreted. Certain newspapers and apparently some bankers have jumped to the conclusion that an Administration bank bill was to be introduced and pushed in the coming session of Congress. Nothing of the kind is to be looked for. No hasty action of any sort is contemplated. The Administration feels that the subject is too complicated and difficult to admit of cocksure or headlong treatment. A long and wide discussion is necessary, for there are many details which must be thrashed out before anything like agreement can be reached.

Secretary MacVeagh points out that no obligation to take the lead in this matter rests upon the Treasury Department. Congress has distinctly confided the initiative to the Monetary Commission. That body has made its investigations, and will in time publish the results of its inquiries, and probably make a report with recommendations. Meanwhile the Administration's attitude is that of a sympathetic but open-minded observer. The high importance of taking wise action, as soon as it is wise to take it, is conceded. Already the debate has been of great value. It has led to a wide perception of the evils of a bond-secured currency. More than that, the discussion has gone beyond the mere need of a better currency system, and has begun to deal with the fundamentals of the whole question of banking. The Treasury welcomes all this, and will do all in its power to help arrive at correct and safe conclusions. But it has no thought of making up its mind overnight about the central bank, and trying to put an official stamp of approval upon an inchoate project. All that the President's reference to the matter was intended to accomplish was to bring the whole subject to the attention of the country, and to invite that deliberate and instructed consideration without which no legislation in so vast and vital a field ought to be attempted.

President's Praise of Aldrich.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Many thanks for your editorial suggestion that Mr. Taft tell all about breaking campaign pledges to our Western brothers.

Don't you think that from many points of view the public praise given Aldrich by President Taft is a bit discouraging to lovers of wholesome politics? Isn't this praise an encouragement to any brainy man, so long as he has ability, to get there—it does not matter so much how—just get there and do things, and then he may be sure to get the praise of his superiors?

I voted for Taft; his public praise of Aldrich was a disappointment as keen as it was incomprehensible. "IN DOUBT."

Roosevelt as Free Trader.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Theodore Roosevelt was not only a member of the Cobden Club, but, what is perhaps more in point, was a member of the New York Free Trade Club when that organization flourished as a fighting body. Americans have not infrequently been put on the rolls of the Cobden Club without any suggestion of their own; but no one entered the ranks of the New York Free Trade Club otherwise than by his personal and voluntary enlistment. Mr. Roosevelt was distinguished in the club among the younger set, led at the time by Poultney Bigelow, between whom and Roosevelt there then existed a very charming friendship. The statement as to Mr. Roosevelt's membership in the Free Trade Club has been often denied; but the undersigned was the Secretary of the club at the time. GRAHAM McADAM.

City College Italian Language Class.

A course in the Italian language was opened for the first time in the City College yesterday, the occasion being marked by an informal celebration. Brief addresses were made by President Finley, Prof. Charles Downer of the Department of Romance Languages, and Dr. Francisco Ettari, who has charge of the course. Twenty-nine students have been admitted to the class. A message of congratulation was received from the Italian Embassy in Washington.

SUFFRAGE CONFLICTS.

Compares the Attacks by Suffragettes with Attacks Against Them.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The actions of the suffragettes in England are often quoted as proof of the unfitness of women to vote. But little is said about the far more violent tactics of the anti-suffragists.

When Miss Molloy rang a bell at Winston Churchill, every paper commented on it. For more than a year before that occurrence, anti-suffragists had been systematically trying to break up woman suffrage meetings by ringing bells, blowing whistles and mouth organs, and occasionally opening a sack of live rats in the midst of the audience, but these facts were not cabled to America.

When Mrs. Pankhurst the other day knocked off Inspector Jarvis's hat, there was a general outcry. As a matter of fact, the thing was not done in anger at all. Mrs. Pankhurst and the Inspector are personally on terms of friendship. But it was thought best for strategic reasons that there should be a technical "assault," and knocking off the Inspector's hat answered the purpose without hurting him. Far different was the tearing off of the hats of some young college women who were lately addressing a suffrage meeting in the most peaceable way. Miss Ray Costelloe wrote of the opponents: "They hooted at us, threw things at us, and snatched the hats off our heads. They would have been more rough if we had stayed, but we all got into our motor car and ran away."

The suffragettes the other day threw little toy bombs. In that same city of Birmingham some months ago the medical students threw tubes of sulphuretted hydrogen among the ladies on the platform. Over and over again the speakers at suffrage meetings have been pelted with eggs, dead mice, and decayed vegetables, and the halls have been almost wrecked.

Some enthusiasts on the suffrage side have broken windows. At a Liberal meeting in Limehouse the other day, a man climbed a pillar and waved a woman suffrage flag. He made no noise or other disturbance; but for waving the flag and resisting ejectment, he and his friends were assaulted so violently by the anti-suffragists that one had his shoulder fractured, another his wrist broken, and a third his collarbone dislocated. Anti-suffragists started in to break up a suffrage meeting in Scotland recently, and when a constable tried to keep order, they broke three of his ribs.

If it is unmannerly to break your opponents' window panes what is it to break their wrists, collarbones, and ribs? If the one shows the unfitness of women to vote, what does the other show as to the superior fitness of men?

If the side that has used the more violent tactics in England is to be pronounced in the wrong judgment must be given against the opponents of votes for women.

Joy is often expressed because the suffragists do not resort to such methods in America as in England. I think we American women have also reason to congratulate ourselves on the more civilized and courteous behavior of American men. ALICE STONE BLACKWELL.

DUTY ON IMMIGRANTS.

As a Means of Directly Protecting American Labor.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The smart men who control our business methods have been shrewd enough to teach the rank and file of voters that a tariff on the products of labor is a protection to the laborer himself, and serves to keep up and to advance his pay. That this is their principal object. But is this true or false? How does this policy work out in actual experience? The policy does prevent the importation of many things which would tend to lower the prices of some manufactured goods, but it in no way compels the manufacturer to share his extra profits with the workingmen. He is still at liberty to purchase labor as cheaply as he can, and as there is no check or tariff on incoming immigrants the American workingman has to compete with the whole world's labor market when he applies for a job. Our protective tariff therefore offers only a deceptive and unreal protection to the vast majority of our people. An honest and real protection can only be afforded by protecting labor directly; by imposing a duty on each immigrant on precisely the same principle as that involved when a duty is imposed on iron, wool, or anything else.

Why not, then, be honest with the people and give labor a direct protection by imposing a duty on incoming immigrants? Such a duty would have many desirable results, and among these I will briefly mention two.

1. It would be something of a check on the number arriving. It would give more time for us to digest and assimilate those who do come, and the sooner would the real citizen of the United States of a higher and better type be produced.

2. The money so raised, placed in the Treasury, could be very appropriately and wisely divided among the States and devoted to the general education of all children, foreign and native. As things are now the consumer is not only heavily taxed for the benefit of the manufacturer but he is also taxed to build schoolhouses and furnish teachers and books in order to educate the children of men and women who come to this country mainly in the interest of manufacturers and trust creators. A tariff of $100 per immigrant would create a large educational fund, and the resulting benefit would be shared by those who paid the tax. It would be an honest and not a deceptive protection to American workingmen.

Why cannot the creators of our policies be both honest and just? H. J.

Sheep in Brooklyn Streets.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Not infrequently the cars on Hudson Avenue, Brooklyn, are delayed by flocks of sheep driven through the street. The bewildered sheep dodge in every direction and often take refuge under the trolley car, from where they must be dragged by their legs. The small boy enjoys it, but the citizen on his way to business does not. Hurry up the subways for Brooklyn if the streets must be given up to sheep. F. G. C.

"NOBLE SPANIARD" AN AMUSING FARCE

Robert Edeson Acts with Dash an Impetuous Wooer with Duel Challenges.

ROMANTIC AND CHARMING

Carries One Back to Days of Crinolines and of Velvet Collars—Rose Coghlan in a Delicious Role.

THE NOBLE SPANIARD. A farce in three acts, by W. Somerset Maugham, from the French of Grenet-Dancourt. Criterion.

Mr. Justice Proudfoot	Verner Clarges
Capt. Chalford	Cyril Chadwick
Count de Moret	Macey Harlam
Marion Nairne	Gertrude Coghlan
Lucy	Ann Murdock
Countess de Moret	Cordelia MacDonald
Lady Proudfoot	Rose Coghlan
Mary Jane	Desiree Lazard

"A Victorian farce" exactly describes "The Noble Spaniard" in regard to costumes and plot, but it need not be supposed that to appreciate it one must have lived in the middle of the Victorian era. Quite the contrary, as last night's audience discovered. In other words this new play of W. Somerset Maugham's is very amusing. It is also very charming, and when Mr. Edeson in the delightful curtain speech, which he delivered in the language of the noble Spaniard, said: "I cannot bring the author present, for which I am grateful," the audience screamed with laughter. It was a first night, at which the author's presence would have been very welcome.

Marion Nairne, a young widow, is spending the Summer of 1850, together with her young sister Lucy, at Boulogne with Justice Proudfoot and his wife. The Duke of Hermanos, who is also passing his Summer at Boulogne, one day catches sight of Marion, and from that time on he is her devoted admirer. He stands outside the window and admires for a few days, but finally he enters the house and declares his passion. Marion, ostensibly to get rid of him, tells him that she is married, whereupon he declares that her husband must die, and goes forth in search of him.

When the maid tells him that Justice Proudfoot is the master of the house he naturally mistakes that elderly gentleman for Marion's husband and challenges him to a duel, which, of course, brings Lady Proudfoot under her husband's suspicion. One after another the men in the piece, including Lucy's lover, are mistaken by the impetuous foreigner for the husband of his adored one, and one after another he tries to fight them all. In the end, of course, Marion succumbs to this passion. It seems the only way to kill it.

The situations of the farce are amusing enough in themselves, but the dialogue is also clever. The piece is redolent with reminiscences of Byron and the romantic period. The walls of the rooms are decorated with prints and imitation "Turners." The settings are charming. The men's clothes are sure to awaken little gasps of admiration from the women in future audiences, and probably no man who told the truth would say that the ladies of that period did not dress more pleasingly than those of to-day. For "The Noble Spaniard" carries one back to the days of crinolines and haircloth sofas, of Byron and velvet collars, not to mention the very delicious song which Lucy sings in the second act while her lover, Capt. Chalford, poses in Du Maurier attitudes on one side of the piano and Marion plays the tinkly instruments with mitts on.

Robert Edeson is playing a part very different from those he has acted in the past, a part which demands good looks, assurance, and dash, qualities which Mr. Edeson has in plenty, to say nothing of a Spanish accent.

To Miss Rose Coghlan fell one of the most delicious parts in the play, that of Lady Proudfoot, who for a time believes herself to be the adored one of the noble Spaniard, but who still insists to Justice Proudfoot that she is "pure." Verner Clarges played the rôle of Justice Proudfoot, and these two players did some very brilliant comedy work. Miss Gertrude Coghlan was the Marion Nairne, and was strikingly good in the part. Cyril Chadwick made the most of several comedy scenes, and Macey Harlam was excellent in the part of a French Count. If Ann Murdock had done nothing more than sing the mid-Victorian ditty she would have captivated the audience.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Lawrance D'Orsay arrived from London yesterday on the Minnetonka. He will appear with Anna Held in "Miss Innocence" at the New York Theatre next week.

Jesse Lasky, the vaudeville producing manager, is planning to send out a three-act musical comedy with two male stars. It will be ready for production about Christmas.

Cecil Lean and Florence Holbrook head the bill at the Alhambra this week, with Camille Ober, Lester, Charlie Case, Clara Belle Jerome, Max Gruber, the Sleeds, Quigley Brothers, and Hastings and Wilson to complete the programme.

At the Colonial Theatre this week are Edward Abeles and company in "Self-Defense," Nat M. Wills, La Titcomb, Rochez's Monkeys, Ida O'Day and company, Hyman Meyer and company, Melville and Higgins, Merrill and Otto, and the La Vine Cimeron Trio.

Gus Edwards's vaudeville production, "The Night Birds," heads the bill at Keith & Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre this week. Nellie Brewster and a company of fourteen do the singing. The Boston Fadettes, Albert Whelan, Violet Black and company, the Dagwell Sisters, Thora, Clifford and Burke, and Myrtle Byrne are the rest of the bill.

At Hammerstein's this week the programme is headed by Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth. Others who appeared were William Gould, Waterbury Brothers and Tenney, Gracie Emmett and company, Loney Haskell, the Three Dolce Sisters, Frank and Edith Ramond, and, for the first time, the new magical illusion, "The Woman in the Case."

The bill at the Brooklyn Orpheum this week contains Van Biene, the actor-musician; Louise Dresser, Pat Rooney and Marion Bent, Stuart Barnes, the Kellinos, the Eight Palace Girls, Jack Wilson and company, Van Cleve, Denton and Pete, Quinn and Marshall, and Mr. Quick.

Otis Skinner returned to New York yesterday to begin rehearsals of the new Booth Tarkington-Harry Leon Wilson comedy "Your Humble Servant." In support of Mr. Skinner will be Isobel Richards, Izetta Jewell, C. B. Welles, Edward Fielding, and A. G. Andrews.

Cecilia Loftus made her reappearance in vaudeville yesterday afternoon at the American Music Hall. Among the people she impersonated were Clarice Vance, Harry Lauder, and Yvette Guilbert. Robinson Newbold and Nina Collins appeared in Sidney Drew's sketch "The Naked Truth," and others on the bill were James G. Morton, Maude Hall, Carleton Macy and company, Joe Deming and company.

At the Plaza yesterday the bill was again headed by Pauline, the hypnotist. Others who appeared were Al Fields and Dave Lewis, Wilfred Clarke and company, Lond, Daphne Pollard, Roland Travers, Probst, and the Three Deltons.

The Big Gaiety Show is the attraction at the Olympic, the Great Star and Garter show is at the Murray Hill, and the Trocadero Burlesquers are entertaining at Hurtig & Seamon's Music Hall.

CONSTIPATION

NOT TO WED LORD FALCONER.

Friend of Mrs. Chapman Says Report of Her Engagement Is False.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 20.—Although Mrs. Chapman, the wealthy widow of a former New York merchant, will make no statement as coming directly from her, I am able to say on the highest authority that there is no truth whatever in the report of her engagement to Lord Falconer. Lord Kintore and his family have been very kind to Mrs. Chapman at Aix-les-Baines. This fact probably suggested the story.

Referring to-day to busy gossips, Mrs. Chapman said to a friend:

"Why can't they let me be as I am?"

Her tone was both plaintive and indignant.

ENTERTAIN GERMAN OFFICERS.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 20.—The officers and the ladies of the naval torpedo station gave a ball to-night in honor of the German cruiser squadron officers, who numbered forty, including the commanding officers of the ships, Capts. Mauve, Englehart, and Koppmann.

The gathering of so many officers in uniform with the beautiful costumes of the ladies was a handsome sight. As the guests landed their walk to the army station was directed by lines of white electric lights, the house on the wharf being outlined in similar effect.

As the guests arrived they were received by the officers of the station and their wives, consisting of Commander and Mrs. Mark L. Bristol, Lieut. Commander and Mrs. E. S. Kellogg, Lieut. Commander and Mrs. H. E. Yarnell, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Castleman, Lieut. and Mrs. John V. Babcock, Lieut. Frank R. McCrary, Surgeon Lloyd Curtis, and Paymaster and Mrs. John Sanford.

As the ball concluded and the guests departed the orchestra struck up the German national air and then followed with the "Star-Spangled Banner."

MAY GET TREAT'S PLACE.

John H. Watkins, New York Bond Man, Mentioned for Treasurer.

Special to The New York Times.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 20.—John H. Watkins, formerly of Memphis, now of New York, and Washington, is said to be slated for appointment as successor to Charles H. Treat, United States Treasurer, who resigned recently. Mr. Watkins now has the residence formerly occupied by Gen. Luke E. Wright, his father-in-law, in Washington. At the time Mr. Watkins moved into the Wright home the reason assigned was that Mrs. Watkins preferred Washington to New York. Now, however, it is said that Mr. Watkins's move was due to his expectation of receiving an appointment under the Taft Administration.

Mr. Watkins was, until last year, a resident of Memphis. He was President of the Memphis Railroad Terminal Company and Vice President of the Bank of Commerce. He resigned both posts to move to New York, where he engaged in the bond business in Wall Street.

The resignation of Treasurer Treat will involve the counting of all the Government funds not only in Washington, but in the nine Sub-Treasuries of the United States. The magnitude of this work may be realized when it is remembered that the succession of Assistant Treasurer Terry to the head of the Sub-Treasury of New York required the labor of twenty-six men for nearly two months in checking up the retiring Assistant Treasurer's accounts of cash and securities.

In the Treasury at Washington there are now trust funds to the amount of $1,349,675,869, in the general fund $108,722,119, and in the reserve fund $150,000,000. It is estimated that it will take a force of fifty men and women six months to count and weigh this money.

FIND OF LEAF SIGNIFICANT.

One Like That of Japanese Plant Is Discovered Near Spokane.

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 20.—Prof. T. A. Bouser of Spokane College has found a Geinkgo leaf buried deep in the soil near Spokane.

"The Geinkgo is distinct among plants in that it is without near relatives," he said to-day. "There is only one genus and one species of it extant, and this is found only in Japan. While to the layman the finding of the Geinkgo buried deep in the soil means little or nothing, to scientists it is a very important discovery, confirming the theory that some time in the dim past this continent and Japan were connected by land."

Prof. Bouser believes that other evidences of the prehistoric physical junction of Asia and America will be found in the Columbia River basin.

"Rigoletto" Sung Again at Manhattan.

"Rigoletto" was sung again at the Manhattan Opera House last night by Mme. Miranda and Messrs. Beck and di Bernardo. At the Academy of Music the Italian Grand Opera Company gave performances of "Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana," with the casts which have already been heard in those operas.

"Blue Mouse" Again at Elliott Theatre.

"The Blue Mouse" returned to town yesterday for a two weeks' engagement at Maxine Elliott's Theatre. The principals in the cast are the same as when the play was first acted in New York, with the exception of David Steele as Wallus and Joseph Howard as Phillip Scarsdale.

Social Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hewitt of Ardsley-on-Hudson, who have made a tour of the West, are now the guests of their daughter, Mrs. J. Eads Switzer, at her home in Evanston, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. White have left their Camp Restawhile on Upper Saranac Lake and returned to Dunedin, Dobbs Ferry.

Bruce Falconer and Miss Louise Falconer are spending the Autumn at Mohawk Lake with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Falconer.

Mrs. Willis James has left Lake Mohank and gone to her country home at Madison, N. J.

Dr. John Alton Harris and Mrs. Harris of 141 Riverside Drive, will give a reception on Sept. 25 for 125 guests, who will view the river pageant.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goelet are due today on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. They visited Mr. Goelet's sister, the Duchess of Roxburghe, during their Summer abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Rogers will open their Hyde Park, N. Y., house this week, after a Summer spent on Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre L. Barbey, (Miss Flower,) on their arrival from Europe, where they spent the Summer in Switzerland, went to Mrs. H. I. Barbey's cottage at Tuxedo for the Autumn.

Commodore F. G. Bourne and Mrs. Bourne have returned from their Dark Island home on the St. Lawrence, and are at Oakdale, L. I.

Dr. Walter J. Heimann and Mrs. Heimann returned yesterday from a two years' residence abroad, where Dr. Heimann has been studying at the hospitals in Switzerland, Vienna, Berlin, and Paris. He is the son of Julius Heimann of this city. Mrs. Heimann is the daughter of Dr. D. H. Davison and the niece of Daniel Frohman.

MARGARET ANGLIN AS HELENA RICHIE

Actress Conveys Reality of Suffering in Play Made from Margaret Deland's Book.

EFFECTIVE DRAMATIZATION

Essential Features of Narrative Retained in Somewhat Depressing Play.

THE AWAKENING OF HELENA RICHIE. A drama in four acts, by Charlotte Thompson, from the novel of the same name by Margaret Deland. Savoy.

Sarah	Gertrude Swiggett
Dr. William King	Charles Wyngate
Dr. Lavendar	John Findlay
Helena Richie	Margaret Anglin
Sam Wright	George Probert
Lloyd Pryor	Eugene Ormonde
David Allison	Raymond Hackett
Benjamin Wright	Robert Cummings

In respect to clarity for those who have not read the book, Miss Charlotte Thompson's dramatization of Margaret Deland's novel, "The Awakening of Helena Richie," may be freely commended, and, as most people who go to the theatre know, clarity in the dramatization of a best seller is a quantity often conspicuous by its absence.

It requires something like 250 pages for Mrs. Deland's story to reach the point where its ultimate purpose is established, where the mercurial Helena, after tremendous disappointments, realizes finally the responsibilities of life and becomes aware of the obligations of the individual to the law of the general.

To the novelist there is no limit to the amount of detail with which each step may be accompanied. There may be an expanse of illuminating background on custom and social prejudice, long vistas and broad reaches of color in contrasts of character and predominating influences in lives. But to the actress, no less than the dramatist, these excursions are denied. The play must come to the point, and the players must bring it to the issue promptly.

Such being the case, there is reason enough to congratulate Miss Thompson on what she has accomplished in preparing Mrs. Deland's novel for the stage, and Miss Anglin in visualizing its chief figure, so as to make it real and human in the action. But Miss Anglin's Helene Richie is probably nearer than someof the other characters to Mrs. Deland's ideal and to that which the book creates in the general imagination.

The invariable dependableness with which Dr. Lavender qualifies in the book cannot be felt in the narrowed figure of the stage, and the grimness and intensity of old Benjamin Wright is lost in a sort of bugaboo grotesquerie as he appears in of bugaboo grotesquerie. But for persons who do not know the novel, and for those whose emotions are easily stirred, both figures have some value.

There are times, perhaps, when the action seems unnecessarily retarded before it reaches a climax, as in the third act, which culminates in Helena's parting from the boy David after Dr. Lavender has thrown the light upon her selfishness, and again there are moments, as in Dr. King's discovery from a letter of the exact status of Lloyd Prior, when one unfamiliar with the book might need a little more enlightenment, but in spite of such defects the piece is interesting, and has both light and shade. If it is depressing on the whole, that is what might have been expected.

Helena Richie herself, as she appears in Mrs. Deland's book, is rather an exasperating person in her devotion to Lloyd Prior. Much of the sympathy that might go to her is negatived by the knowledge that the man she loves is wholly unworthy of her loyalty.

But the fact that Miss Anglin does create sympathy for the woman argues well for her sincerity, for her powers of emotion, and her ability to suggest a reality of suffering. Her acting, in fact, leaves one no time for the moment to analyze the character.

The fact that Helena is indolent, that she is intolerant herself, while eventually ready to take offense at the intolerance of others; that she has taken the easy way out of every difficulty in life—these things count for little as the character is developed into an appealing personality on the stage. Light-hearted irresponsibility is clearly suggested, indeed, in the opening scenes, but it is an attractive mood for the time being. Then come the moments of sensuous abandonment, following quickly upon the note of disappointment and distrust. Here there is something poignant.

Indeed, nothing in Miss Anglin's performance is finer than the moment in the first act when she retires from the room, choking down the sob that betrays how deeply Lloyd Prior's selfishness has struck. Nor could anything be more illuminative of the actual character of this heroine, prior to her awakening, than the readiness with which she subsequently accepts her lover's explanations and caresses.

Again, of course, Miss Anglin has a scene of cumulative emotion in which distrust, fear, hope, anguish, and defiance are blended, only to go down at last before the stern, clear, unrelenting logic of the righteous Dr. Lavendar. The removal of the child makes for the inevitable climax of despair, and Dr. Lavendar in the play, as in the book, is ultimately moved to reconsider his decision. There is familiar prettiness to the scenes with the child, although occasionally the prattle is out of place in the play and breaks into the seriousness of a situation.

But, on the whole, the play preserves more of the qualities of the book than is ordinarily found in dramatizations.

The acting, while in several instances more inclined to the theatric than to the strictly real, is generally respectable, though Mr. Cummins's ogre of a grandfather is scarcely what most imaginations would conjure up from Mrs. Deland's text, and Mr. Probert's Sam Wright, while effectively acted, seems a trifle overwrought. Mr. Findlay's Doctor Lavender hardly suggests the largeness of the figure on which it is modeled.

VAN STUDDIFORD CONTESTS.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20.—Charles Van Studdiford filed an answer to-day in the divorce suit brought by Grace Van Studdiford, the light opera singer. He denies her charge of desertion.

While Mrs. Van Studdiford was singing at Delmar Garden here, the day before her suit was filed, she received a letter from her husband, her friends say, in which he declared that he intended to win her back.

Mrs Van Studdiford declared her husband would not oppose the suit. She was so certain of this that she sought an immediate trial, but her husband did not enter appearance, and it was continued to Sept. 30. The opera singer is now in New York under treatment for a slight affection of the throat.

The answer to the petition denies all its allegations except the statement that the marriage took place Aug. 27, 1897. It denies that Mrs. Van Studdiford treated her husband with kindness, that he absented himself for more than a year at one time, or that he left her in May, 1908.

Emma Trentini Arrives.

Emma Trentini of the Manhattan Opera Company arrived yesterday on the Hamburg. She has been singing at Covent Garden this Summer, and has returned to America for a concert tour before the season at the Manhattan commences.

Mlle. Baron, who was announced to sing Santuzza in "Cavalleria Rusticana" at the Manhattan Opera House to-night, is suffering from a cold, and will be unable to appear, and so Miss Marguerite Sylva, who has completely recovered from her late indisposition, will sing again to-night in both "Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana."

"ROSE OF ALGERIA" PLEASES.

Herbert's Tuneful Music and Real Humor in New Version of "Algeria."

"The Rose of Algeria," which is the "Algeria" of last season, disguised by new lines, new jokes, and new actors, opened at the Herald Square Theatre last night. The enthusiasm of the audience was aroused not only by Victor Herbert's music, but by the humor of the speeches and the quality of the acting and singing as well. Many of the songs were encored and re-encored, and the comedians were applauded with sincerity.

Lillian Herlein sang the rôle of Zoradie, last season sung by Ida Brooks Hunt, and "The Rose of the World" song she was compelled to repeat over and over. Ethel Green has the rôle of Millicent Madison, formerly played by Harriet Burt. Eugene Cowles's strong barytone was effective in the songs assigned to the Governor General, the rôle played last year by William Pruette.

Anna Wheaton and Ralph Nairn had the humor of the honeymoon couple to handle, while the two deserters were played by William Gaston and James Diamond. Several of the characters made prominent in the original "Algeria" are omitted in this revised version. Last night Victor Herbert conducted the orchestra, and the greeting given him on his appearance was as hearty as that extended to any of the actors.

"Melting Pot" to Stay at the Comedy.

Walter N. Lawrence's production of "A Citizen's Home" will not be made at the Comedy Theatre, but at another New York house, the name of which Mr. Lawrence has not announced, out of deference to another attraction. Liebler & Co.'s production of "The Melting Pot," now current at the Comedy, is there for some time to come, and seats are on sale for four weeks in advance. Mr. Lawrence's production of "A Citizen's Home" will be his second play this season. He is the producing manager of "The Only Law," put on at the Hackett Theatre in August.

Refuses to Suspend Bayes Injunction.

Counsel for Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth made application yesterday to suspend the operation of the injunction secured by F. Ziegfeld, Jr., last week, pending an appeal. Judge Amend of the Supreme Court refused to grant the application. Mr. Ziegfeld consented to Miss Bayes's and Mr. Norworth's appearance at Hammerstein's yesterday, but insisted that the injunction must issue to-day.

Dippel and Singers Arrive Next Week.

Andreas Dippel, Administrative Director of the Metropolitan Opera House; Geraldine Farrar, Alfred Hertz, and Glenn Hall, the American tenor who is to sing at the Metropolitan this season, will arrive in New York next Monday on the Kronprinz Wilhelm. Herbert Witherspoon will arrive on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. On the Princess Irene from Naples, which arrives on the 28th, are two new conductors for the Metropolitan, Egisto Tango and Vittorio Podesti. Anton Schertel, stage manager, and Kurt Stern, a new stage manager, arrive on the Grosser Kurfuerst on the 27th.

Stricker-Brown Wedding.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Margaret Renwick Brown, daughter of Dr and Mrs. Frederick Tilden Brown, and Hans Carl Stricker of Vienna and New York, whose engagement was announced last Spring. It will take place in October in St. John's Church, Far Rockaway, to be followed by a wedding breakfast in Windward, the Browns's country place in Lawrence.

The bridal couple will be attended by the Misses Janet Adams Kearny, Margery Hamilton Clinton, Evelyn Poor, May Halsted Terry, Dorcas Williams, Edith Stott Williams, and the Messrs. Edward Powis Jones, W. Dudley Carleton, Guy E. Carleton, Frederick Rhinelander Brown, Morris Douw, Ferris E. Throop Geer.

Brewer-Dorman Wedding on Oct. 12.

Announcement is made that the wedding of Miss Maude Loper Dorman, daughter of Joseph R. Dorman of 105 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, and the Rev. Clifton H. Brewer, rector of Trinity Church, Roslyn, will take place on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 12, in the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity, Brooklyn Heights. Bishop Burgess of the Diocese of Long Island, assisted by the Rev. Dr. John Howard Mellish of Holy Trinity, will officiate.

Howard Gould Offers Cup for Best Pig.

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, L. I., Sept. 20.—Preparations are under way here for the sixty-eighth annual fair of the Queens-Nassau Agricultural Society under the supervision of Thomas H. Bacon, General Manager. Howard Gould is offering a silver cup for the best pig of any breed. Congressman W. W. Cocks is offering a cup in the poultry division. R. Dudley Winthrop will display cattle and ex-Assistant District Attorney William J. Young, vegetables.

Dinner to Frederick Crowninshield.

The National Arts Club will give a dinner to-morrow night at its clubhouse, 15 Gramercy Park, to Frederick Crowninshield, President of the Fine Arts Federation, on the eve of his departure to assume charge of the American Academy at Rome. The speakers will be Mayor McClellan, Edwin Blashfield, John W. Alexander, John G. Agar, H. R. Marshall, and H. A. McNeil.

James D. Smith Seriously Ill.

EDWARD P. HATCH, MERCHANT, DEAD

Head of the Dry Goods House of Lord & Taylor for Thirty Years.

REORGANIZED THE OLD FIRM

First Made a Fortune as Agent of Willcox & Gibbs Sewing Machines—Gave Drinking Fountains to Vermont.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Sept. 20.—Edward P. Hatch, for many years President of the dry goods firm of Lord & Taylor, New York, died at the Van Ness Hotel in this city to-day from heart disease, at the age of 77. He had spent the Summer here for the last forty years. He had been in failing health for a number of weeks. He seemed much improved on Sunday, being able to leave his room and chat with friends in the hotel. During the evening, however, he suffered an attack of heart disease, from which he never rallied, and he died at 3:30 this morning.

Edward P. Hatch was born in Norwich, Vt., on July 11, 1832. He was the son of a village physician, Dr. Horace Hatch, whose own father had been one of the pioneers of the town and had helped to clear the forest for his home with his own hands. Edward Hatch himself was the youngest of five children. His only sister, Mary, became the wife of Lucius E. Chittenden, famous for his service as Register of the United States Treasury during the Administration of President Lincoln.

When Edward Hatch was 5 years old his father moved to Burlington and sent him to school. When he was 15 years old he entered a store at a salary of $4 a month, one of his chief duties being the packing of wool. Two years later he came to New York and entered the store of Robinson & Co., on Broadway, as an entry clerk. He stayed there until 1853, when he went to Philadelphia to take charge of the office of the Willcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine Company. Later he returned to this city and established an agency for the company.

He extended the operations of the company to various foreign fields, and in this way amassed a large fortune, so that he left the firm and, for several years, gave up business activities, believing that he had retired for life. In 1879, however, the opportunity came of reorganizing and carrying on the affairs of the house of Lord & Taylor, and Mr. Hatch, as the head of the reorganized firm, entered the world of business again.

Being impressed with the commercial value of the firm's name he retained it, and only a small part of the general public knew whose brain it was that was working behind the old firm name. Until five years ago he carried the firm on alone. Then he organized it into a corporation, capitalized with $2,500,000 preferred and $3,000,000 common stock, he being the President. The death of Mr. Hatch for this reason will in no way interefer with the business, it was said yesterday at the store, 901 Broadway. The Vice President of the company is George E. Beers, the Treasurer is E. H. Titus, and the Secretary is J. H. Emery.

Mr. Hatch's wife, who was a Miss Elizabeth Hight of Hightstown, N. J., died two years ago. He leaves a son, Edward Hatch, Jr., Chairman of the Merchants' Association's Committee on Purification of Waterways, and a daughter, Miss Cornelia C. Hatch. Many years ago Mr. Hatch purchased Red Rocks, a splendidly wooded estate on Lake Champlain, south of Burlington. He constructed a permanent stone road for many miles near Mallett's Bay. Along the road he set many drinking fountains. His interest in making improvements of this kind throughout Vermont continued to the time of his death. His body will be buried near Lake Champlain.

The Rev. Arthur Lawrence.

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 20.—The Rev. Arthur Lawrence, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church here for thirty-seven years and one of the best-known clergymen in Western Massachusetts, died to-day at the age of 67 years. He was a member of the American Geographical Society, the Massachusetts Military Historical Society, the Harvard Club of New York, and the Union Club of Boston. He left a widow.

BISHOP SETH WARD DEAD.

Stricken on Inspection Tour of Methodist Missions of Japan.

TOKIO, Sept. 20.—Bishop Seth Ward of the Methodist Episcopal Church South died this afternoon. The Bishop arrived in Kobe last month on his regular tour of inspection of the Methodist missions of Japan, and he was taken ill shortly after his arrival. Last week he was reported as gradually sinking, and the fatal termination of his illness was not unexpected.

Bishop Seth Ward was born in Leon County, Texas, on Nov. 26, 1838. He was ordained to the ministry at the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1881, anad in 1902 became Assistant Mission Secretary of the same institution. He previously held pastorates throughout the State of Texas. He resigned his position at the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1906, in which year he was elected Bishop.

WILL L. THOMPSON DEAD.

Sacred-Song Writer and Music Publisher Was 62 Years Old.

Will L. Thompson, the sacred-song writer, died yesterday morning in the Presbyterian Hospital from pneumonia. He was ill when he returned two weeks ago from a trip to Europe, and was taken from the steamer to the hospital. His home was in East Liverpool, Ohio, where he was a music publisher.

Mr. Thompson was born in Beaver County, Pennsylvania, on Nov. 7, 1847. He received his musical education in the Boston Music School and the Boston Conservatory of Music. He also took a course at the Leipsic Conservatory. Mr. Thompson began to write songs in 1870. He was a contributor to almost every hymnal and gospel song collection published in America. He is survived by a widow and a son, 12 years old.

Obituary Notes.

ABRAM W. COLTON, 75 years old, for many years President and Manager of the Lake Erie Transportation Company, died suddenly yesterday in Toledo, Ohio. Mr. Colton was born in Erie County, Ohio, in 1834. After being graduated from the public school he became a clerk in a dry goods store in Monroe. Two years later he moved to Toledo, where for years he was employed by railroads and other transportation companies. In 1874 he was made manager of the Wabash Railway's freight vessels plying between Toledo and Buffalo. A few years later, in conjunction with several Toledo financiers, he organized the Erie Transportation Company, of which he had ever since been the head.

Dr. BENJAMIN FRANCIS CABELL, for many years President of Potter College, Bowling Green, Ky., died suddenly there yesterday. Dr. Cabell was born in Campbellsville, Ky., on June 6, 1850. He was graduated from the Wesleyan University at Delaware, Ohio, in 1873. Two years later he was appointed Professor in Warren College, (now Ogden College,) at Bowling Green, Ky. He was elected President of the Cedar Bluff College in Warren County, Ky., in 1877, and served in that capacity until 1889, when he was made President of Potter College.

LIPPMAN WOLFF, who had been engaged in the clothing business for twenty-five years on lower Fulton Street, Brooklyn, died on Sunday at his home, 7 Willow Street, that borough, from cancer. He was 59 years old. He was a Mason and a member of the Montauk Council, R. A. He left a widow, three daughters, and five sons.

JOSEPH JACOBSON, a retired hat manufacturer, died at his home, 640 Kosciusko Street, Brooklyn, on Saturday from Bright's disease. He was born in Germany on Feb. 25, 1832. A widow and two daughters survive him.

ALLAN COWIE SMITH, a retired member of the firm of Henderson Brothers, steamship agents, of Manhattan, died at his home, 94 Second Place, Brooklyn on Sunday. He was born in Scotland sixty-two years ago. He left a widow and five sons.

SAMUEL LEAHY, formerly manager of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company's business in this city, died at his home, 116 Vanderbilt Avenue, Brooklyn, on Friday. He was 83 years old and unmarried.

Dr. LEONARD PEARSON, Dean of the Veterinary Department of the University of Pennsylvania, and State Veterinarian of Pennsylvania, is dead at Spruce Brook, Newfoundland. Dr. Pearson broke down from overwork and about six weeks ago went to Newfoundland hoping that a rest would restore him to health. Dr. Pearson was born in Indiana in 1868 and was graduated from the Agricultural School of Cornell University in 1888.

I. P. GOLDY, one of the pioneer conductors on the Pennsylvania Railroad between Philadelphia and Long Branch, N. J., died suddenly in Long Branch yesterday. He was 73 years old and a native of Burlington County. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Long Branch, and Past Master of Pemberton Masonic Lodge.

Prof. W. C. STEVENSON, until recently head of the Department of Commerce and Finance of the James Millikin University, and a former President of the National Commercial Teachers' Association, died on Sunday in Decatur, Ill.

HENRY D. KERNAGHAN, a prominent resident of Bayonne, N. J., died yesterday at his home, 115 Avenue C, aged 65 years. He had served as a member of the Town Council for six years, as secretary for Mayors Egbert Seymour and Thomas Brady, Chief of the volunteer fire department, and Superintendent of the fire and police signal system. He left a widow and four daughters.

SAMUEL F. CLARKSON, who had been connected with Henry A. Caesar & Co., silk importers, of 20 Greene Street, died yesterday at his home, 261 South Fifth Street, Williamsburg, from Bright's disease. He had been in ill health for over a year. Mr. Clarkson was born in Brooklyn sixty-eight years ago and had lived there all his life. He was a member of the Manitou 106, F. and A. M., the Ancient Scottish Rights, the Mecca Temple Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, the Charles H. Burtis Post of the G. A. R., and the New York Press Veterans' Association. Mr. Clarkson served for three years in the civil war, enlisting in 1861 with the Thirty-seventh New York Volunteers. He left a widow and two sons, Samuel G. and Willard A. Clarkson.

Marriage and death notices intended for insertion in the New York Times may be telephoned to 1000 Bryant.

ORTH'S 'COME BACK' A ROUT

Veteran Pitcher Knocked Out of Box—Manning Comes to Rescue and Saves the Game—Two Players Hurt.

Heavy batting on one side and erroneous play on the other enabled the Yankees on the Hilltop yesterday to win by a score of 9 to 4, thus capturing the four-game series from the Naps. McGuire's Mistakes, as the one-time Larry's Larrupers justly may be called in view of their recent work, made an exceedingly poor showing in all the games except the first, which New York got by a close margin.

Orth and Doane started that fourth game; Manning and Joss finished it. Smiling Al was in the box for the first time since his return to the Hilltop. He was all right for a couple of rounds, but in the third it became apparent he would need another game or two to regain his old stride. The Cleveland youngster went five innings and was taken out too late. Had Manager Jim benched him when the Forest City outfit was within one of a tie, the visitors might have broken New York's chain of victories.

The Yankees scored the game's first two runs on Keeler's diamond safety with one down; Chase's single through short that sent Wee Willie to third, Prince Hal making second on the throw, and Engle's hit to right that brought both Willie and Hal under the wire. Lajoie, in the second, got a two-bagger to left. He went to third on Stovall's out, but that was as far as his mates could send him. The big fellow looked most disconsolate as he stood so near and yet so far, gazing wistfully at the plate.

In the same chapter the Hilltoppers swelled their total by three runs. Austin's foul was caught, but Kleinow tripled to right, and on Lajoie's wild throw to the plate in fielding Orth's grounder Honest Jack counted. Smiling Al taking first on the choice. Orth gained third on Hemphill's single to right, Charlie going to the far turn on the throw-in. Al scored because Keeler doubled sharply to left, but Hemphill waited too long to see whether Willie was flying out, so he made only third on the two-sacker. A sacrifice line fly by Chase brought Charlie home. Keeler went to third when Engle got a life on Stovall's muff of Stark's assist. Then Gardner died from the box to the bag, ending the round.

The Naps rallied in the third and rolled up four runs on Orth. Clarke went to first on called balls and to second on Doane's single. Netcel flied to Austin, but both runners advanced on Goode's hit. With the bases full Hinchman dropped a Texas Leaguer behind second, Clarke scoring. Doane and Goode got in on Lajoie's single to left. Stovall was safe on a choice because Hinchman was thrown out at the plate by Elberfeld, Larry making third on the play. Lajoie crossed the plate on Birmingham's single to right, following Stovall's steal of second. Stovall went to third on Birmingham's hit, and when the two tried to work a double steal the forward runner was caught at the home base, Kleinow to Gardner to Kleinow.

New York's half of the third was runless. Manning supplanted Orth for the fourth, and Sweeney took Kleinow's place when a foul tip hurt Jack's finger. Walter's work kept Cleveland from the scoreboard for the remainder of the game, but the Yankees did not rest on their laurels. Instead, Stallings's boys tallied twice in the fifth on singles by Engle and Gardner, Goode's fumble of Clyde's hit, Elberfeld's out at first, and Austin's single over second. Jimmy was caught stealing, and Sweeney, after a good hit to right, was forced by Manning.

Joss went in for the local half of the sixth, but he couldn't hold the Toppers. In the seventh round they got a run at his expense on Elberfeld's double with one down, the Kid's steal of third, and Austin's sacrifice fly. Elberfeld injured himself sliding for third in that steal and Knight took his place, finishing the run. In the eighth inning the Yankees achieved their ninth tally through Hemphill's one-bagger, Keeler's out, and Netcel's wild throw that put Chase on second and let Charlie in. The score:

They fly to-day!

8208 pairs of socks—a special value imported for a special sale.

"Silk-lisle," which though of course not silk at all, is mighty soft and silky.

Black, tan and five other solid colors.

We might add that a previous shipment of 5900 pairs of these same socks flew out in one day.

20c. a pair.

Regular 50c. quality, 20c. a pair.

Just a hint; that the best tailors are showing a good sprinkling of Scotch and Scotchy looking fabrics for early Fall suits.

Here too, of course, with the added advantage of seeing how they look in the suit.

Though we have quantities of other Derbies up to $6, including the "Stetson Special," at $5, we believe there is no one of them that will wear a bit better than our own $3 Derby we've sold so many years.

When you pay more you pay for quality, and with us you get what you pay for.

The "Double-Shoe" season is here again.

The waterproof walking shoe made throughout of double thickness of waterproofed leather.

Boston Takes Last Game of Series.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 20.—The locals secured an even break in the series by winning from Chicago to-day, 6 to 5. With Boston one run behind in the eighth inning, Lord reached first by being hit, and immediately made clean steals of second and third. He scored on Speaker's hit and another single, and an out decided the game. The score:

CUBS WIN AND SPLIT HONORS WITH GIANTS

MARQUARD FAILS AGAIN

Manager McGraw Tries Out New Recruit from South, Who Allows No Hits in Three Innings.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 20.—The Cubs made it an even break with the Giants on the season's series to-day by winning by the score of 3 to 2, the play-off of Sunday's fourteen-inning tie game. The expected battle between Brown and Mathewson did not come off because Manager McGraw attempted to demonstrate that Marquard was worth at least part of that $11,000 alleged to have been paid for him last Fall by sending him back at the Cubs despite his poor showing in the first inning of the day before.

Brown started pitching, but found there was a kink in his elbow before he had gone far, and although he was hit for only one safety in four innings, thought it would be better to work that kink out in practice instead of in a close game, at the risk of putting his arm out of commission for several weeks.

Pfiester hustled gleefully into the breach because he loves to pitch against the Giants and would have continued Brown's whitewashing job all right, but for an error by Evers, which accounted for New York's two runs in the seventh.

Marquard started like a whirlwind, striking out Sheckard and Schulte in the first inning and hardly pitching a ball that was not over the plate. But in the next round a hit and some "messed" bunts scored one run, a couple of hits scored another in the fourth, and a pass and another hit made the winner in the fifth, whereupon McGraw decided to try out a recruit of the name of Klawitter. This Milwaukee boy from the Shreveport (La.) Club, looked like a pitcher, for he did not allow a hit and was not a bit disturbed by a pair of errors behind him. Moreover he performed the classy feat of catching New York's particular bete noir, Johnny Evers, off first base.

In four innings only two Giants reached first off Brown. Pfeister blanked the Giants in the fifth and sixth, but they got to him for two hits in the seventh, and with the help of a fumble and a pass might have upset the game, but for a brilliant throw by Hofman, which stopped a runner at third trying to go over on a hit. One was out when McCormick singled. Murray was passed and Devlin hit to Evers, who tried to start a double play too soon and juggled the ball in his eagerness until every one was safe. That filled the sacks with one down. Bridwell flied to Hofman, who shot the ball home so fast that McCormick had no chance to score from third, and wisely contented himself with a bluff. Merkle tried to feed his grudge against the Cubs by swatting a single to centre. McCormick and Murray scored, but Devlin was nailed at third by Hofman's accurate throw, retiring the side. The score:

Tenney Denies He Has Quit the Game.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 20.—Fred Tenney, the Giants' first baseman, arrived at his home in Winthrop, Mass., to-night, coming directly from Chicago, where he left the team. Tenney denied the story that followed him from Chicago to the effect that he had decided to quit baseball for good. He said that his leg had been bothering him again, and that after a conference with Manager McGraw both thought it best that he should give up the game for the rest of the season. As there is no possibility for New York to figure in the race for the flag, the dicision was a natural one. Tenney will rest up at his Winthrop home, where he will spend the Winter, until the team starts South. He will be in line at the beginning of next season, and will undoubtedly hold down first base for the Giants next year.

ATHLETICS NEAR TIGERS.

Win Again from Champions—Cobb Spikes Barry Accidentally.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—Philadelphia defeated Detroit to-day in the final game of the series, making three victories for the former to one for Detroit. The score was 4 to 3. It was the fourteenth victory for Philadelphia in the twenty-two games played with Detroit this season.

The game to-day was intensely exciting from start to finish, more than 29,000 persons cheering themselves hoarse at the many exciting incidents. Barry of Philadelphia was spiked on the leg between the knee and the ankle by Cobb of Detroit, who attempted to slide into second base. Barry had four stitches taken in the wound and was taken to his home. The club's physician declared that it is probable that Barry will be out of the game for the remainder of the season. It was admitted by the home club officials and players that the injuring of Barry was an accident, and no demonstration was made against Cobb, who left the field early in the ninth inning. Cobb denied that he intended to injure Barry when he slid for the base.

The Philadelphia players bunched safe drives with battery misplays by Detroit, while the visiting players also made the majority of their hits count. An error by McInnis, who succeeded Barry at short stop, gave Detroit a chance for a rally, and three of their safe hits were made in the sixth inning, after the side should have been retired, and sent two runs over the plate.

Delehanty had an attack of stomach trouble and was unable to play to-day, O'Leary doing splendid work at second base for Detroit.

Philadelphia scored two runs in the first inning on four balls to Barry, Collins's double, and Baker's single. O'Leary, who received four balls at the start of the third inning, went from first base to third when Barry threw Summers out, the crowd hissing vigorously at O'Loughlin's decision at third base. O'Leary scored on McIntyre's long fly to Heitmuller.

Philadelphia scored another pair of runs in the fourth inning. With one out, Baker singled and took third on Davis's single, the latter keeping on to second when Moriarty dropped the throw to third base. A passed ball scored Baker and moved Davis to third base, the latter scoring on Murphy's single. With one out in the sixth inning, McInnis fumbled McIntyre's grounder and Bush fanned. Cobb singled to right and Crawford beat out a grounder, which glanced off Plank's glove, filling the bases. Moriarty singled to left, scoring McIntyre and Cobb, but the rally ended when Stanage flied to Collins.

Detroit went out in order in the last three innings, Crawford starting the ninth with a single, but being doubled up when Stanage sent a grounder to Collins.

The total attendance for the four games of the present series was 117,208. The score:

EFFENDI WINS ON FOUL AT THE FINISH

Disqualification of Emperor William Puts Previous Colt First in Handicap.

FULFILL'S FILLY SPRINT

The Pippin First with Three Horses Heads Apart in the Mares' Handicap at the Gravesend Track.

Precedent at the Gravesend track was shaken yesterday when in a decision that compelled a disqualification Effendi was placed first in the handicap for three-year-olds at a mile and a sixteenth. There is question whether Effendi was even second best horse, but the best and the first horse past the post, Emperor William, was so plainly at fault when, 30 yards from the end, he threw Mary Davis, the favorite, on the fence, that the stewards at Gravesend simply could not overlook the foul.

The rules of racing make such elastic provision for the punishment of foul riding that the rules are interpreted in go-as-you-please style at the several metropolitan tracks, and it long has been a Gravesend custom to let foul riders take care of themselves, but with Philip J. Dwyer himself in the stewards' stand the change was made from Emperor William to Effendi, in a decision that was as pleasing as it was surprising to the crowd.

The race that Effendi got was by long odds the best of the Gravesend programme yesterday. With seven runners the filly Mary Davis was made an odds-on favorite, while both Effendi and Emperor William started at long prices. Effendi was but little backed, but there was support for Emperor William that indicated plainly that some persons confidently anticipated the singular improvement the colt, a 60 to 1 chance in his two earlier starts here, showed in the race.

The barrier rose with Effendi and Mary Davis the first two away, racing out for the track, but with both tiptoed from the start, the long-chance Emperor William sprinting past them in the run around the paddock turn and going out to a commanding lead on the back stretch. The crowd watched hopefully to see him fade away and go back into the crowd, but Emperor William raced steadily on and, running decidedly the best horse, had the race won, when close on the post, McIntyre, his rider, let him swerve to the rail, throwing Mary Davis against the fence, while the Emperor, quickly straightening out, came on and won easily by three lengths. Mary Davis, too, recovered, and went on in a fight with Effendi for second place, the colt beating her a nose on the post. The riders of the first three horses were called up by the stewards, and after a long delay the race was taken from Emperor William, owned by B. Schreiber, and the other horses placed up in the order of the finish.

One other race with a thrill in it was the first event on the card, a sprint for fillies two years old, with Fair Louise, the favorite at odds on and Greenvale, from the Whitney stable, a warm second choice in a field of four. On all sides the race was supposed to be between Fair Louis and Greenvale, but after Greenvale led off the stout filly Fulfill, recently claimed from S. W. Streett out of a selling race, bounced out after the leader and, taking the track from her in the run to the turn, led to the end, winning hustled out before Greenvale, with Fair Louise a close third.

In the handicap for mares, with six starters, and Rose Queen top weight and an overwhelming favorite, Rose Queen took her 125 pounds out racing with Florimel, carrying 23 pounds less, the pair hanging together, neck and neck, until both stopped, The Pippin, St. Jeanne, and Rubia Granda then closing and fighting out toegther heads apart in the order named, The Pippin winning by a nose. Intrinsic ran off with the last race. Summaries:

Directors of Club Decide Not to Hold Any Contests for a While.

Boxing bouts at the Fairmont Athletic Club have been indefinitely postponed, and it is probable that all the athletic clubs, in Manhattan at least, will remain closed for some time. The Board of Directors of the Fairmont A. C., in view of Gov. Hughes's action in preventing the proposed bout between Sam Langford and Stanley Ketchel last Friday night, will make no further attempt to antagonize the police authorities. This was decided at a special meeting of the board, and the particulars of that meeting have been submitted to the club's attorney, and any further action will be at his suggestion.

Notwithstanding the attitude of District Attorney Jerome and Police Commissioner Baker, President Gibson and the club officials still believe they are within their legal rights in holding boxing bouts for members and hope to resume the weekly entertainments within a month.

Several of the other local clubs have announced the same action, and things in the boxing line for the next few weeks will be very dull.

The Fairmont A. C. lost considerable money through the failure to bring off the Ketchel-Langford fight. Several members who secured reservations and forwarded their assessment have failed to send for their money. A number of the addresses of these members are unobtainable, and President Gibson is anxious to have the matter cleared up. He wishes those members whose assessment has not yet been returned to write at once to the Treasurer or Secretary of the Fairmont A. C.

Jeffries Took Off Weight at Carlsbad.

PARIS, Sept. 20.—James J. Jeffries has arrived here from Carlsbad, where, according to sporting newspapers, he has been taking the cure to reduce his weight for his scheduled fight with Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship of the world. It is said here that this contest will take place either in America or Australia, and that the purse is to be $50,000.

TO TEACH YOUNG MEN HOW TO BE JANITORS

New Course Added to Children's Aid Society Night School Curriculum.

NEW OFFICE BOY CLASS, TOO

Old Five Points House of Industry Building Utilized—Girls' Classes in Typing and Stenography.

Having trained a class of seventy east-side youngsters last year to be efficient as well as humane office boys, the Children's Aid Society, boldened by its success, has planned for its new session, which opens on Oct. 1, not only an additional class in the art and science of being an office boy, but also two classes in the art and science of being a janitor.

It is said that the society was spurred on to this last step only by the next to impossible achievement of the discovery of the north pole. If the instruction of janitors proves successful, correspondence classes may be established, and janitors all over the country may be brought to a higher knowledge of the humanities. The new janitorial students will be drawn from the negroes of the upper west side and the Italians of the lower east side.

C. A. Prosser, the new School Superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, said yesterday that prominent Italians were alarmed at the drift of the younger generation. The younger Italians are not taking as kindly to the more useful occupations as they should, the Children's Aid Society thinks. Pushcart peddling and barbering the society doesn't consider desirable trades.

The merging of the Italian Evening Industrial School, at 156 Leonard Street, with the Five Points House of Industry, at 155 Worth Street, last Spring has given into the management of the society the big Worth Street building. It has been remodeled and supplied with additional equipment, and now is ample for the needs of a large school and neighborhood house. It is situated in a section thickly settled with Italians, among whom the Children's Aid Society is planning to do much good work.

The class in the art and science of janitoring will meet in the evenings several times a week. No educational requirements will be made, and there will be no tuition fees. The instructors will try to get encouraging noticeable results in a short time. They will teach the students how to repair a boiler, how to plug up a leak, how to do elementary plumbing jobs, how in general to do all the things that a jewel of a janitor should do every day; in addition they will also give lessons in kindly manners, sanitation and hygiene.

Diplomas and certificates will be issued to the students who respond satisfactorily to instruction. Those embryo janitors who show that they are of the kind to whom a timid housewife in a flat would not fear to report lack of heat or hot water will be graduated cum laude.

Also in the Worth Street building there will be evening classes in the art and science of being an office boy, built on the model of the course given last year in the society's East Sixth Street school, where the same course will be repeated this season. The boys will also be taught electrical work, plumbing, sign painting, and type setting. A small school paper will be issued by the boys.

For the girls in the Worth Street building there will be classes in stenography and typewriting, novelty work, with power sewing machines, and the like. The Italian business men have complained, said Mr. Prosser yesterday, that they have not been able to supply their demand for stenographers able to take dictation in Italian. These secretaries they must have, they say, to look after their foreign correspondence. These typists will be taught to write in both English and Italian.

The auditorium of the building, which will hold 500 people, and is provided with a pipe organ, will be used every night as a place of entertainment and instruction for the Italians of the neighborhood. A number of popular lectures and musical entertainments have already been arranged for.

At the Henrietta School, in West Sixty-eighth Street, which looks to the negroes of the San Juan Hill section for its students, the society will have classes in janitoring, in cooking, and in general housework. The City and Suburban Homes Company, behind which stands an organization for the improvement of the condition of negroes, has arranged to employ a large number of the janitorial students turned out by the Henrietta School.

At this school there will be a class in elementary restaurant cooking for young negroes. Mr. Prosser said yesterday that there is a big demand for young negro cooks in the more moderate priced restaurants. In an evening class youthful students who would know how to cook pork and beans, "wheats," Irish stew, ham and eggs, and cup custard will be taught to do it quickly.

The negro girls of the neighborhood, who without special training usually become poorly paid laundresses and house cleaners, will be taught how to cook, to launder well, and to look after a house.

But the society, having taught its pupils how to be useful, will not drop them there. An employment bureau is to be established at the headquarters of the organization at 105 East Twenty-second Street, where efforts will be made to place in good positions students fit to fill them. Most of this class of work of the society will be undertaken in the evening classes.

The fifteen regular day schools of the society, which last year accommodated 12,639 pupils, all of the first four grades, will be continued this session, the prospects being that the enrollment will be larger than last year.

For the so-called defectives among school children, for whom the regular public schools find it hard to provide adequate instruction, two additional classes have been planned for the coming session—one at the East Sixth Street School and the other at the Rhinelander School in East Eighty-eighth Street.

GEORGE GANO'S STAKE.

Pacer, Undefeated This Year, Wins Feature Race at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 20.—George Gano, a pacer that has not been beaten on the Grand Circuit this year, to-day showed himself superior to any rival in the field of Board of Trade Stake starters, and won in stright heats. His time in the first heat, 2:04¼, equaled the record he made in July at Detroit. Gano was barred in auction pooling.

The Bo'sun, first choice for the Hotel Hartman pacing stake, made a fight for the first heat, but was unable to get to Greatest Line in the stretch. He had more speed in the second mile and won handily in 2:05¾. He took the third heat without much trouble, though having to step the first half in 1:01½ to keep clear of Annabel Lee.

T. W. Murphy, driver of George Gano, had out the winner of the 2:10 trot in Inner Guard, who did a third mile in 2:06½. Ruby Clay was really the favorite in this race, but broke going away in each of the first two heats. In the second one she steadied and became the contender by showing two-minute speed on the back stretch. This clip left her without finishing power.

MUST AMEND AUTO RULE.

Vanderbilt Entry Blanks Held Up Until Change in Code Is Made.

There has been some speculation on the part of manufacturers and dealers as to why the issuance of entry blanks for the Vanderbilt Cup race had been delayed. It was learned yesterday that the cause for delay was due to the fact that the American Automobile Association has not yet given its sanction for the holding of the great annual classic.

The granting of a sanction has been held up because there is a rule specifying that the entrance fee shall not exceed 10 per cent. of the actual value of the prize to be raced for. The American Automobile Association will, of course, make a special ruling in the Vanderbilt Cup event, but it was owing to the existing rule that the application for a sanction was not immediately acted upon.

The entrance fee for the Vanderbilt race will be $300. The Vanderbilt Cup is not worth ten times this amount. Thus it will be necessary for the association to amend the rule, and this will probably be done within the next few days, so that entry blanks can be issued by next Saturday.

It is announced that thirty-five or more cars will start in the race, which is scheduled to take place on Oct. 30.

The American Automobile Association will probably make an amendment to its rules so as to remove from the 10 per cent. class such races as the Vanderbilt, the Grand Prize, the Briarcliff, the Crown Point, the Lowell, and the Savannah events.

Active training preparations for the international twenty-four-hour automobile speed contest on the Brighton Beach Motordrome on Friday and Saturday next began in earnest yesterday, when half of the entered cars appeared on the resurfaced speedway. These included both Lozier "Sixes," with Mulford and Cobe handling one and Seymour and Patschke the other; Ralph De Palma, in the Italian Fiat, and Charles Basle, in the French Renault.

Exceedingly fast work in practice for the race was reported yesterday from Riverhead, L. I., where the Rainier car that finished second in the last two races was driven by Louis Disbrow over the Riverhead Road course at a rate of eighty miles an hour. This car has been lightened by 212 pounds for the contest, most of it due to substitution of a smaller gasoline tank than was before employed. John T. Rainier, who after the last race had announced that, owing to the danger, his car would not again be entered in another twenty-four-hour race, gave out yesterday his reasons for again appearing in competition. He said that he is now satisfied that all dangerous conditions have been overcome and that both the track surface and the lighting are so nearly perfect that the danger of disaster has been reduced to a minimum, and that therefore he re-entered the field.

Harlan W. Whipple has again been selected as referee of the big race, with A. H. Whiting and S. B. Stevens as assistants, while the judges will be E. T. Birdsall, S. M. Butler, and E. H. Broadwell. Charles J. Dieges will be chief timer and J. E. De Mar chief scorer. The medical staff, which will be larger, will be in charge of Dr. George W. Bogart, with Dr. David H. Hoar as his chief assistant. The race will be started at 5 o'clock on Friday afternoon, and will conclude the same hour on Saturday afternoon.

ENTRIES FOR SIX-DAY RACE.

Many Strong Teams to be in Motor Cycle Event at Brighton.

One of the most formidable teams yet entered in the six-day motor cycle race that is to be held at the Brighton Beach Motordrome from midnight Sept. 26 to midnight Oct. 2 was announced yesterday by the New York Motor Cycle Club. The club's team will be composed of A. G. Chapple, holder of many motor cycle records; William Robinson, one of the steadiest pluggers in the game, and Billy Wray, who is credited with having ridden the fastest mile ever reeled off by a motor cycle.

There have been a number of other interesting entries. New Jersey will be represented by a team of the Newark Excelsior Club, captained by Stanley Kellogg, the popular trade rider. Kellogg is one of the cleverest men in the business at quick repair work during a contest.

The Concourse Motor Cycle Club will be represented by Restreppe, Heichel, and McClelland, all well known to followers of the two-wheel racers. Frank Daine will manage the team.

John Behn and Jakob Friedligh will represent Brooklyn. Swensen, the "Terrible Swede," is getting up a Providence team, and A. Klein is organizing a team in Philadelphia, the team to use Harley-Davidson machines.

To Pave Indianapolis Speedway.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 19.—Steps toward the improvement of the Indianapolis motor speedway will begin this week, when the work of paving the track with brick will begin. This improvement will be made at an estimated cost of $180,000, and 200 men will immediately be put to work at paving the two-and-a-half-mile course. The main object of paving the speedway is to eliminate dangerous ruts and holes. It is also expected that the track will be made faster. The twenty-four-hour race scheduled for this month will probably not be put on this season. Instead it is planned to hold a series of motor races just previous to the opening of the new speedway at Atlanta, Ga.

Athletics in Marine Corps.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—There is a movement afoot in the Marine Corps at Washington for a broader development in athletics than has heretofore characterized the life of the marine here. Baseball, football, track events, and possibly aqpatics are to be taken up and games arranged with the leading military and naval teams of the country, providing the plan as discussed meets with the approval of those in authority. Should the corps go in for athletics extensively it might be able, it is suggested, to bring the famous West Point-Annapolis football game to Washington at times.

ON THE TENNIS COURTS.

Women lawn tennis players began their matches in the Westchester Club tournament yesterday on the Castle Hill courts. Miss Anne Hamilton of the Hamilton Grange Club scored her first match in three sets at 4—6, 6—2, 6—3, defeating Miss Emily Dietz. Miss Nellie Kieley scored a match against Miss Rachel Eltinge, Hamilton Grange, 6—3, 6—2.

In the men's singles Dr. William Rosenbaum advanced to the semi-final round, defeating the Horace Mann School champion, W. Dickson Cunningham, 2—6, 6—love, 6—2. The summary:

Women's Cup Singles.—First Round—Mrs. Charles Wilbourne defeated Miss A. MacKenzie, 6—0, 6—1.

Second Round—Miss M. Grove defeated Miss Edith Adele Bagg, 6—0, 6—3; Miss Elsie Dietz defeated Miss Madge Kieley, 6—0, 6—0; Mrs. Charles Wilbourne defeated Mrs. Charles Oerder, 8—6, 6—2; Miss Rose Simmons defeated Miss Allda Hamilton, 7—5, 6—2; Miss Nellie Kieley defeated Miss Rachel Eltinge, 6—3, 6—2; Miss Anne Hamilton defeated Miss Emily Dietz, 4—6, 6—2, 6—3.

Men's Cup Singles.—First Round—George S. Groesbeck defeated Dr. E. Alger by default.

Second Round—E. A. Lowther defeated A. Marks, 7—5, 6—1; W. Dickson Cunningham defeated George S. Groesbeck by default; Benjamin M. Phillips defeated A. Hartman, 6—0, 6—2.

Third Round—Dr. William Rosenbaum defeated W. Dickson Cunningham, 2—6, 6—0, 6—2.

Richard Palmer and Harry C. Martin won the men's doubles championship title of the New Jersey State tournament yesterday on the lawn tennis courts of the Morristown Field Club, Morristown, N. J. In four fast sets devoted to volleying they defeated the Princeton pair, George Hhomas and S. Aaleigh, 6—love, 6—3, 1—6, 6J2.

After five sets of fast footing and hard hitting, John W. Hall and William Banks, scratch, won the final of thedoubles handicap tournament yesterday on the courts of the Hamilton Grange Lawn Tennis Club, 149th Street and Convent Avenue. By that strange circumstance rarely witnessed in the game, they scored fewer games than Julio M. Steinacher and George P. Parkeh, minus 40, as the final result was 2—8, love—6, 7—5, 7—5, 8—6. The difference was four games, as the winning pair won a total of 24 to 28 for the losing pair. In the semi-finals Hall and Banks defeated Ernest Miller and C. B. Falls, scratch, 5—7, 8J6, 8—6, while Steinacher and Parkes defeated Arthur M. Lovibond and E. W. Libaire, minus 15, 6—3, 3—6, 6—3.

The women's singles tournament for the Gwyndolyn Rees Cup, offered by the Minnesota State champion, was postponed until to-day, owing to the overcast and cloudy day, as it is wished by Miss Elizabeth H. Moore, Chairman of the tournament, to begin the matches under the best possible conditions.

A. A. U. GETS AFTER THE STAR ATHLETE

BIG CLUBS DO NOT HELP

New Rules Proposed at Annual Meeting of Metropolitan Association—8,986 Athletes on the Roll.

At the annual meeting of the Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union last night, at 415 East Thirteenth Street, the Registration Committee in its report to the organization made statements that some of the big clubs in this section were assisting in carrying out direct violations of the rules in the matter of giving those athletes who demanded it expense money far in excess of what was required, and also allowing some of the athletes to demand "appearance" money. The committee stated that it had done all in its power to stamp out this evil and had taken action in a number of instances, but failed to get the help from many of the clubs which it was natural to expect.

In the section of the report which deals with this matter the committee says:

> It feels that it has not been backed up as it should have been by the officials of some of the clubs or organizations who have been conducting games, whom they believe have winked at or assisted in carrying out direct violations of the rules.
>
> For instance, it has been common report that some of the star athletes have been paid excessive traveling expenses or have demanded and received appearance money, or prizes or orders on jewelry firms for entering games whether they won or lost, and others, it is said, allow themselves to be farmed out by professional trainers, who make the arrangements where they shall appear and how much their expenses shall be; still others, it is claimed, have accounts with jewelry firms, where they receive credit for prizes won until they accumulate, when they close the account in some way or other. The committee has been diligent about this, and has been constantly investigating such matters, and endeavored to stamp out all illegal practices, and has issued warnings as well as asked the hearty co-operation of all of the clubs as well as the press to bring an end to these evils. If such abuses exist it is the fault of the clubs for giving in to such demands, and not furnishing this committee with all the particulars so it could take action.
> The committee has worked without fear or favor, and was able to obtain information which resulted in some athletes resigning from the A. A. U., which saved us the trouble of expelling them for professionalism, and others it declared professionals and cancelled their registration cards.

The discussion of incompetent officials was also entered into, the charge having been made by several clubs that the officials for many of the out-of-town meets were not only incompetent, but were absolutely prejudiced in favor of the home athletes. The committee in this particular suggested that a list of competent officials be made up, and that clubs receiving sanctions for games should be obliged to select from this list. This was put as an amendment to the rules and called forth considerable discussion. James E. Sullivan said in this particular that the organization would be treading on thin ice to put this in force as an absolute rule, but that he believed it would be well to call the attention of the clubs to the suggestion. This he thought would obviate the difficulty.

The growth of the metropolitan district in relation to registered athletes was shown to have been large during the past year. A year ago the organization had enrolled 5,429 names, while the report of this year shows the number to have increased to 8,986.

James E. Sullivan was again elected President of the association, with Frederick W. Rubien, Vice President, and Herman Obertubbessing Secretary and Treasurer. The new Registration Committee will be composed of Herman Obertubbessing, J. J. Hogan, and J. W. Stumpf. Six delegates to the National organization were also elected, the men chosen being Bartow S. Weeks, James E. Sullivan, F. W. Rubien, Herman Obertubbessing, E. T. Hart, and J. W. Stumpf, with W. Rowan, F. Delaney, H. Thompson, J. J. Hogan, J. T. Boyle, and E. T. Gilson as alternates.

The report of the Treasurer showed the association to be in the best of financial condition, with a total on hand of $3,318.86. The receipts for the year were $2,254.56, with disbursements of $1,379.77, which left a gain for the year of $1,019.49. The amount on hand at the time of the last annual report was $2,299.57.

> That a rule should be adopted compelling all athletes to fill out their own entry blank and that all entry blanks with the official handicaps marked thereon should be at the games at which the athletes are competing, arranged alphabetically, so that if any question arises the matter can be looked into and settled right at the games.
>
> That a rule be made which will prohibit games committees from accepting entries for scratch events at the day of the games. We believe that this is unfair, as we have come across cases where athletes, seeing there was a small entry in the novice races, entered and won the race.
> That a rule shall be adopted by the Amateur Athletic Union that an athlete who has been registered and desires to renew same, be required to fill out a new application, as the committee has found some cases where professionals endeavor to obtain cards by sending in their old registration card.
>
> That rules be adopted that it is against the spirit of amateurism for a registered athlete to have a manager through whom arrangements must be made for his appearance at games, and that some fixed rule should be adopted what an athlete's expenses shall consist of, and that arrangements cannot be made through a professional coach.
>
> Sanctions.—Requests have been made from time to time to this committee to grant free sanctions to various charities. Some of these have been very worthy, for instance one of our public-spirited newspapers got up a benefit for the newsboys; they applied to the committee for a free sanction, which the committee could not grant them according to the rules. We believe an amendment should be made to the rules which would leave the matter to the discretion of the committee.

"SUB" CAPTAIN FOR YALE.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 20.—Two hours' work was the task of the opening day's football practice at Yale to-day. There was even scrimmaging, and this is most unusual for Yale at the start of the season. The cool weather made possible the long drill, and Head Coach Howard Jones drilled the squad in the longest initial day's work on record.

There were sixty-three men on hand, but an innovation was made in setting the freshmen's squad to work with the regulars. Till this year the class elevens have waited till after the opening of college for the beginning of their practice. There were twenty candidates for the 1912 squad in uniform and forty-three 'Varsity.

It was finally decided to have a temporary Captain to take charge of the team, as it looks now as if it would be a fortnight longer before Captain Ted Coy would return from the hospital. Walter Seth Logan, left end last season, was decided upon by Capt. Coy and Head Coach Jones, and Logan was introduced to the squad this afternoon when work began as their Captain till Coy was able to join them. Logan is a senior and has been Capt. Coy's roommate through their college course. They were together in the Hotchkiss School before they came here. Logan lives in Washington, Conn. He played third base on the 'Varsity nine last year.

George Richardson of Auburn, N. Y., also a senior, was introduced as freshman coach. He has been substitute tackle for two years.

Want Chinaman for Quarter Back.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 20.—Owing to the lack of quarterback material at Harvard, the football coaches have urged Kuo Chi Li, a relative of Yuen Chi Kai, Governor of Chi L iProvince, China, to try for this position on the 'Varsity team. Li has already joined the track squad as a quarter miler. He came to Harvard from Pei Yang University, Tientsin, where he was considered one of the best all-round athletes, being the holder of several Chinese track tecords. He is a senior in the Academic Department, and is preparing for the Consular Service. Le is a prominent clubman at the university, and ranks high in scholarship.

SOUTH FIELD REMODELED.

New Track and Baseball Diamond—Grand Stand Proposed.

After years of waiting Columbia University has at last an athletic field which is worthy of the name. South Field, which has always been used for the development of the University teams, has been remodeled during the Summer so that it is now in condition to give the Blue and White a fair chance to accomplish favorable results which the poor condition of the old field precluded. A new track has been laid out, tennis courts have been installed to add to those already on the field, and there is now a plan whereby a grand stand of ample proportions will be erected.

The poor condition of the field formerly was a greater handicap to the track team of the university than to any other branch of sport, and the failure of the Morningside collegians to accomplish favorable results in this particular has in the main been attributed to this feature. With the new track, which is four laps to the mile instead of ten, as was the case formerly, there will be little excuse for a poor track team. No expense has been spared to make the track all that it should be. It has been constructed sixteen feet wide, with a broken rock foundation and a cinder topping. The straight-away, which was situated at the northwest corner of the old track, has been shifted so that it now starts at the southwest corner, and runs along the southern side.

Bordering the track where the terraces formerly were are now a number of dirt tennis courts, the demand for which has always been greater than the supply. The temporary courts on the south side will still be used until the erection of a grand stand.

Plans have been made so that the new field will not only help the track team, but also the baseball squad which has had to play, as one member of the team said, "among the rocks and goats of a Dykman Street field. The new diamond will be large and roomy and will give ample room for a practice diamond, quite the contrary to the cramped quarters of the old field.

On the south side of the field, now temporarily turned into tennis courts, room has been left for a grand stand. Just when this will be erected is not positively known, though it is confidently expected one will be built in another year. The class of 1900 already has the matter under consideration as a memorial gift in celebration of the decennial anniversary. The work so far done upon the field has been carried on by the contribution of $10,000 by the classes of '84, Mines, and '99, College and Mines, at their respective anniversary celebrations. But this fund has not been found sufficient, and there is an effort on foot to make up the deficit among the alumni, in order that South Field, in the words of one of the Deans, may be "entirely an alumni field."

Big Squad Turns Out at Cornell.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Cornell opened her football season at Percy Field to-day with a big crowd of candidates. When the managers counted them it was found that forty-five men had come out, which is said to be a larger first-day number than at any time in the past nine years. Coaches Walder, O'Rourke, and Hutchinson, who will be here throughout the season, were much pleased with the showing. The squad was not very heavy, but some good material reported. Besides the three regular coaches, who were all members of last year's eleven, Bill Namack, '07, an old centre, has reported, though he did not don a uniform. "Ed" Alexander, '01, is expected this week, and "Joe" Beacham, '97, has announced that he expects to be here by Monday. "Dan" Reed and "Bunny" Larkin are also due next week.

Capt. Tydeman, Leventry, McArthur, and Crosby were the only regulars who were out. Pope, Farrington, Wood, O'Hara, Hoffman, Robb, Puga, and Beavers of last year's squad were also out. Davidson, Baker, Weeks, Gass, and Donan from last year's freshman team reported. Among the new men were Frank O'Rourke, the 185-pound brother of Barney O'Rourke, and Lee Uhl, who played a good game at end on the freshman team several years ago, but did not play last Fall

"My Son Having Failed Completely in his preliminary examinations for college, entered your school, and in one year he covered two regular school years of work as is done at most schools, and not only passed his examinations easily for college, but also with credit to himself and his school."
This extract of a letter from the mother of a recent student is one of a hundred or more, valued by Mr. Groff, showing the high grade of success he has had for twelve years.
THE GROFF SCHOOL
228 West 72d St., New York, is ideal and exceptional as a boarding and day school.
If a boy is bright and wishes to make rapid progress he is not held back by reason of any other boy, or by the old "grade system." If he is timid or nervous, he is encouraged; if he is careless, interest in his studies is secured; if he does not know how to apply himself, he is taught. To this individual method of teaching is due the Groff School's wonderful success, and "success is what talks."
A thoroughly up-to-date commercial course for boys who do not desire to go to college.

INTEREST IN TAFT'S PLANS

Proposed Railroad Legislation Arouses Comment—German Bank Rate and Local Money Market.

As had been anticipated, the unexpectedly favorable showing of the banks in their weekly statement, published after the close of the market on Saturday, encouraged the speculative forces working for higher prices on the Stock Exchange to resume their operations, and to this cause may be ascribed the early advances in yesterday's market. As was the case on Saturday, however, the movement was marked by much irregularity. The largest gains were made by Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, and Reading in the railroad list, and United States Steel and a number of minor industrials in that department of the market. St. Paul, which held the leadership toward the close of last week, was relatively inactive and declined steadily under the pressure of selling, which represented, presumably, the closing out of speculative accounts which had been built up on the expectation of "good news" from the stockholders' meeting in Milwaukee on Saturday after the close of business in Wall Street. The good news in question was expected to be in the nature of the granting of rights incidental to new securities issues, and, having failed to live up to expectations, the Board of Directors of the St. Paul has only itself to thank for the lower prices established for the road's shares by the traders on the Stock Exchange yesterday. The influences at work in the steel situation have been frequently outlined and continue unchanged, while those underlying the activity in Reading and such allied shares as Lehigh Valley and Jersey Central are also thoroughly familiar. In the late afternoon professions of disappointment over Mr. Taft's Des Moines address, containing his proposals for a "railroad court" and various other changes in the inter-State and Sherman laws, were very general in the financial district, and the heavier tone of the stock market was directly traceable to these proposals. The chief objection to the suggested programme seemed to be that the inter-State commerce law itself has not been sufficiently tried out, and that further legislation in railroad affairs, considering the still unsettled conditions created by recent laws on the same subject, is, therefore, undesirable. It is to be remembered, however, that changes of any kind must receive the sanction of Congress, where the "railroad court" idea was once rejected.

While the action of the Directors of the Bank of Germany in advancing the discount rate of that institution to 4 per cent. from the 3½ per cent. figure prevailing since February last was of interest, it has very little direct bearing upon our own money market position. Money at Berlin is invariably higher than at Paris or London, and the rate now fixed cannot be considered high for the German market. The Bank has been losing a good deal of gold to Russia, and a desire to recoup its losses in this direction probably underlies the advance, since business throughout Germany is still in the recuperative stage. The local banks report a gain of $510,000 from the Sub-Treasury since Friday last, as against a loss of $3,234,000 in the same period of a week ago, an interesting development, for the reason that the chief loss to the banks last week was in their transactions with the Government.

THE COFFEE MARKET.

Coffee continued very quiet yesterday, but ruled generally steady, and after opening unchanged to 5 points higher, closed unchanged to 10 points higher. Sales were only 11,750 bags.

Valorization, with the limitation of exports, seems to have offset the effect of the record-breaking movement to Brazilian parts this season. Wet weather in Sao Paulo was supposed to be favorable. Primary markets were both firm and unchanged, and no change was reported in either of the European markets.

Spot coffee was steady; 7⅛c for Rio No. 7.

Total warehouse deliveries in the United States for the week were 154,318 bags, against 91,889 bags last week and 122,581 bags last year; of the former amount New York had 118,211 bags.

Receipts at Rio and Santos for the week totaled 667,000 bags, against 565,000 bags last week, 386,000 bags last year, and 420,000 bags two years ago.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Chicago Subway and Cobalts Divide Interest in an Otherwise Dull Market.

SUBWAY SLUMPS TO 8⅞

Activity in Cobalt Stocks Is Marked with Interest Stimulated by Increased Dividend on Nipissing.

The interest in yesterday's narrow Curb market centred again in the weakness of Chicago Subway, which, after recovering last week to some extent from the low level of 9¾, reached in the first days of the selling movement, dropped yesterday to 8⅞. This drop came after it had sold up to 10½ from the opening at 10. Transactions of 10,200 shares were reported. The copper stocks made a number of small gains, but the volume of business was restricted. Ray Consolidated sold up from 20 to 21, closing at 20¾ after transactions of 4,000. The expectation of an increase in the quarterly dividend on Nipissing was reflected in late strength in this stock, which closed at 12¼, even with Saturday's high price after a recession to 11⅞. The dividend declared late in the afternoon was at the rate of 20 per cent. annually with an extra dividend for the quarter of 2½ per cent. Kerr Lake and La Rose Consolidated were also active and strong.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

St. Paul a Disappointment.

The routine character of the St. Paul stockholders' meeting on Saturday last was a source of considerable disappointment to a very large body of traders on the Stock Exchange who participated in last week's rise in St. Paul on the theory that something favorable would develope at this meeting. There was good buying of St. Paul all last week and in large blocks, but buying by speculators trailing inside purchases accounted for the top points of the rise. A good part of the stocks so bought was for sale yesterday, but it was only taken at rather substantial concessions. This fact hardly helped to re-establish St. Paul as a "speculative favorite," a prophecy often heard while the stock was going up last week. One of the anomalies of the St. Paul position is the fact that the preferred, upon which the 7 per cent. dividend is a certainty, so far as anything connected with railroads can be called a certainty, is selling only 16 points above the common stock, which also pays 7 per cent. The preferred is entitled to share in any disbursements above 7 per cent. on the common, and is also favored with any rights which the common receives.

Taft's Des Moines Speech.

If Mr. Taft had any feeling of mortification because his speeches interested Wall Street much less than those of his predecessor, this is in the way of being removed. His Des Moines speech yesterday, with its recommendation of a court to sit on railroad cases along with other proposals anent the railroads, attracted immediate and widespread notice in the financial community.

New Record in Car Traffic.

Reports made to New York Central traffic officials show that in the first sixteen days of the present month a total of 893,911 loaded cars was handled by the New York Central lines, this being an increase of 144,269 over the same days last year, which, in turn, represented an increase of 55,223 loaded cars over the first sixteen days of September, 1907. Those days in 1907 made up a record for the New York Central lines for the period so that as an indication of the shape of the present revival in business the showing for the first sixteen days of the present month is very significant.

Officials of the Vulcan Detinning Company were drawn into a formal repudiation yesterday of rumors which have been persistently circulated concurrently with the rise in the shares on the Stock Exchange amounting to 6¾ points last week. The position of the company, with the adjudication of heavy damages pending for the use by the American Can Company for three years of a process which the courts have decreed to be its exclusive property, comfortable surplus earnings accumulating and the possibility always on the horizon of an adventageous combination with other manufacturing interests, give ample ammunition for a bull campaign. The action of the officers in repudiating the bullish rumors are directly in line with the course of the American Beet Sugar officials in correcting statements made by market interests some months ago. The Vulcan Detinning officials call the recent rumors about their company which culminated in advertisements printed Sunday "grossly exaggerated and likely to mislead the public." There is no combination contemplated, they say, and state that the determination of the damages to come from patent infringements may be long drawn out and the result problematical. Speaking of current business and the payment of back dividends, the officials say that, while business is somewhat larger than a year ago, what profits will be cannot be determined until the end of the fiscal year, March 1, 1910.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

WHEAT.—Big receipts at Northwest points over Sunday were felt all day yesterday. Another steadying influence in the last half hour was a report that 18 loads had been taken for export. Liverpool closed ⅛ to ½d lower, while Berlin was ⅝c lower and Budapest 1c net higher. All interior markets received about 720,000 bushels less than for the corresponding day last year. Cash wheat in New York was entirely nominal, closing: No. 2 red, $1.08⅞ elevator and $1.10⅞ free on board afloat; No. 1 Northern Duluth, $1.09¼, and No. 2 hard Winter, $1.12⅛ free on board afloat.

CORN.—Fluctuations were narrow yesterday, with the market generally a little lower on favorable weather throughout the Western belt and a decline of ⅛ to ⅝d at Liverpool. Receipts at Chicago were quite moderate, but 400 cars were expected on Tuesday. The movement at all Western points consisted of 676,000 bushels, compared with 565,000 bushels a year ago. There was an increase of 274,000 bushels in the visible supply. Cash corn in New York closed nominal: No. 2 mixed, 78c elevator and 79c delivered; new No. 2 corn, 66⅝c free on board afloat, Winter shipment.

UNITED WIRELESS STOCK SUIT

Brokers Begin Test Action to Enforce Transfer of 100 Shares of Wireless.

A suit has been begun in the Supreme Court by Wolf Brothers & Co., stock brokers, against the United Wireless Telegraph Company, to enforce the latter to accept the transfer of 100 preferred shares in the United Wireless Company from the present holder to David Stern, who has bought the stock. The shares form part of the stock given by the United Company to holders of the American De Forest Company, when the latter was taken over by the United Company over two years ago.

At that time an agreement was made under which the holders of American De Forest stock were bound not to sell their holdings in the new company, which they had received in exchange for their holdings in the American De Forest Company, for a period of two years. That period has now elapsed, and it is asserted that instead of holding to their agreement the Directors of the United Wireless Company recently held a meeting at which the period of inactivity in the exchange of shares was extended a further two years. The present suit is in the nature of a test case.

THE FOREIGN MARKETS.

Happenings of a Day in London, Paris, and Berlin.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Money was plentiful and easier on the market to-day, but discounts were firmer on the expectation of further gold exports. Russia secured the $2,500,000 in gold available to-day at a decline of one penny.

Trading on the Stock Exchange was quiet and uninteresting. The advance in the rate of discount of the Imperial Bank of Germany depressed consols and gilt-edged securities, but copper shares rose steadily under good support, while foreigners and Kaffirs were quietly steady.

American securities opened quiet. The first prices showed irregularity, but later the market strengthened on covering operations, and at noon was firm, with values at ⅛ below to a point above Saturday's New York closing. United States Steel, Union Pacific, and Southern Pacific received the most attention. The improvement was maintained after noon on the good New York bank statement. Later Wall Street bid up the Harriman issues, United States Steel, and Chesapeake & Ohio one point. The rest of the list hardened in sympathy, and the market closed strong.

Bar silver firm at 23⅝d per ounce.

Money, ½@¾ per cent. Rate of discount in the open market, for short bills, 1½@1⅝ per cent.; for three months' bills, 1⅝@1¾ per cent.

PARIS, Sept. 20.—Prices on the Bourse to-day were firm.

Exchange on London, 25f 14c for checks.

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—Prices on the Boerse to-day were firm, being unaffected by the increased bank rate. American securities were higher.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Monday.

Bidding for stocks on the Consolidated Stock Exchange was brisk most of the day. In the closing dealings, however, selling to secure profits on the long side, together with the putting out of short lines by many of the floor traders, resulted in the market exhibiting relative softness, compared with prices on the New York Stock Exchange. Early in the day Union Pacific sold to the extent of several hundred shares at 207⅝ and 207¾, compared with a high price on the other Exchange of 207½. Southern Pacific failed to sell below 131, against 130⅝. United States Steel common led all other issues in volume. It touched a high of 84⅞, against 84¾. A total business for all issues of 104,690 shares was distributed among sixty different stocks.

PATTEN IN COTTON MARKET?

Staple Makes a New Record Price of 13 Cents on Exchange Here.

Coupled with yesterday's rise in cotton, in which the May option went to a new record price at 13 cents, some speculators saw significance in the expected arrival of James A. Patten in New York to-day.

It was common talk in cotton circles yesterday that Mr. Patten, whose bull speculations in grain last Spring were spectacularly successful, intends to take a share in the cotton market here. Theodore Price, according to his published estimates of this year's cotton crop, does not share in the general pessimism. Without his leadership a number of bull combinations are operating in the present market whose combined holdings are variously estimated at from 750,000 to 1,250,000 bales.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—After a fairly active and strong opening the copper shares became quiet, losing a fraction in some places and gaining a fraction in others. United States Smelting was the particular feature of strength, advancing to 58½, a new high record for the stock. Among other active issues were North Butte, Lake Copper, Superior & Boston, and Nipissing. The market closed strong at a fractional rally all around.

FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The Daily Consular and Trade Reports for to-morrow show the following foreign trade opportunities abroad. Further information regarding these can be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Manufactures, care of the Department of Commerce and Labor, Washington, D. C., giving the number of the item referred to:

3,893. PANAMA CANAL SUPPLIES.—Sealed proposals, in triplicate, will be received at the office of the general purchasing officer of the Isthmian Canal Commission, Washington, until Oct. 4 for furnishing the following supplies: Locomotive tires, sheaves, racket wheels, pinions, wire netting, canvas belting, writing, tracing, and carbon paper, notebooks, calendar pads, shipping tags, crayons, ink, lumber, piles, &c.

3,894. AMERICAN SHOES FOR ENGLAND.—An American Consul in the United Kingdom has forwarded copies of letters received from business men in his district expressing a desire to get into immediate communication with American shoe manufacturers who are seeking to place their goods on the English market.

3,895. SHEARING MACHINES AND WOOL HANDLING DEVICES.—A report has been received from an American Consular officer in Canada concerning the formation of a company in his district with a capital stock of $100,000, the principal business of which will be the marketing of sheep and wool. It is proposed to operate a sheep ranch accommodating 100 head of sheep, and the Consular officer suggests that manufacturers of shearing machines and wool handling devices get in touch with the company, the name of which is given in the report.

3,896. AGENCY FOR BLASTING SUPPLIES.—An inquiry has been received at an American Consulate in the Far East from a local business man who is energetic and well acquainted with the needs of the region regarding the possibility of securing the agency for American manufactured explosives, and other blasting supplies, such as fuses, percussion caps, &c. The report states that the man in question can guarantee to any American firm offering him its agency the contract for supplying blasting supplies to certain local mines, and that he is in excellent position to secure contracts from the many other mines in the surrounding territory.

3,897. AGENCY FOR SHOE LEATHER.—A New York firm of export agents and general forwarders writes that one of its clients in Russia engaged in the import business desires to secure the agency of American manufacturers of shoe leather.

3,898. PEA SEED.—A request has been made at an American Consulate in Canada from a local business house for a list of American dealers and exporters of pea seed.

3,899. DEMAND FOR SLOT MACHINES.—A report has been received from an American Consular officer in the Far East furnishing the name of a local concern that is desirous of securing a supply of slot machines of the weight-giving, fortune-telling, and music-vending varieties and combinations.

3,900. TENDERS FOR A DAM ON THE KIPAWA RIVER.—Consul General William Harrison Bradley of Montreal reports that he has information to the effect that tenders are asked by the Department of Public Works at Ottawa for the construction of a dam in the County of Pontiac, Province of Quebec. Bids will be received until Oct. 7, 1909.

3,901. OPPORTUNITY FOR INTRODUCTION OF AMERICAN SUGAR-MAKING MACHINERY.—An American Consul in Latin-America reports that a local business man contemplates the installation of sugar-making machinery in an extensive sugar plant that he proposes to erect within a short time in his district. The Consul states that the sugar planters in that section will give preference to machinery of American make, all things being equal. As sugar planting in that region is in its infancy and eventually will assume considerable proportions, the Consul suggests that the present is an opportune time for American firms to introduce their machinery.

Nipissing Dividend Increased.

The Directors of the Nipissing Mines Company declared a quarterly dividend yesterday of 5 per cent., with 2½ per cent. extra, payable Oct. 20 to stockholders of record Sept. 30. Since the first of the year the dividend has been at the rate of 3 per cent. annually with 2½ per cent. extra each quarter.

BROKERS OFFER TO SETTLE.

Freeman, Rollins & Co. Submit Plan to Pay 60 Per Cent. on Claims.

The Stock Exchange house of Freeman, Rollins & Co., which failed last month, has sent out a plan of settlement to the creditors, offering 60 per cent. of the face value of claims, of which 40 per cent. is to be paid in cash and 20 per cent. in notes signed by the firm and indorsed by Harry F. Curtis.

The notes are to bear 6 per cent. interest, and are secured by miscellaneous collateral consisting of a number of inactive stocks and real estate, in addition to a life insurance policy upon the life of Mr. Curtis, who was one of the firm's principal debtors.

Counsel for the firm said yesterday that the plan had not been out long enough to give any idea of what portion of the creditors would accede to its terms.

TRADING IN BALTIMORE.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20.—Northern Central was again sold up to 108½, an advance of a full point over Saturday's price and ½ above the best on the present movement. United Railways stock gained ¼. THE COTTON MARKET.

Booms on Storm News and Trade Rumors—Closes 15 to 22 Points Up.

Cotton reached the 13-cent level, which has been talked of since early in July, on May contracts yesterday amid active and excited buying for both accounts. Reports from New Orleans that the Gulf storm was entering the interior with high winds and driving rains had much effect. Prices showed a gain of $4 per bale or more from the low figures reached last Monday. The market was also influenced by reports of increased anxiety among spinners, a more urgent demand for spots, and rumors that a new bull clique had been formed. The close was steady at a net gain of 15@22 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 7@11 points on better cables than due, seesawed for a brief period, but soon firmed on Western, Southern and Wall Street support.

Contract prices follow:

Due 1916—1918. Interest May & November
Authorized, $3,750,000. Redeemed, $188,000. Outstanding, $3,562,000

Secured by a first lien on the entire equipment of the Virginian Railway on which and its terminals approximiately $40,000,000 has been expended. The equipment is of the best and most modern type, consisting of about 42 locomotives, 27 passenger coaches, 1,500 steel coal cars, and 2,075 freight cars. 20% of the purchase price was originally paid by the Railway Co., and as the equipment was chiefly purchased at the low prices prevailing during the recent depression, the margin of safety is unusually great.

BANK OF RICHMOND, RICHMOND, VA.

THE OVERDUE SEMI-ANNUAL INTEREST COUPONS ON THE FIRST MORTGAGE FOUR PER CENT. BONDS, DUE APRIL 1, 1908; OCTOBER 1, 1908, and APRIL 1, 1909; WILL BE CASHED when deposited with the bonds, and coupons due OCTOBER 1, 1909, attached to bonds deposited under the Plan, will be cashed on that date, and the proceeds paid to the respective holders of the certificates of deposit therefor upon presentation of such certificates to the depositaries issuing them for the indorsement of such payment thereon.

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY and THE SEABOARD COMPANY have respectively announced that stockholders of those companies who shall be registered as such AT THE CLOSE OF BUSINESS ON SEPTEMBER 28, 1909, will be given the privilege of subscribing to the proposed new 5% Adjustment Bonds at 70% of their par value to the extent of 30% of their stockholdings, and that transferable subscription warrants evidencing such privileges will be mailed promptly after said date to all such stockholders. Subscriptions and a first payment, at the rate of $150 per bond, will have to be made not later than OCTOBER 15, 1909, and final payment, at the rate of $550 per bond, not later than OCTOBER 30, 1909.

The Railway will make application to list the Adjustment Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

By order of the REORGANIZATION COMMITTEE.
DATED SEPTEMBER 18, 1909. D. C. PORTEOUS, Secretary.

DAVIS DALY COPPER COMPANY

To the Stockholders:

The undersigned solicit your proxies for the Davis Daly Copper Co. annual meeting to be held in Portland, Me., September 28th, or any adjournment thereof. Our purpose is to secure a management for the company that will conduct its business affairs on business lines and to assure the conservative, faithful, and honest handling of the company's finances. If Mr. Heinze is willing to manage the operations under these conditions, no change in that department will be made, and he will be retained as President.

Blank proxies can be obtained from the undersigned, or stockholders can use the proxies sent out by Messrs. Heinze, Raborg, and Shaw, except that the names of S. M. Jarvis and Newman Erb should be substituted for them.

Any proxies that have already been sent to Messrs. Heinze, Raborg, and Shaw can be revoked by the execution of a new proxy of later date.

WITNESS LOCKED UP IN NELSON MURDER

Albert Miller Held Because He Says He Heard the Shot That Killed.

WOMAN NURSE QUESTIONED

Special to The New York Times.

CENTRAL ISLIP, Sept. 20.—Albert Miller, a painter of this village, was arrested this afternoon by order of District Attorney Furman and locked up in the jail as a material witness in the murder of Irving Nelson. The detectives at work on the case had heard that he could give some information with regard to the deer hunting expedition which it is believed that the murdered man and Augustus Schwartz, his boarder, had planned for the night on which the homicide took place.

Close questioning of Miller only brought out the fact that he had attended last Wednesday night the dance at the Bayshore Casino, from which Nelson had just returned when he was killed. Miller admitted that he had heard the fatal shot in the early hours of Thursday morning, and is the only man who confesses that he noticed it except an insane inmate of the State Hospital.

When he was asked, however, about the way in which he spent the night after he got back from the dance and about the plan, which he is said to have formed with Nelson to go on a shooting expedition, his answers were confused and unsatisfactory. The detectives referred the matter to District Attorney Furman at Patchogue, and he ordered that Miller be held in the Central Islip lock-up till the inquest on Wednesday in $5,000 bail. His gun was taken over by the authorities. Its gauge is No. 4, but as the buckshot with which Nelson was killed were supposedly fired from a 12-gauge gun, nothing can be proved by it.

What is believed to be an important piece of evidence was discovered in Schwartz's room at the Nelson home. Deputy Sheriff Biggs made a thorough examination of his quarters, and found in a disused enameling oven a suit of corduroy clothes which belong to him. The oven was used for the enameling of the parts of bicycles. On the clothes were a number of stains which are believed to have been made by blood. The spots will be analyzed.

A good deal of excitement was caused in this village yesterday by the statement that one of the woman attendants of the hospital had resigned suddenly and left for New York in the afternoon. It was stated that just before her departure she told her superior at the hospital that early on Thursday morning she had seen a man crossing the hospital grounds with a gun in his hand. As the body of Nelson was found within 500 feet of the hospital, it was thought that she might be able actually to identify the murderer.

Telegrams were sent to the police all along the route to Long Island City, and she was finally detained there. One of the county officials went into Long Island City by the last train and questioned the woman closely at the railroad station. She denied knowing any of the persons connected with the crime. To explain her departure from Central Islip she produced two letters, showing that her sister was dangerously ill at Detroit, Mich., and was in need of her care. District Attorney Furman was called up, and when he heard of the circumstances directed that the woman should be allowed to proceed.

Schwartz, who is held here as a material witness in the case, has been put through another severe cross-examination by Coroner Savage, Deputy Sheriff Biggs, and Constable Schwartz. For over half an hour he was questioned. Coroner Savage declared to-day that he was not satisfied with his answers. Particular attention was paid to the events of the night of the murder. Schwartz has maintained all along that he never left the house, although Mrs. Nelson, when cross-examined in front of the coffin in which her dead husband lay, said he was out of the house between the hours of 2 and 4 that morning.

Yesterday Schwartz, according to the Coroner, became confused when he was pressed on this point. He admitted that he had been up once in the course of the night, but gave conflicting reasons for leaving his bed. He denied, however, that he had had any plans for deer shooting with Nelson the night of the Bayshore Casino dance. He will be questioned again on Wednesday at the inquest. He protests his innocence.

Among the other witnesses who are likely to be present then are a number of people who can tell of the relations between the murdered man and one or two employes at the State Hospital. An explanation will be sought of a remark which Mrs. Nelson was overheard to make to her husband just before he set out for the Casino. She then said:

"Now, don't you go dancing with that woman. You know what's coming to you if you do."

The authorities do not believe that the murder was committed by any of the hospital employes, but they are much interested to find that Mrs. Nelson referred to one of the female employes of the institution, to whom it is understood one of Nelson's associates was attentive. Both the girl and her admirer are likely to be witnesses at the inquest.

A blue cap with ear straps buttoned over the top has been picked up not far from the place where Nelson was found, but there is nothing to connect it with the murder.

WIFE DIES OF BROKEN HEART.

Illness Brought on by Grief Over Husband Who Deserted Her.

Heartbroken because she had been deserted by her husband, Mrs. Eva Eades, 27 years old, died at her parents' home, 75 St. Mary's Avenue, Clifton, Staten Island, on Sunday night.

Three weeks ago her husband took her and their young child to South Beach. Making some excuse, he left them, saying he would return in a few minutes. They waited in vain, and they returned home. Mrs. Eades found on her dresser a note from her husband, saying:

"Good-bye. Hope you will have a better time with the next fellow."

When last seen Eades was boarding a ferryboat at St. George. With him, it is said, was a woman whose home is in Stapleton.

Dr. Scales was called in three days ago to attend Mrs. Eades, who, when her husband failed to return, had been compelled to take to her bed. Dr. Scales attributes her death to heart trouble brought on by grieving over her husband's desertion.

The child, who is 2 years old, is being cared for by its grandparents, with whom Mrs. Eades went to live after her husband's disappearance.

Mrs. Leiter Buys North Shore Land.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter of Chicago will join the colony of property owners at the North Shore, through the purchase of three acres of the land forming part of the Haven Place, at Beverly. Mrs. Leiter has been at the shore throughout the Summer, having occupied the Dudley Pickman cottage at Beverly Cove. She recently went to New York, to sail for Scotland, where she will visit her daughter, the Countess of Suffolk.

FIREMAN STOPS A RUNAWAY.

Clings to Horses for Blocks and Prevents Them Running Into Children.

Leon Naviro, driver of a delivery wagon of a Fulton Street department store, stopped his team at Myrtle Avenue and Pearl Street, Brooklyn, shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and removed the bridle from one of the horses to repair it. The animals took fright at an elevated train passing through Myrtle Avenue and bolted up Pearl Street.

The sidewalks and crossings were filled with children coming from Public School 1, at Adams and Concord Streets; St. James's Parochial School, at Jay and Concord Streets, and the Catholic School of the Assumption, at York and Pearl Streets, all of them within a radius of six blocks of Pearl Street, up which the runaways dashed.

As they passed Engine Company 106, at Pearl near High Street, Fireman James Lowery sprang at the heads of the horses and happened to catch the animal whose bridle had been removed. He clung around the neck of the horse for two and a half blocks, and although the animal kicked him with every step, he managed at last to turn the flying team into a wall at York Street.

Lowery was badly cut, but a physician dressed his wounds and he returned to the engine house. Witnesses of the runaway declared that many children would probably have been hurt had it not been for Lowery's prompt action.

HIT THROUGH CAR WINDOW.

Woman's Skull Fractured by Flying Steel as Trains Pass Each Other.

While an eastbound Lehigh Valley Railroad passenger train was passing a westbound Pennsylvania passenger train last evening at West End, eJrsey City, Mrs. John Lloyd, 37 years old, of Wilkesbarre, Penn., who was seated at an open window in a coach of the eastbound train, was hit by a flying piece of steel, receiving a compound fracture of the skull and cuts about the face.

With her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Lloyd of Drifton, Penn., who was accompanying her on a visit to New York, she was sent to St. Francis's Hospital. Mrs. Lloyd is suffering from shock. She sat beside Mrs. oJhn Lloyd when the latter was hit.

The Pennsylvania Railroad officials are investigating the accident. They have been unable to tell as yet whether the piece of steel, which was a small one, flew off the engine of the Pennsylvania's train or was thrown into the car by some miscreant.

The injured woman was seated on the side of the car next to the Pennsylvania train.

CHINAMAN READY TO SHOOT.

Detective Caught Him Carrying Big Revolver in Chintowna.

With a big revolver stuffed into his blouse a Chinaman was caught in the act of peering from the doorway of 24 Mott Street last evening by Detective Lavery of the Elizabeth Street Station. The police believe that the detective by making the arrest stopped a shooting affray.

Detective Lavery was just entering Mott Street when he caught sight of the Chinaman in the doorway across the street. The Chinaman was peering up and down the street and evidently waiting for some one.

The Chinaman saw the detective when the latter was halfway across the street and fled back into the hallway of the house. Detective Lavery ran after him and caught him on the stairs. The detective felt the revolver, he declares, as soon as he had laid his hands upon the Chinaman. It was a big weapon with a blue barrel a foot in length. The Chinaman said he was Lee Ging, 28 years old, of 24 Mott Street. He said he was carrying the revolver home. He was locked up.

$800,000 FOR EMERY CO.

Settlement with Nicaragua Worth That Sum to Mahogany Concessionaires.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—From an official statement issued at the State Department to-day covering the settlement of the celebrated claim of the George D. Emery Company against the Government of Nicaragua, it appears that the company will realize much more than the $600,000 heretofore mentioned as the settlement basis.

It appears that the interest on the last installments will amount to $40,000. The tax of $1 per log is removed, effecting a saving of $8,000 to $10,000. There is also a clear saving to the company of $10,000 in annual dues to the Government, and the estimated value of the timber already felled is between $125,000 and $150,000, so that the Boston corporation has compelled a settlement of approximately $800,000.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—The attention which has been focused upon Lehigh Valley shares for a week past was partially diverted to-day toward Cambria Steel, not, however, before the daily performance of marking up a new high record for the former had taken place. On persistent and heavy buying Cambria Steel advanced sharply in price, gaining nearly three points in the first three hours, during which 12,000 shares were dealt in. The trading in Lehigh Valley continued heavy as ever and the price leaped over four points to 109⅞.

CHICAGO STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Sears-Roebuck shares were the sensational features of the local market and the common shot up from 107½ to 112 before midday, while the preferred advanced from 113 to 115. In the afternoon Chicago Subway broke sharply under a wave of heavy selling. The price, which last week was only a fraction under 10, the low of the panic year, 1907, dipped down to 9, which is the lowest at which it has ever sold. The close was at that price.

Co-Receiver for a Fruit Products Co.

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—Henry E. Warner, a Boston attorney, was appointed a co-receiver with M. Douglass Flattery of the National Fruit Products Company by Judge Colt, in the United States Circuit Court, to-day. A body of creditors dissatisfied at having but one receiver in charge of a business as large as that of the insolvent concern, petitioned the court for the appointment of a co-receiver. The liabilities are placed at $100,000.

ERB AND JARVIS SEEK DAVIS-DALY PROXIES

A RUPTURE WITH HEINZE

He and Other Majority Directors Say the Other Two Authorized Expenditures Criticised.

Newman Erb and S. M. Jarvis, who resigned from the Directorate of the Davis-Daly Copper Company a short time ago following a disagreement with the F. A. Heinze interests on the composition of the Proxy Committee for the forthcoming annual meeting, have issued a circular, soliciting proxies in their names. This move indicates a rupture in the negotiations, which were under way last week.

The circular accompanying the call for proxies identifies the movement as an attempt to obtain a business management for the company, which will assure the "conservative, faithful, and honest handling of the company's finances." This statement of the case brought out a reply from F. A. Heinze, H. M. Raborg, and J. C. Montgomery, the other members of the Directorate yesterday, which put up to Mr. Erb and Mr. Jarvis a share in the responsibility for the conduct of the company's affairs while they were in office. This is the letter of the majority Directors:

> To the stockholders of the Davis-Daly Copper Company:
> We, the undersigned, Directors of the Davis-Daly Copper Company, in view of the circular letter dated Sept. 16, 199, signed by Messrs. Jarvis and Erb, who, with us, have constituted the entire Board of Directors, desire to lay before you the following facts:
>
> Mr. Erb, until his recent resignation, was the Chairman of the board and of the Executive Committee, and as such was directly in touch with the conduct of the affairs of the company. On his failure to control the proxy committee, Mr. Erb, who, according to his statement to the board at that time, Sept. 7, 1909, was but a small stockholder, resigned.
>
> Every expenditure of the company, as well as its policy up to the time of Mr. Erb's resignation, had been determined by unanimous consent of the Board of Directors. This fact is attested by the minutes of the meetings of the board.
> F. AUG. HEINZE,
> JOHN C. MONTGOMERY,
> Being a majority of the Board of Directors.
> Sept. 20, 1909.

When Mr. Erb and Mr. Jarvis resigned it was stated that they had objected to the use made by the Heinze management of the cash, amounting to $1,800,000, raised by the reorganization in 1908. All but about $240,000 of this has been expended in development work, but it was stated by the interest opposed to President Heinze that while it was in the company's hands it was distributed among banks in which he and his friends had loans.

Both Newman Erb's and S. M. Jarvis's stock holdings in the company are small, but they went into the board representing large banking interests in New York and Boston. It is understood that they are willing to take advantage of F. A. Heinze's knowledge of the property by retaining him as President if he is willing to keep his hands off the financial affairs of the company.

CRUSHED A MAN AND SPED ON.

Peter Sylvester, Victim of Autoist, Unconscious Three Days and May Die.

It was not until late yesterday afternoon that a man who has laid unconscious in the Nassau Hospital at Mineola, L. I., since late Friday night, recovered consciousness and told the surgeons that he was Peter Sylvester, 55 years old, who had been missing from his home in Mineola since Friday evening, and for whom relatives and friends had been diligently searching since last Saturday morning. The missing man was then less than a mile away in the hospital.

Sylvester left his home Friday evening to spend an hour or two at the home of a friend playing pinochle. Late that night he was taken to the hospital by a man who had found him lying unconscious in the roadway. A smashed bicycle lay near by. Yesterday Sylvester said that he was riding the bicycle along Jericho Turnpike when he was run down by an automobile, which sped on without stopping. The old man is suffering from paralysis of the intestines, a fractured nose, and injuries of the back. He will probably die. The Nassau County authorities have started a search for the driver of the auto, but without much hope of success.

Broker Slade's $12,000 Fire Loss.

HEMPSTEAD, L. I., Sept. 20.—A gasoline explosion in the garage of John Slade, about 10 o'clock this morning, resulted in the loss of a $5,000 Panhard machine, the garage, barn, and its entire contents, including several traps. Mr. Slade is a member of the brokerage firm of Simmons & Slade of New York. Peterson, the chauffeur, was badly burned about the face, arms, and hands. The total loss was $12,000.

Battleships' Boats Float Ashore.

BEAUFORT, N. C., Sept. 2.—Two boats painted white, with brass rowlocks, came ashore yesterday, one at Ocracoke. On either side of the bow was the number 211, and the boat is supposed to belong to the American battleship Indiana. The other boat came ashore at Core Banks Life Saving Station and had on the bow "N. C." It is supposed to belong to the North Caralina. The boats are in care of Government officers.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Duty Is Reduced on Some Lines of Pictorial Postcards.

In a decision by I. F. Fischer, the Board of United States General Appraisers partially sustained protests filed by Fillmann, Lee & Happel and others of New York regarding the classification of pictorial postcards.

The cards were held for duty at the rate of 25 per cent. under the provision in the Dingley tariff for "printed matter." This classification was opposed by the importers, who alleged specific rates of duty as "lithographic prints." The board finds that a portion of the cards are printed from metal plates or by other processes not lithographic. These goods are allowed to come in as claimed, although other cards are held dutiable as assessed by the Collector.

BUSINESS TROUBLES

RICHARD D. JACKSON.—Richard D. Jackson, Jr., agent, at 96 Warren Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $1,198 contracted between 1900 and 1908, and no assets.

CHARLES M. PALMER.—Charles M. Palmer of Valatie, Columbia County, N. Y., has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $3,377, and no assets. The debts were contracted in 1891 to 1895 at West Coxsackie, in the hardware business.

PERCIVAL D. MOODY.—Percival D. Moody, jobber in butter, cheese, eggs, and groceries at 183 West Sixty-third Street, has made an assignment to Samuel B. Pollak. He began this business on Sept. 15, 1908. Percival D. Moody of Moody Brothers, grocers, of 641 Columbus Avenue, filed a petition in bankruptcy on Nov. 21, 1907, and received his discharge a few months later.

PEETE B. CLARKE.—Seaman Miller, referee in bankruptcy, of 2 Rector Street, has recommended that the petition in bankruptcy filed on Oct. 28, 1903, against Peete B. Clarke, former President of the Clarke Automatic Scales Company of 29 Broadway, be dismissed and the order of adjudication vacated. He has made a settlement with his creditors and gone to Waterloo, England, to live. His liabilities were $239,037.

ADELSON & KIMMEL.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Charles Adelson and Jacob Kimmel, composing the firm of Adelson & Kimmel, clothing manufacturers, 126 Bleecker Street, by these creditors: S. Brinn & Brother, $376; B. Shavinsky, Son & Co., $122, and Joseph Seider, $12. It was alleged that they are insolvent, made preferential payments, and removed a large part of their property. They began business on March 18, 1907, with a claimed capital of $5,000.

I. WILDENBERG & SONS.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Isaac and Joseph S. Wildenberg, who compose the firm of I. Wildenberg & Sons, manufacturers of bonnet frames, at 5 Great Jones Street, by these creditors: Charles May, $284 on an assigned claim of H. Kram & Co.; James Thompson & Co., $610, and Adams Manufacturing Company, $245. It was alleged that they are insolvent, made preferential payments of $1,000, transferred merchandise and accounts valued at $1,500, and removed a large part of their property.

ABRAHAM S. SILVERMAN.—Abraham S. Silverman, living at 56 West 119th Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy individually and as partner in the late firm of Silverman, King & Co., jewelers, at 18 East Fourteenth Street, in 1904, with liabilities of $6,211 and no assets. He filed the petition as a poor person unable to pay the court fees. Among the creditors are the German Exchange Bank, $1,534; H. C. Bolton estate, $1,000, and Adolph Schwab, $400. Mr. Silverman went through bankruptcy once before, in December, 1899. Harry H. King, his partner in the jewelry business, filed a petition in bankruptcy on June 10.

SAN DOMINGO IMPROVEMENT COMPANY OF NEW YORK.—Deputy Sheriffs Cruise and Sullivan yesterday sold at auction at the Real Estate Exchange Salesrooms $20,300 Dominican Republic 5 per cent. custom administration sinking fund gold bonds under an execution of $35,000 in favor of Caroline S. Chittenden as executrix of the estate of Frederick W. Holls, obtained on Sept. 14 against the San Domingo Improvement Company of New York. The bonds were sold for $21,000, and it was said the plaintiff was the purchaser. The Sheriff also levied on $5,000 cash in a trust company.

ROYAL GARMENT MANUFACTURING COMPANY.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the Royal Garment Manufacturing Company, manufacturer of waists, shirtwaists, and suits, at 99 Fourth Avenue, by these creditors: Isidor Hammer & Son, $286; Morris Lack, $233, on an assigned claim of Isidor Hammer & Son, and David Hammer, $15, also on an assigned claim of Isidor Hammer & Son. It was alleged that the company is insolvent, made preferential payments of $1,000, transferred merchandise and accounts of $1,000, and removed a large part of its property. The company was incorporated on Jan. 28 with a capital stock of $10,000, and did contract work principally. A. S. Werblin of House, Grossman & Vorhaus, attorneys for the company, said it did not owe $500 to Isidor Hammer & Son, who had split up their claim so as to make three creditors in order to file the petition. The liabilities are $7,000. Creditors holding $5,500 in claims have already agreed to accept a settlement at 35 cents on the dollar, and it is expected the others will accept this.

BROWNING & HORSEY COMPANY.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the Browning & Horsey Company, wholesale paper dealers, at 145 Nassau Street, by these creditors: Jackson Brothers, $185 for trucking; H. B. Legge & Co., London, $210, and Charles F. Hubbs & Co., $480, both for merchandise. It was alleged that the company is insolvent and on June 15 transferred property worth $5,000 to George T. Philcox, a creditor, to prefer him. Judge Hough appointed William Henkel, Jr., receiver, with a bond of $3,000. The assets are estimated at $8,800, consisting of merchandise, $800, and outstanding accounts, $8,000. Three suits are pending against the company by these creditors: L. Hennig & Co., $4,504; Hamerschlag Manufacturing Company, $2,000, and Albemarle Paper Manufacturing Company, $469. The company was incorporated April 3, 1906, with a capital stock of $20,000. H. B. Browning, President, withdrew in August, 1907, and G. A. Randall, who became President, committed suicide on March 28, 1908, and no one has since been elected President. Harry H. Philcox, Secretary, withdrew in June last, and his place was left vacant. George A. Horsey is Treasurer.

Out of Town.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—A voluntary partnership petition in bankruptcy was filed to-day by Lincoln Morrison, Charles H. Morrison, and Ned L. Morrison, produce dealers of this city, doing business as Seaverns & Co. The schedules disclose a firm indebtedness of $47,101.81, all unsecured. The assets amount to $5,173.35, which include debts due, $2,000. Individual schedules were filed by each of the three partners.

QUITS THE PRINTERS' LEAGUE.

Cherouney Publishing Company Dissatisfied by Employes' Strike.

The Cherouney Printing and Publishing Company, 27 Vandewater Street, the head of which was one of the founders of the Printers' League, has resigned from the league because his printers after a dispute over wages and hours of work recently struck in violation of the rules of the body. The firm filled the strikers' places with other union men.

Mr. Cherouney had for some time been dissatisfied with the status of affairs in the league, which was organized a little over three years ago to do away with strikes and settle all differences by arbitration. The league is composed of the large employers and representatives of the unions in the trade.

Beginning to-morrow the league will hold a three days' convention at the Hotel Astor.

The men who struck, it was said yesterday, will be disciplined by the league.

FOR THE TABLE.

An inexpensive luncheon dessert which a Philadelphia woman recommends is made of pressed figs, the least costly variety. These are pulled apart, washed and cleaned thoroughly, and put in enough water to cover, in order to soak. After having become slightly softened they are placed on the stove to simmer slowly, a thin sliced lemon and a little sugar being added. The whole is cooked until the figs are tender. They may be served plain when cold or are delicious with whipped cream.

Here is a more substantial luncheon dish, which will be worth while now that meats are high. A good cook makes a lamb loaf from 1½ to 2 pounds of the neck of lamb. This she boils slowly in a little water with a bay leaf and sliced onion, salt and pepper. The meat is cooked until it is ready to fall from the bone, when the liquid is poured off through a strainer, and the fat, which rises, carefully skimmed. The bone and fat are carefully removed from the lean meat. This is ground fine with a little parsley added to the liquid, which should be almost a jelly when cold. Additional seasoning is added, if needed, and the whole is poured into a mold and set away to become cold and harden. Thin slices of the loaf make a good filler for sandwiches.

A good second-day service of fish is scalloped. The cold fish may have been baked, boiled, or even a good fried halibut can be used. The bone and skin are carefully removed and the fish left in large flakes. This is placed in layers in a shallow buttered baking dish, with a few breadcrumbs over each layer and seasoning of salt, pepper, and a little butter. Over the top layer of crumbs is poured a cup of milk—or enough to moisten and crumbs and fish—into which an egg has been beaten. A top layer of cheese makes a fish au gratin, which is also good. The scallop should be cooked brown in a hot oven.

Another way to serve the cold fish is to prepare as for the scallop, but to add to it two or three well-beaten eggs with a little milk. Then cook as an omelet, browning well on one side and doubling together, and sending to the table very hot.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Purchases by Builders on the Heights—Report Involving Lower Broadway Parcel—Dealings by Brokers and at Auction

Henry Degenhardt is the buyer of the plot, 105 by 100, at the northwest corner of Pinehurst Avenue and 178th Street, sold by Gutwillig Brothers & Hirsh through David Stewart. Mr. Degenhardt recently built a group of apartment houses on 180th Street, just west of Broadway.

The One Hundred and Fifty-seventh Street Realty Company is the buyer of the plot of eight lots on the south side of 157th Street, 275 feet east of Broadway, recently reported sold through A. L. Mordecai & Son for the Realty Mortgage Company and Heilner & Wolf.

Lower Broadway Deal Reported.

According to a report published yesterday afternoon the five-story building at 185 and 187 Broadway, 25.6 by 100, owned by the Becar estate, has been sold. From a representative of the estate neither confirmation nor denial of the report could be obtained. The property adjoins the City Investing Company's holdings, at the southwest corner of Broadway and Dey Street.

Company Sells Harlem Apartments.

Manheimer Brothers, in conjunction with John M. Royall, have sold to a client for the Solmax Realty Company the six-story apartment house 65 and 67 West 135th Street, on plot 37.6 by 99.11.

Sale to Straighten Out Title.

A gore lot, 20 by 26.1, at the southwest corner of Pinehurst Avenue and 181st Street, was sold yesterday in the Vesey Street Salesroom to straighten out certain irregularities in the title to the property. The sale was the result of a friendly partition suit brought by the Fort Washington Syndicate against the Utility Realty Company. The property was struck down to the plaintiff company by Auctioneer Day on a bid of $6,000.

Broadway-Madison Avenue Trade.

The Van Schaick Realty Company is the buyer of 595 Broadway, recently reported sold by Uhlfelder & Weinberg. The buyers gave in part payment the Woodward Hall apartment house at the southeast corner of Madison Avenue and Ninety-sixth Street. Titles to both properties passed to the new owners yesterday. W. E. Preble was the broker in the transaction.

Plans have been filed for a six-story loft building to be built by the Riehl Construction Company from plans by Charles Stegmayer, at 417 and 419 East Ninety-third Street, at a cost of $40,000.

Tenants for Private Dwellings.

Daniel H. Reuton & Son have leased for Caroline J. Wells to Alfred K. Barker the four-story private dwelling, 451 Convent Avenue.

Slawson & Hobbs have rented the following houses: 255 West Seventy-second Street, for W. E. D. Stokes; 151 West Seventy-fourth Street, for Prof. William H. Burr; 206 West Seventy-first Street, for Dr. Newcomb; 610 West 114th Street, for Violia Birch; 150 West Seventy-seventh Street, for the Hearne estate; 244 West Seventy-sixth Street, for W. E. D. Stokes; 154 West Seventy-seventh Street, for the Hearne estate; 251 West End Avenue, for Nathaniel Bloom; 280 West Seventy-first Street, for Mary Griswold; 111 West Seventy-fourth Street, for John W. Thompson, and 168 West Seventy-second Street, for the West Seventy-second Street Corporation.

Building Leased from Plans.

The Gross & Gross Company have leased, for Otto Strack to the O. R. Weiss Realty Company, the eight-story building to be erected on plot, 60 by 100, at 351-5 West Fifty-second Street, for a term of years. The aggregate rental amounts to $250,000. The lessees have sublet, from the plans, six out of eight floors.

The Realty Holding Company has leased, through M. & L. Hess, the seven upper lofts, 35,000 square feet, in its building at 22 and 24 West Twenty-seventh Street; also, through Frederick Fox & Co., the three upper lofts in 40 and 42 West Twenty-seventh Street, containing 13,500 square feet.

The Charles F. Noyes Company has leased the building 119 West Forty-third Street to B. M. Totten, and the store 337 Water Street for W. C. Storey to M. Hanshaft.

Fourteenth St. Building Leased.

Robert S. Smith, Samuel W. Steel, and Albert Smith have leased the six-story building 46 West Fourteenth Street to Morrison Brothers for a long term of years, for use as a dry goods store.

Manheimer Brothers have leased for the Two Twenty-four West Thirty-fourth Street Company the property at that address, and for Mrs. Rebecca Creacen the building 243 West Thirty-fourth Street.

S. B. Goodale & Son have leased for a term of years, for Francis Glover to the United States School of Music, 39 East Thirtieth Street.

Bronx Properties in Trade.

Cahn & Cahn have sold for A. Enslin 4,436 and 4,438 White Plains Road, two three-family houses, on plot 50 by 83, to George H. Taylor. The property was given in part payment for the Happy Farm, consisting of eighty-five acres and buildings at Coldbrook, Ulster County, N. Y.

E. Stratton & Co. have sold for Thomas Donnelly to Madeline and Anna Klika and Charlotte Maidhof, Lots 72, 73, and 74 on Macomb's Road, corner of Nelson Avenue.

MORTGAGE LOANS.

Mortgage Money Advertisements

Framed on stereotyped lines are produced without much effort or expenditure of time. The successful mortgage broker, however, like the successful lawyer, is the product of many years of wide experience before acquiring the expert knowledge and financial connections of value to borrowers.

Lots Sold at College Point.

Charles Goldsmith has sold for Daniel W. Blumenthal three lots on Twentieth Street, between Third Avenue and Avenue C, College Point, L. I., to H. Webb. Ernest Turner has sold for Mr. Blumenthal ten lots on Avenue C, between Twenty-second and Twenty-third Streets, to a new company, as a site for a button factory. Mr. Blumenthal's property adjoins that of the Auto Press Company.

New Owners for Jamaica Sites.

The William P. Rae Company reports the following sales at Hillcrest of Jamaica: A plot, 60 by 100, on Union Avenue, 40 feet east of Inglee Avenue, to Gerhard Fuerste and Otto Cramer; a plot, 40 by 100, on Inglee Avenue, south of Union Avenue, to Charles J. Thornton; a plot, 40 by 100, on Moritz Avenue, south of Van Sicklen Street, to Joseph J. Hart, and a plot, 40 by 100, on Ackroyd Avenue, south of Union Avenue, to James F. Harvey.

Kinko Duplex-Houses

If you could buy a new home for $5,500 cash for which you would otherwise pay $720 a year rent, you would consider it a bargain.

If that home were tax exempt, with no mortgage interest to pay, and you were furnished with hot-water heat, hot-water supply, and janitor service free of cost, you would consider it a remarkable investment.

The KINKO Duplex-Houses present such possibilities.

Besides they have a striking individuality in architecture, artistic decoration, and convenience of arrangement. Their construction is superior in quality and methods.

The FLORENTINE Group at Brooklyn Avenue and St. John's Place, one block North of Eastern Parkway, are offered for sale. Inspection and correspondence invited by

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—A tropical disturbance moved from the Gulf of Mexico northward over Louisiana during Monday, attended by winds of hurricane force, torential rains, and high tides.

Advices regarding this storm have been issued daily since its first appearance over the Lesser Antilles on Sunday, Sept. 12, and beginning Friday, Sept. 17, Atlantic and Gulf shipping in this vicinity has been warned each day of the northward advance of the hurricane over the Gulf.

Reports from Louisiana points are missing on account of damage to telegraph lines.

An extensive area of low barometer covers the entire Northwest.

Temperature is nearly stationary in all sections of the country.

Winds along the New England and Middle Atlantic Coast will be moderate east, shifting to southeast; South Atlantic Coast, moderate east.

Steamships departing Tuesday for European ports will have moderate southeast winds with generally fair weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND WEDNESDAY.

Eastern New York and New England—Fair and slightly warmer Tuesday. Wednesday, increasing cloudiness; moderate southeast winds.

New Jersey—Partly cloudy Tuesday; probably showers Wednesday; moderate east to southeast winds.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Partly cloudy and slightly warmer Tuesday; probably showers Wednesday; moderate east to southeast winds.

3 A. M.	65	56	4 P. M.	63	66
6 A. M.	63	66	6 P. M.	63	65
9 A. M.	60	60	9 P. M.	62	62
12 M.	61	64	12 P. M.	62	61

This thermometer is 108 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 62; for the corresponding date last year it was 63; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 65.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was [illegible]; at 8 P. M. it was [illegible]. Maximum temperature, [illegible] degrees at 1:30 P. M.; minimum, 56 degrees at 3 A. M.

Humidity, [illegible] per cent. at 8 A. M.; 77 per cent. at 8 P. M.

LABOR CLOUD OVER FUSION HARMONY

Union Men Offer Names of Bensel, Ellison, Cantor, and Gaynor for Mayoralty.

NO SELECTION YET MADE

Committees on Candidates and Platform to Meet Again To-day—Rumors of Tammany Labor Intrigue.

At a late hour last night the leaders in the prospective anti-Tammany fusion movement had not concluded the final sifting-down process, preparatory to making up the slate for their city and borough tickets. On the tentative Mayoralty slate there still remained the names of William M. Ivins, Henry L. Stimson, and Charles S. Whitman.

As the fusion conferrees closed their first day of active work outward indications pointed to harmony. The only sign of a possible disturbance in the amicable relations came when a delegation of nine labor men, all of them members of the Committee of One Hundred, appeared before the Committee on Candidates with a list of favored Mayoralty nominees on which were the names of John H. Bensel, William B. Ellison, Jacob L. Cantor, and Justice William J. Gaynor. All these men are Democrats, and the labor representatives were rather insistent that the nominee for Mayor should be an independent Democrat.

William C. Redfield, an independent Democrat from Brooklyn, registered a rather vigorous protest against selecting the nominees for Mayor and Controller from the same party.

Both the Committee on Candidates and the committee appointed by the Fusion Conference for the purpose of drafting a declaration of principles got together yesterday—the Committee on Candidates at noon and the other committee an hour later. After a brief executive session both committees adjourned, the Committee on Platform to meet again this morning. The Committee on Candidates met again shortly after 2 o'clock and remained in session throughout the afternoon to listen to suggestions from various sources with reference to candidates, and spent the evening considering these suggestions and the availability of various candidates whose names had been proposed.

Eugene H. Outerbridge, Chairman of the Committee of One Hundred, is Chairman of the Fusion Committee on Candidates as well. The other members are Herbert Parsons and Timothy L. Woodruff, Republicans; Charles E. Gehring and William J. Taylor, Independence Leaguers; William J. Schieffelin of the Citizens' Union, and Ernest Harvier of the Democratic Union. At the first session of the committee Mr. Woodruff was absent, but he joined his colleagues in time for the afternoon session. Before he reached the headquarters of the Committee of One Hundred he had a talk with Mr. Ivins.

The meetings of both committees were held at the headquarters of the Committee of One Hundred, in the Fifth Avenue Building. The Committee on Candidates met in the room of Raymond V. Ingersoll, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Hundred. The large anteroom soon filled up with delegations which were prepared to urge the claims of their favorite candidates.

The first delegation to be admitted to the committee room came from the Cleveland Democracy, an organization which had been invited to join the fusion movement. The delegation was composed of W. B. Selden, head of the organization, and Charles A. Beardsley. Mr. Selden was the spokesman. The Cleveland Democrats had no candidate for Mayor or Controller to urge. They did recommend George F. Parker, at one time private secretary to the late President Cleveland, for President of the Board of Aldermen.

Allan Robinson's Name Presented.

The Taxpayers' Conference Committee, composed of Herbert B. Brush, J. G. Timolat, and Adolph Bloch were next admitted. The Taxpayers' Conference has a candidate in the person of Allan Robinson, head of the Allied Real Estate Interests.

After the Taxpayers' Committee had left, this resolution, adopted at a meeting of the committee, was given out:

> Resolved, That we, the representatives of the taxpayers, while doing all in our power in conference to secure the nomination of candidates who will measure up to the requirements of our declaration of principles and insure an honest, economical, and efficient business administration of our city affairs, nevertheless reserve to ourselves the right to name a taxpayers' ticket if the nominations made by the various party organizations are not satisfactory.

The big labor delegation had three specific demands to make, and they spent considerable time before the committee. Several members of the delegation spoke. It was headed by William A. Coakley, President of the Lithographers' Helpers' Union and Vice Chairman of the Committee of One Hundred. Mr. Coakley explained that he and his confrères in the labor movement and on the Committee of One Hundred appeared before the Committee on Candidates purely as representatives of organized labor.

They demanded first of all that a seat in the Committee on Candidates be given to organized labor. This demand was granted at once. William A. Coakley was selected and will sit with the committee to-day

The second demand was that the Committee on Candidates take up for consideration in connection with the Mayoralty nomination Messrs. Bensel, Ellison, Cantor, and Justice Gaynor. The demand did not come as a surprise. It did not fall on willing ears. Mr. Coakley in a speech of some length explained to the Committee on Candidates why he thought only an independent Democrat could make a winning Mayoralty fight against Tammany Hall this year. The third demand was that a labor organization man be placed on the ticket, which would entitle him to a seat in the Board of Estimate.

Three candidates were suggested for the nomination for President of the Board of Aldermen, which carries with it a seat on the Board of Estimate. The first choice of the labor men was Mr. Coakley. The other men suggested were Arnold B. McStay, President of the Pattern Makers' Union, and Timothy Healy, President of the Eccentric Firemen. All three are members of the Committee of One Hundred.

Under a resolution recently adopted the committee cannot urge one of its own members for any office, which, of course, would not prevent the Fusion Committee on Candidates selecting a member of the Hundred. But in order to overcome this difficulty the labor delegates, all of whom were members of the Hundred, volunteered to produce some labor candidate for the place who was not on the committee.

The delegation was composed of these men—William A. Coakley, John J. Morey, Matthew A. McConville, Thomas J. Curtis, Daniel Jacobs, Ephraim Kaufmann, Charles Lowy, Timothy Healy, and Arnold B. McStay.

When they emerged from the committee room Mr. Coakley said:

Labor Men Are Insistent.

"The committee treated us very courteously. Our demands the committee will take under consideration. I believe that our requests were reasonable and that the committee is inclined to aid us in getting the representation we ask for on the Board of Estimate."

"If these two demands are granted, will you insist that one of the candidates for Mayor suggested by you will be nominated?" Mr. Coakley was asked.

"We are in a position where we can and will insist that unless some good reason is shown why our demand should not be heeded, one of the men we suggested be named. It is just as important to labor that a man friendly to our cause be nominated for Mayor as that we have a representative on the ticket for a position carrying with it a seat in the Board of Estimate."

"If the committee refuses, will you bolt?"

"It is not fair to ask us that question," said Mr. Coakley. "Our course must be the subject of careful deliberation if that situation should arise."

Collector of Internal Revenue Charles W. Anderson came to the conference at the head of a delegation of twenty-five members from the Colored Republican Club in Harlem. They came to urge the nomination of Congressman William S. Bennet.

Controller Metz has found a spokesman before the committee in Albert Plaut, head of the Business Men's Non-Partisan Organization. E. Platt Stratton, a member of the Committee of One Hundred from Queens, appeared as an advocate for Job Hedges. There were delegations from the Bronx and from Staten Island.

William C. Redfield, who is identified with the work of the Hundred, had no candidate to urge, but appeared before the Committee on Candidates to protest against the nomination of both Mayor and Controller from the same party. With the Mayoralty certain to go to a Manhattan Republican, Mr. Woodruff is anxious to have the nomination for Controller bestowed on William A. Prendergast, a Republican from Brooklyn.

"No one party should have both those nominations," said Mr. Redfield to the reporters before he appeared in the committee room. "Then it won't be fusion at all. I am the only independent Democrat from Brooklyn on the Committee of One Hundred, and I won't stand for it. I told these people inside and I may as well tell you."

The committee to draft the declaration of principles held a brief meeting, at the close of which it was said that it had been left to the Chairman, Leslie C. Ferguson, a member of the Independence League, to frame such a document and submit it to the committee to-day.

Agree on Three Platform Planks.

There had been a unanimous agreement on three planks in the declaration—one advocating a reduction in the tax rate, another pledging the fusion administration to provide seats in the schools for every child, a third providing for municipal construction and control of subways on the lines laid down in the Travis-Robinson law, which provides for their construction by private capital under certain conditions, but with safeguards adequate to the city

It was learned yesterday that Frank Moss is being urged by some as a candidate for District Attorney. Some sleuths from the Parkhurst Society, of which Mr. Moss is President, were in the anteroom of the Committee of One Hundred when the fusion committees got to work. It was hinted that they were on hand to look for Tammany suspects. In their trail there grew a crop of rumors that some of the delegations appearing before the Committee on Candidates had been packed by Tammany Hall.

The two committees are to report to the full fusion conference at a meeting to be held at 8 o'clock to-night. Chairman Outerbridge of the Committee on Candidates said that his committee would report at that time, even if it could not report anything more than "progress." In discussing the work of the committee during the afternoon, Mr. Outerbridge said:

"The committee has been listening to suggestions from a good many delegations and individuals who had candidates to urge. There have been a great mass of suggestions and advice, but no concentration of sentiment for any particular candidate. We have not selected a candidate for any office."

"Do you regard the attitude of the labor men as disquieting?" Mr. Outerbridge was asked.

"No, I should not call it disquieting," he replied, after some hesitation.

"How about their demand for a seat on the Board of Estimate?"

"They are very earnest about that, and I may say that their suggestion is receiving sympathetic consideration by the Committee on Candidates."

When the Committee on Candidates adjourned at 11 o'clock last night to meet again at 11 o'clock this forenoon, it was said that no material progress had been made, that only the Mayoralty situation had been considered, and that the three candidates occupied the same relative positions on the tentative slate that they had since it narrowed down to them.

Outerbridge for Stimson.

The only outspoken advocates for the candidacy of Henry L. Stimson were Chairman Outerbridge of the Committee of One Hundred and William Jay Schieffelin, Chairman of the Citizens' Union. Neither Herbert Parsons nor Republican State Chairman Woodruff showed his hand, though it was said neither seemed unfriendly to Mr. Ivins when his candidacy was up for discussion. Mr. Parsons, according to a report that came from the committee room, remarked that Congressman William S. Bennet was a good man and a friend of labor.

MITCHEL FOR JEROME'S JOB.

Commissioner of Accounts a Candidate for Fusion Nomination.

A statement was given out last night by friends of Commissioner of Accounts John Purroy Mitchel, in which it was said that Mr. Mitchel would be a candidate for District Attorney and that if his nomination by the Fusion Conference now in session could not be brought about, he might run independently. Mr. Mitchel conducted the investigation which led to the removal of Borough Presidents Ahearn and Haffen by Gov. Hughes.

According to the statement those most actively interested in Mr. Mitchel's campaign are Nelson S. Spencer, a member of the Executive Committee of the City Club; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Secretary L. S. Hauser of the East Side Committee of the Citizens' Union, and Martin J. Meyers of the Hotel Ansonia.

Mr. Mitchel has been mentioned in the fusion conferences as a possible candidate for Borough President of Manhattan or President of the Board of Aldermen. According to the statement made last night Mr. Mitchel is not a candidate for either office. The friends of Commissioner Mitchel will send an open letter to the fusion conference to-day urging his nomination for District Attorney.

Two More Italian Liners.

Announcement of the early addition of two Italian steamships to the New York-Naples service was made yesterday upon his arrival on the Hamburg by William Hartfield of Hartfield & Solari, general agents for several Italian lines. Mr. and Mrs. Hartfield and their son, Norman, have been automobiling in Europe for several months.

When a man or woman finds sickness coming on, such as indigestion, weak eyes, kidney trouble, etc., it is time some attention is given to the subject of food and drink.

In practically all such cases where coffee or tea is the drink, one can obtain relief by quitting the coffee or tea and taking Postum, for he leaves off a drink that is an active producer of disease and takes in its place a powerful liquid food that contains elements for rebuilding the nerve centres which have heretofore been torn down.

H. J. HINMAN FOR ASSEMBLY.

Albany County Republicans Assail the Initiative and Direct Primaries.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Harold J. Hinman of Albany, a lawyer, was nominated to-day for member of the Assembly by the Republicans of the First District of Albany County.

Resolutions were adopted declaring against "direct nominations, direct legislation, and the initiative and referendum, and all similar proposals which assail the principle of republican government as established by the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of New York."

The resolutions indorsed that part of Gov. Hughes's speech delivered at the Republican Club in New York in February, 1908, favoring "party government to enforce and apply party principles," and also the plank in the platform adopted by the Republican State Convention in 1908, which declared "that primaries and conventions should truly express the will of every political party."

The resolutions were offered by Charles R. Hotaling, Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

Woman Admits She Took It, Though —Police Thought Her a Suicide.

Instead of committing suicide, as feared by her friends and by the Astoria police, Mrs. Emma Dehler, 46 years old, of 997 Van Alst Avenue, Astoria, was home yesterday getting her children ready for school while the police were hunting for traces of her along the shores of the East River and Hell Gate.

It was about 9 o'clock the night before when her seventeen-year-old son John notified the police that his mother had taken carbolic acid. When the ambulance from St. John's Hospital got to the house the woman was gone, and as no trace of her could be found, the police concluded that she had probably jumped into the river.

When seen yesterday Mrs. Dehler said she had been driven desperate by domestic troubles, and that while in that state on Sunday night she had taken a dose of weak carbolic solution, which did her no harm, and that then she left home and spent part of the night with friends. She said she had no thought of taking her life.

IMMIGRATION FELL OFF.

31,084 Fewer Aliens for Past Fiscal Year—Total for Year 751,786.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—A net increase of 573,551 in the population of the United States, obtained by figuring the arrival and departure of aliens, was scored during the last fiscal year, against an increase of 209,867 during the previous year. There was a falling off in immigration from 782,870 aliens during the previous year to 751,786 in the past year. The aliens residing abroad and making a merely temporary trip to the United States are classed as non-immigrant aliens. There were 924,695 aliens, including the non-immigrants, admitted into this country during the past fiscal year.

These figures are given in the August immigration report of the Department of Commerce and Labor. During August the immigrant aliens admitted were 37,105 men and 22,672 women; the non-immigrant aliens admitted included 8,432 men and 3,873 women, and the aliens debarred 851 men and 270 women. There were 30,279 citizens of the United States who arrived home during the month.

During the fiscal year 370,684 aliens, including 174,590 non-immigrants, departed from these shores. There were 10,411 aliens debarred and 2,124 returned after landing. Italians, with a total of 78,730, formed the largest class of immigrants, with Hebrews numbering 67,415 next.

The grand total of immigration from the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1820, up to and including the past fiscal year, is given as 26,852,723.

Fire Destroys Michigan Summer Hotel

INDIAN RIVER, Mich., Sept. 20.—The Colonial Summer hotel on Burt Lake, in Cheboygan County, was destroyed by fire last night. The loss is estimated at over $100,000. The hotel was owned by W. F. Braun of Pittsburg. It had just been closed for the Winter.

Of Interest to Apartment House Tenants

PRACTICALLY ALL apartment houses in New York City of the better class have Private Branch Exchange Telephone Service.

For $3.00 per year you can have your name listed in the New York City Telephone Directory in connection with the telephone number of the apartment house in which you reside. This means that your friends who might forget the name or location of the house can reach you by telephone, thereby adding to the value of telephone service to you and to them.

If you wish your name listed in the fall and winter Telephone Directory, which goes to press October 14th, apply to your apartment house agent. He will refer the matter to us.
